Fijis Notch Title; SAE Tops Rivals

Phi Gamma Delta clinched the championship of their league yesterday by downing the Phi Delta Theta B's two games out of three Sigma Alpha Epsilon A's, who won their leagues title last week, added another to their string of wins without a defeat by downing Phi Sigma Kappa 15-4, 15-2. Beta Theta Pi outplayed Lambda Chi Alpha in two straight games to notch another victory while Stitzer took two games from Sherry Ross.

In the first Phi Delta-Fiji B game Fiji came from behind to down their hard playing opponent 16-14. In the second game the Phi Deltas controlled the action from the beginning, withstanding a late Fiji rally, and won the game 15-8. The Fiji's turned the tables in the last game and lead all the way. The Phi Deltas put on a couple of rallies but were defeated 15-6.

Records Favor Oregon In Civil War Contests

By Sam Vahey
Emerald Sportswriter

Saturday's Civil War engagement in Portland between Oregon and Oregon State will certainly not be classified as a rubber contest; but it still will mark the forty-seventh game in a stretch for the two clubs with the exception of a two year wartime lay-off between 1942 and 1945.

Webfoot Boast Edge

The clash, which brings together the only two PCC entrants from Oregon who, as yet, have not lost to state competition, is the fifty-sixth battle between the Willamette valley titans. The record between the two clubs lingers at Oregon 27; Oregon State 21; with seven deadlocks.

If one goes by previous records, he is certain to see an Oregon victory. For, throughout the last 25 years, every time the Ducks have managed to defeat Stanford, they have knocked over OSC.

A further analysis of the facts will show that in 18 out of the last 25 games with the Aggies, the southern force has been able to win if they were victorious on the previous weekend.

Previous skirmishes in the half-century old rivalry have never failed to produce plenty of color.

Way back in 1921, the Benton-Lane championship was never decided, although both schools claimed overwhelming edges in the statistics. The contest ended in 0-0 tie. However, if it had not have been for a soggy field, the Ducks would have won.

"Spike" Leslie, brilliant Oregon tackle and field goal specialist, was called upon to kick a field goal from the 37 yard line late in the game. Leslie got a good placement off, but the ball angled away from the center of the goal post, finally hitting an upright and bouncing off.

The victory bell was first initiated during the halftime of the 1933 Duck-Beaver game. The bell got plenty of use that year as Oregon won five straight conference battles.

AT MULTNOMAH

Webfoot Machine Slight Favorite; Barnes, Simmons May Sit out Game

By Larry Lavelle
Emerald Sports Editor

Past performances are always tossed in the ash can when traditional rivals come to blows and that's why the University of Oregon Webfoots are a little envious of the Oregon State Beavers today.

As far as records and comparative scores are concerned the Ducks should win from here to there and back. Unfortunately, Oregon's paper margin over the Staters is as useful as a barkless watch-dog. But the Webfoots do come into the Benton-Lane county title match with a psychological advantage, that of having defeated the Pacific Coast conference's defending champion—Stanford.

Saturday at 1:30

If the weather bureau's forecast for intermittent sunshine and high fog holds up, more than 25,000 will be on hand Saturday to see if the Ducks can hang up their second straight triumph in Portland's Multnomah stadium. Kickoff time for the intra-state strife is 1:30 p.m.

"You can be certain that the Beavers won't be impressed with our win over Stanford," said Head Coach Len Casanova. If anything the Beavers, who have yet to win a conference encounter, will be incensed by the double factor of an Idaho defeat and Oregon's success against the Indians.

The Webfoots, in keen shape mentally, are well off physically. Emery Barnes, the lanky defensive end, still is nursing a sore shoulder and Hal Simmons, tackle, with a bum knee, may see no more than limited action. If Barnes is not ready, Wayne Johnson, who did a bang-up job for him in the College of Pacific game, will go instead. Ray MacLeod, the Canadian sophomore, will get Simmons' job if big Hal is still limping.

He Wouldn't Say Yes

Casanova as yet hasn't decided on a starting quarterback; it might be Barney Holland, who gave Stanford a bad time Saturday; George Shaw, the all-around wizard; or Hal Dunham, the long pass artist.

Meanwhile, at Corvallis, Kip Taylor, the Beaver taskmaster, has had to prop up his downcast gridders, who absorbed more medicine over the week-end 27-6 humiliation at the hands of the

Guest Dopes OSC Win

Sports Editor Jim Fisher of the Oregon State Barometer has cracked into the realm of the Webfoot athletic department as the Emerald's weekly guest grid expert. And unless he comes through with an 8-2 record or better the Mac Court brass is liable to do something drastic since they're leading the parade with an even .800 percentage. Maybe they'll cut off his weekly supply of Duck propaganda.

In the intra-sports wrangle, Ron Ricketts continues to press Larry Lavelle, sports editor. Ricketts has a .725 mark to Lavelle's .750 with one more week to go. Rick Tarr and Jim Shea follow with .700 and .627 marks respectively.
