

Christian House Honors Morris

Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration, was honored at a surprise reception given by the Christian House students at the First Christian church Sunday night. The occasion was Morris' birthday and the completion of twenty years work as teacher of the college and university Sunday school classes.

Morris was also the founder of Eugene and Corvallis Christian Houses. He is now the chairman of the Eugene house, and chairman of the board of trustees of the Northwest Christian college.

Alumni and students presented to him a large brass planter for his new offices in the school of business. About 250 persons attended the reception.

Keeping Warm Systems Involve 'Piling It All On'

Since the weather has turned cold, the campus sleeping porches have likewise and their occupants have been forced to find the best ways to keep from freezing.

The best solution seems to be "cover up with anything and everything you can find." One of the dorms, reported the occupants were studying in their rooms in coats and sweaters.

To keep really warm, one person recommended studying in bed as the best solution.

File on Clothes

Suggested as sleeping attire for the campus co-ed, according to one person, was two pair of pajamas, socks, plenty of blankets and . . . ear muffs.

One living group rearranged the beds on their sleeping porch. One half of the porch is heated, the other is not. The beds are all placed in the center of the porch with the aisles on the outside.

"It gives the heat a chance to circulate," reported one of the organization occupants. The new arrangement was tried for the first time Monday night and "it seemed warmer."

Suffocation Method

The "suffocation method" was suggested by another group. This involves closing the windows and wearing bathrobes, slippers, socks, sweatshirts and scarfs. All this is topped off with hot water bottles and blankets piled on "until we can hardly move."

Another coed recommends wool flannels, wool knit caps and generous use of quilts, doubled blankets and "lots and lots of comforters."

Sleeping Bag Used

The men have also come up with their solutions. One group was reported wearing stocking caps and plaid shirts. Another group is making use of athletic warm-ups and sweat shirts.

One fellow is using a sleeping bag with a blanket inside and several piled on the outside. "Haven't been cold yet," he said. Others are relying on the "lots of blankets" formula.

Chemistry Prof Attends Meet

Pierre Van Rysselberghe, professor of chemistry, recently attended the Pacific coast division of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers in Los Angeles, Calif.

At the meeting, Van Rysselberghe gave a report on "Recent Development in European Corrosion Research." His paper was based on his observations made on his visits to corrosion laboratories in Europe during the last three years.

Ticket Sales Drive Begins For 'Whisker Whing-ding'

Men Must Face Razor-less Holiday

"No Sophomore man is to shave over the Thanksgiving vacation!" warned Don Gartrell, co-chairman of the Sophomore Whiskerino beard growth contest.

The warning came as a policy statement of the annual contest being staged in conjunction with the annual sophomore dance to be held in the Student Union ballroom Dec. 6. All Sophomore men are required to grow beards for the dance and violators will be punished next week.

The wearer of the best beard will be awarded a free shave during the dance intermission. Neatness and originality will be taken into consideration at the judging which is to occur at the dance.

Contest Finalists Selected Tuesday

Six sophomore men and six women contestants to the Betty Coed and Joe College title were selected Tuesday night following a coffee hour in the Student Union.

The six finalists for Betty Coed are Diane David, Delta Gamma, French, and Sherry Ross halls; Ann Gerlinger, Kappa Alpha Theta; Gloria Lee, Alpha Delta Pi; Cora Mae Peterson, Chi Omega; Nancy Randolph, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Elynor Robblee, Carson 3.

Joe College and Betty Coed will be elected by vote of those attending the Whiskerino dance, Dec. 6 in the Student Union ballroom.

Oregon men were urged yesterday to buy their tickets early to the Sophomore Whiskerino, last big social event of fall term.

King Perry and his band from Hollywood will be featured at the annual dance to be held in the Student Union ballroom Dec. 6. Informal attire will be in order for the dance to carry out the theme of "Whisker Whing-ding."

Tickets on Sale

Dance tickets are currently on sale in all men's living organizations and are priced at $2 per couple. House sales will continue until Dec. 4 according to Don Rotenberg and Mary Ann Foster, co-chairmen of the ticket committee. Tickets will be on sale in the SU and in the Co-op from Dec. 1 until Dec. 6 and at the door the night of the dance, Rotenberg said.

Six zone salesmen have been appointed to handle the ticket drive. House representatives will manage the ticket drive. House representatives will manage sales in the individual living organizations. Zone salesmen are Todde Burns, Phil O'Keefe, Anne Hill, Julia Doherty, Jerry Beall and Don Bonime.

Who Called It a 'Free' Election?

OR
That Stuff in the Ballot Box Ain't Hay

Once there was a Senior who faced a Financial Impasse. He was, in a word, Broke—due to heavy extra-curricular Operating Expenses. He was discussing with his roommate ways and means of climbing back Aboard the Gold Standard. "Simple," said the roommate, "just top the Male Parent for an Advance." "Don't be Dull," answered Our Hero, "I'm already four months ahead on my allowance. And besides, the Head of the Clan is in a Grim Mood. He Dropped a Bundle on the election results." "Oh, ho," said his sidekick, "listen . . ." Our Boy listened. Twenty minutes later he steamed into the Western Union office, his brain-cells bulging with Strategy, and dispatched a vital message. To wit: "Dear Dad—Went broke backing Stevenson. Know you'll understand. Like father, like son. Please wire me fifty. Urgent. Love."

The cash arrived within the hour. By Western Union money order. Our Boy is now working for a Practical Cause—campaigning for presidential elections every year instead of every four.

The moral? Simply this—when you're Prospecting for Pesos, there's no more productive pro than a Telegram. Saves time, saves wear and tear, saves answering embarrassing questions. Try it—and don't overlook Telegrams for Detailing Dates, Spreading Smooth Talk, Making an Impression. You'll be surprised what words via Western Union can do for you.
