

Tickets Now Available For Shakespeare Play

Tickets for "Henry IV, Part I", the University theater's second production of the season, are now on sale in the theater box office from 1 to 5 p.m. Season ticket seat requests are also being filled.

The drama, directed by Mrs. Otilie Seybolt, will open Friday and continue to run Dec. 6, 8, 9, 10 and 11.

Gerald Smith, senior in political science, is featured in the title role. Prince Hal, later King Henry V, will be portrayed by Dennis Vernon, graduate in English. Hotspur, whose rebellion against King Henry IV, is the central theme of the play, is played by Karl Harshbarger, junior in speech. Gordon Howard, senior in speech and winner of last year's best actor award, characterizes Falstaff, the "town loafer".

Saturday Last Day For Pre-registration

The final steps in the pre-registration procedure must be made by noon Saturday, under penalty of a late fee, according to Clifford L. Constance, registrar.

These steps include a check with the office of student affairs in Emerald hall and the registrar's office in the same building if the student doesn't desire to pay the fees until Jan. 5 or if you are a veteran on P.L. or 346.

A fee assessment must be obtained now, even if the fees are paid later. The fees may be paid now in the business office in Emerald hall.

The last day for registration and a free change of courses has been set for Jan. 19.

Western Scene Decoration Idea For Whiskerino

With the Student Union ballroom decorated as a western street scene, according to decoration co-chairmen Sylvia Wingard and Jim Light, the Sophomore Whiskerino will follow the Oregon-Stanford basketball game Saturday evening.

In keeping with this western theme, dress will be informal. Men are to wear levis and lumberjack shirts and women are to wear skirts and blouses.

Tickets to the "Whiskerino" are now on sale in all men's living organizations, in the SU and at the Co-op. House sales will continue until Thursday, but will be on sale at the other places until Saturday according to Mary Ann Foster and Don Rotenberg, co-chairmen of the ticket committee. Price of admission is $2 per couple.

King Perry and his band from Hollywood will be the featured entertainers at the dance. A special student act being planned by Andy Berwick and Gloria Lee, co-chairmen of entertainment, will be presented at the intermission.

Betty and Joe

Voting for Joe College and Betty Coed will take place at the door to the dance and the winners will be announced during the evening. The six finalists for Betty Coed are Diane David, Ann Gerlinger, Gloria Lee, Cora Mae Peterson, Nancy Randolph and Elynor Robblee. Joe College finalists are Andy Berwick, Alex Byler, Tom Harrison, Gary Jones, Ron Ricketts and Bill Swenson.

A trophy will be presented by Bill Reeves, president of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary, to the freshman of last year

Marx Will Appear In Ballroom Today

GROUCHO MARX

"Humor—from Silent Films to TV"

By Joe Gardner
Emerald Reporter

Groucho Marx, master of ceremonies of NBC's radio and television show "You Bet Your Life" and long-time movie comedian, will speak in the Student Union ballroom today at 1 p.m. under the auspices of the university assembly committee.

"Humor—From Silent Films to TV" will be the topic of Marx's campus address. At the end of his talk students will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Admission to the assembly will be by ticket only. Most of the tickets went to blood donors in October's Red Cross blood drive—a special stipulation made by Marx. The remainder of the tickets were distributed to students by lot drawing earlier in the term. However, the assembly will be broadcast to the SU fishbowl to enable non-ticket holders to hear Marx's talk.

Tops in TV

After more than forty years in show business, Marx is currently rising to the top in a new entertainment medium—television. This recent triumph follows years of success in vaudeville, musical comedy, films and radio. He gained his original impetus in the entertainment field from Gus Edwards, whose troupe he joined in 1906 at the age of ten.

Marx and his famous brothers are said to owe their success to their mother, who had a strong love of the theater. Although money was scarce in the family of a poor immigrant tailor, she managed to give the boys music lessons. In the early 1910's she organized a trio of singers that included Groucho and was called "The Three Nightingales." After numerous changes, the Marx brothers act emerged.

Brothers Retire

Following their initial Broadway success in the musical comedy "I'll Say She Is", the team went on to

Oregana Schedules Retakes, Make-ups

Living organizations to have retakes and makeup pictures taken today are Barrister Inn, Hale Kane, Sherry Ross, Susan Campbell, Stitzer, French and Nestor halls, Hendricks and Hendricks Annex, Yeomen and Orides.

All retakes and makeups must be taken by Dec. 24, and all proofs returned by Jan. 1, Jody Greer, Oregana associate editor, announced.

If pictures are not returned by this time, the proofs which are considered best will be chosen, Miss Greer said.

DE PAUR CHORUS COMING

THE DE PAUR INFANTRY CHORUS and conductor, Leonard de Paur, will appear at McArthur court Monday night.

The de Paur Infantry chorus, a male vocal ensemble made up of 35 ex-GI's, will present a concert in McArthur court Monday, under the sponsorship of the Eugene Civic Music association.

Organized in 1942 by men of the 372nd Infantry regiment stationed at Fort Dix, N. J., the group has become famous for their concerts

Reception Planned In Music Building

A reception in honor of the de Paur Infantry chorus, who will present a concert Monday at McArthur court, will be held in the Student Union following the Civic Music program, according to Dick Williams, SU director.

Closing hours in campus living groups will be extended to 11 p.m. to enable students to attend the reception for the ex-GI chorus.

for the armed services during their four years in the service and their five civilian tours.

Last season the group broke all records in the concert business with 180 dates. In all, they have performed more than 3,000 times together.

Included in the de Paur programs are songs of World War II, modern arrangements of art songs and music of different faiths and spirituals.

Sophomore Men Continue Shaveless Through Whiskerino Saturday in SU

Sophomore males, who have been carefully grooming their "five o'clock shadows" for the past week will continue to lay the razor aside until the Sophomore Whiskerino in the Student Union Saturday.

Freshmen women started checking sophomore men last night in men's living organizations for violations of the beard growth contest rules. Additional checkings will be made this week, according to Don Gartrell and Ron Ricketts, contest co-chairmen.

During intermission of the Whiskerino dance, the winner of the contest will be given a free shave on stage by Charlie Elliott, Eugene barber. The winner will be judged on the originality and neatness of chin growth.

Prizes will also be awarded to the first, second and third place winners.

Interviews Planned For Emerald Post

Candidates for business manager of the Emerald will be interviewed by the student publications board Wednesday evening.

Deadline for the advertising management job is noon Wednesday. Petitions should be turned in to Dick Williams, SU director.

The Emerald business manager job pays about $70 per month. The business manager has complete charge of the advertising side of the paper.
