

Pre-registration Data Ready Saturday, First of Next Week

Students going to Portland for the game Saturday will be able to pick up their material for pre-registration next Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, according to Clifford L. Constance, registrar. The material will also be available from 8 a.m. until noon Saturday.

Departmental and school signatures, as well as those of the advisers, are to be obtained Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The remaining steps in registration may be completed after Thanksgiving.

All full-time undergraduate students who were registered fall term are required to complete all registration steps but fee payments by Dec. 6 or pay at least the $5 penalty fee.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week students are to consult their advisers and enroll in courses through the school and departmental offices. These two steps should be completed by Wednesday, Constance emphasized, for faculty members are not required to be in their offices following that date.

A check with the office of Student Affairs and the Registrar's office, both in Emerald hall, must be made by Dec. 6.

If a student does not desire to pay the fees in advance registration, cards are to be filed to be picked up for payment Jan. 5 through 10. If you plan to pay now, obtain a fee assessment. Veterans on P.L. or 346 must check with the registrar.

Registration is not completed until all steps have been satisfied and the fees paid.

The deadline for registering or freely changing classes by other students is Jan. 19.

'Robbers' Teach Brothers Lesson

Rumors which circulated on campus Thursday that Alpha Tau Omega and Beta Theta Pi were robbed Wednesday night proved to be unfounded, the two houses reported. No disturbance occurred at all at the Beta house, members said.

At ATO, several of the members did go through the house Wednesday night and took bill-folds and watches. The items were given back to the owners Thursday noon with the warning that they should be kept in safer places, House President Jerry Shaw reported.

Whisker Contest Set for Soph Men

Razors "Off Bounds" For Two Long Weeks

Sophomore men can put away their razors this weekend with the Whiskerino beard growth contest day. The "five-o'clock shadow" will grow long for two weeks, until the Sophomore Whiskerino Dec. 6.

Judging of prospective beards will take place at the dance and will be judged on originality and neatness, according to Don Gartrell and Ron Ricketts, beard contest co-chairmen.

Checking for beard growth violators will begin in all men's living organizations Tuesday during the evening meal. Freshmen women will do the checking.

Prizes will be awarded at the Sophomore Whiskerino for the superior beard and the winner will win a "gratis" shave on the stage.

Punishment of the sophomore offenders will be rigidly enforced, Gartrell and Ricketts added.

500 UO Students Crowd OSC Rally

Over 500 rooters last night overflowed the Student Union terrace and balcony for the rally preceding the Oregon State game, according to Al Goldenberg, rally board.

Noisemakers from Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Tau Omega tied with those from Pi Beta Phi and Theta Chi for the prizes awarded the loudest groups of paired living organizations.

Coach Len Casanova addressed the students and introduced Monte Brethauer, senior in physical education, who has been selected captain for the final encounter.

Committee Narrows Prospects In Betty, Joe Contests to 25

Candidates for Joe College and Betty Co-Ed were narrowed down to 25 last evening in the first round of eliminations. Twelve men and 13 women were selected, the result of a tie.

dolph, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

For Joe College, semi-finalists are Jack Murray, Kappa Sigma; Alex Byler, Sigma Chi, Hendricks, and Hendricks Annex; Ron Ricketts, Delta Tau Delta; Manning Barber, Carson 4; Farrell Albright, Carson 5; Don Holt, Phi Delta Theta; Tom Harrison, Phi Gamma Delta; Bill Swenson, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Frank Beeman, Phi Sigma Kappa; Joe Anstett, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Gary Jones, Theta Chi; and Andy Berwick, Beta Theta Pi.

Judges for the women were Miss Donna Buse, Student Union program director; Mrs. Josephine Moore, director of the University news bureau; Keith Fennell, owner of Fennell's Men's store; J. W. Borchardt, instructor in physical education; and Francis Gillmore, campus leader.

The men were judged by Miss Laura Olson, assistant dean of women; Mrs. Palmer, manager of Hart Larson's Clothes for Women; Mr. Wichem, member of the Eugene high school faculty; John Warren, former University basketball coach and owner of John Warren Hardware; and Clyde Fahlman, chairman of the SU board.

AWS Tea Petitions Due

Today is the last day to turn in petitions for chairmanships of the Associated Women Students tea, Dec. 6. Petitions should be turned in to Jean Mauro, Alpha Chi Omega, before noon.

Chairmanships open are food, decorations, invitations, publicity, promotion, collections, distribution and programs, Miss Mauro said.

Each women's living organization will collect a basket of food to be distributed to needy families in Eugene through the Red Cross for Christmas. The baskets will be picked up at the houses Dec. 6.

The tea will be held at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house from 2 to 4 p.m. and campus clothes are to be worn. All University women are invited, according to Miss Mauro.

IFC Discusses Quota

desirable freshmen if they affiliated the transfers. For this reason they felt that it was unfair to the houses to set an arbitrary quota.

Quotas Raised by Four

To remedy this situation, Fred Baltz, secretary, proposed the following motion: "That we raise present vacancies to include graduating seniors plus four." The motion was passed by the council.

The new ruling means the house can now pledge the difference between the men living in and the physical capacities plus their graduating senior class plus four.

Dick Morse, Phi Delta Theta, made the motion that the house presidents file their quota claims with the office of student affairs by Wednesday. Changes in the quota which occur between fall and winter terms will be completed by Jan. 8, in time for rush week. The quotas for the houses will not be made public, the council decided.

Rush Week Plans

Winter term rush week, also received consideration from the council which formed the final plans for the rush period. Date times for the rush week, the first for the freshmen men, were decided. They are as follows: noon dates from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.; dinner dates from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., and evening dates from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The freshmen will sign up for the rush period on Monday, Jan. 12. At that time they will sign up for not more than six rushing dates and not more than two dates with one house. The rushing period will last from Jan. 13 through 17.

Intramurals Discussed

Also discussed by the group was the present system of intramurals. Some members present felt that under the present system, the small houses did not receive as fair a chance as some of the bigger houses. It was decided that Jack Hutchins, president, would talk to P. R. Washke, professor of physical education, to see if some solution to the problem might be worked out to the best advantage of all the living organizations.

At the opening of the meeting, IFC decided that the same rules that applied to fall term boarders will apply to winter term boarders. Under these rules, a man must pledge within two weeks or move out of the house. The boarder must also visit at least three other houses during this period.
