

RE Week to Feature Outstanding Speakers

A Sunday-night introductory dinner meeting featuring an address, "One World or None", by Reverend Paul S. Wright, minister of the First Presbyterian church, Portland, and a pageant, "America and the World", will open Religious Evaluation week to be held on the campus Jan. 25 to 29.

"RE Week," the annual program co-sponsored by the Religious and Spiritual Activities committee, University Religious council and the Religious Directors association, incorporates the regular Sunday evening meetings of the campus religious groups, the Wednesday evening browsing room program and the fireside programs of the living organizations. "The Shaking of the Foundations" will be the theme for the week, with each day having a general topic.

Each day, Monday through Thursday, will begin with a chapel meditation at 7:30 a.m. Addresses of religious leaders who will be on campus will fill out the morning hours, followed by luncheons in the Student Union at noon.

Afternoon sessions will be composed of addresses, films and a sacred concert by the University Choral union, directed by Donald W. Allton, professor of music. Fireside dinners and discussions will be held at 6 p.m. each day, with addresses in the SU at 8 p.m.

Speakers to be present for the week include Georges Florovsky of the seminary of the Russian Orthodox church; Rev. Matthias Burgher, OSB, professor of sacred scripture, Mount Angel seminary; Rabbi Elliott Grafman, JD, leader of the Temple Israel, Long Beach, Calif.; Dean M. C. Gossard, former dean of liberal arts, New Mexico A & M, Santa Fe; Dean Clifford E. Maser, school of business and technology, Oregon State college; Rev. G. C. Meserve, author of "Faith in the Making"; Paul S. Wright, minister of the First Presbyterian church, Portland; and Karlin M. Kapper-Johnson, head of the history department at Lewis and Clark college.

Petitions Ready For YW Election

Petitions for YWCA offices are now available in the Y office at Gerlinger hall. They may be picked up there during the month of January.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors are eligible for elective and appointive offices on the YWCA cabinet. Elective offices are president, 2nd vice president, secretary, treasurer and upperclass commission chairman. Juniors and seniors will be given preference on these elective positions.

Appointive offices include service, public affairs, social, international affairs, religious growth, worship, publicity, membership, promotion, conference, sophomore advisors and junior advisors.

In addition to these elective offices and appointive positions, freshmen Y members are eligible for elective positions on the sophomore commission which include chairman and secretary. They are also eligible for appointive offices including chairmen of membership, duckling counselling, social, finance, promotion, service, chaplain and publicity.

The upperclass commission will be composed of this year's sophomores and juniors. The only elective office is chairman. Appointive offices include those interested in general program planning.

Sheets explaining the duties and responsibilities of offices are available to interested petitioners at the Y office.

Requirements for petitioners are a 2 point accumulative GPA and a 2 point GPA for the last term with a minimum of 12 hours.

Women's elections will be held Feb. 25. Installations are set for March 4. Terms of office will begin spring term. New officers will be elected by the Associated Women Students, the Women's Recreation association and the YWCA.

Dads' Day, Preview Chairmanships Open

Petitions for Dad's day and Duck preview chairmanships are due Thursday at 5 p.m. in the ASUO office, according to ASUO president Pat Dignan.

Dad's day will be Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 7 and 8. Duck preview will be April 24 and 25.

Petitioners will be interviewed Thursday evening by the Senate, Dignan announced.

Registrar Sees Enrollment Drop Of 10 Per Cent

An approximately five to ten per cent drop in enrollment from the number of students registered for fall term is forecast by Clifford L. Constance, registrar. A winter term enrollment of 3,900 is expected.

Nearly 15 per cent of the fall term enrollment leaves school by spring term, according to the registrar's office.

The last day for payment of fees without penalty has been set for Sat., Jan. 10. The final date for registration or change of class is Jan. 19. Following that date students who change classes or sections will have to obtain a grade in the course.

Only 598 students had completed pre-registration and paid their fees, according to an early report.

Dean Jacobson Named To AASA Committee

Paul B. Jacobson, dean of the school of education, has been appointed to the 1953 resolutions committee of the American Association of School Administrators by Virgil M. Rogers, AASA president.

Emerald Steps Up Publishing Schedule; Side Steps College Trend in Cut Issues

The Oregon Daily Emerald starts a stepped-up schedule this term. The paper will be published five times a week beginning Jan. 12 instead of four times weekly as done fall term.

The Emerald will publish four page papers on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week. Eight page papers will be published on Thursday and Friday.

The development is contrary to the national trend of college newspapers to cut on the number of issues and even toward elimination of the newspapers in some cases.

The revised schedule was caused by production cost increases not noted in the original 1952-53 budget. A special publications board sub-committee headed by E. C. Robbins, instructor in economics and a member of the board, investigated the problem. The committee report stated:

"The Special Emerald committee

Pre-med Students To Quiz Committee

Prospective applicants for admission to the University of Oregon Medical School will have a chance to question the admissions committee concerning applications, qualifications and premedical work, Thursday at 7:20 p.m., in Science 16. Interviews with the committee will be held Friday and Saturday.

Members of the admissions committee are E. S. West, head of the biochemistry department; Joseph B. Trainor, assistant professor of physiology; R. D. Grondahl, head of the division of clinical pathology, and Charles Bradley, associate professor of psychiatry.

Prospective medical students and their wives are invited to all sessions.

has received evidence that the University press subsidized the Emerald during the school year 1951-52 by over $3500 despite information to the contrary given to the Student Publications board during that period. Under the full-cost policy put into effect by the University press this December, our best estimate is that if we continue our present printing program the printing expense will exceed the budgeted amount by approximately $2476.46. This amount cannot be squeezed out of the balance of the present budget."

The committee recommended the five day schedule, stating that it believed that the printing budget can be balanced for winter and spring term under the new arrangement.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Gamma Delta Fined for Illegal Rushing Procedures

Two fraternities were fined for illegal rushing procedures at an Inter-Fraternity Council tribunal meeting held near the end of fall term.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Gamma Delta were fined for illegal freshman rushing and an illegal boarder respectively. SAE's were fined $50 and the Phi's were fined $30. This is the second fine levied against the SAE's this year.

The freshman illegally rushed by the SAE's loses his right to pledge for one year. According to Baltz, "No fraternity will be allowed to rush the freshman until fall term, 1953, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon will not be allowed to pledge the man until one year from Dec. 12."

Also at the Dec. 12 meeting, the council elected Dick Morse, Phi Delta Theta, president to replace

'Rush' Starts Monday; IFC Assembly Tonight

Formal winter rushing for men will begin Monday and extend through next Saturday. This is the first chance for freshmen men to rush.

All men interested in winter term rush should attend the Interfraternity Council assembly in the Student Union ballroom tonight at 7, IFC President Dick Morse said.

Mathematicians To Enter Deady By Spring Term

Deady hall, completely renovated inside, will be ready for occupancy by the first day of spring term, physical plant officials estimate. The mathematics department, now housed chiefly in Emerald hall, will occupy the newly remodeled structure.

Plastering has been completed on the top floors and is now being done on the second and third floors. Classrooms are being finished in white sand coat plaster and the halls are covered with smooth white coat plaster and sand coat material on the upper walls and ceilings.

Several mezzanine rooms have been eliminated and old studding and walls have been completely replaced. All electrical wiring and plumbing systems have been renewed and steam radiators similar to those in new Commonwealth hall are being installed.

William Williams To Open Lectures

Browsing room winter term lectures begin Wednesday with William A. Williams, assistant professor of history, discussing "Sam Adams: Taproot of American Radicalism." Associate Professor of English Carlisle Moore will lead the discussion.

Open to members of the Association of the Patrons and Friends of the Oregon Library, faculty and students, the lecture-forum series will cover current activity in the fields of literature, art and law. Chairman of the program committee for this series is Frederick M. Hunter, honorary chancellor of the state system of higher education.

Second in the series will be a talk on "The Early Experience of the Supreme Court with Civil Rights," Jan. 14 by Dean Orlando J. Hollis of the school of law. Charles G. Howard, professor of law, will lead the discussion.

The book "Ethics in Politics," by Paul Douglas, will be discussed on Jan. 21 by Dean of Administration W. C. Jones. Register-Guard Editor William M. Tugman will lead the discussion following the lecture.

Chairmen Wanted For Heart Hop

Petitions for the Heart Hop are due Jan. 12, according to Norma Hamilton, Y sophomore cabinet chairman. Petitions may be picked up on the third floor of the SU, and turned in to the Y or to Norma Hamilton or Mary Wilson.

Open chairmanships include general chairman, decorations, coronations, publicity, refreshments, tickets, promotion and voting.

A movie, "A Toast to Brotherhood" will be shown. The film will provide general information on fraternities and rush week and might "help clear up some misconceptions about fraternity life," Morse said.

Before the movie Frederick Hunter, honorary chancellor of the State System of Higher Education and member of Chi Phi, national fraternity, will speak on the fraternity system.

A question and answer period will follow the film. Jim Harding, IFC vice president, and Morse will answer any questions the men might have. Morse advised those planning to attend to have their questions written out and to bring pencil and paper for note taking.

Board Approves Teacher-training At State Colleges

The State board of higher education voted today to ask the legislature to permit elementary and secondary teacher-training at state-financed colleges.

At present, elementary teacher-training is limited to the 3 state colleges of education at Monmouth, Ashland and La Grande. Secondary teacher-training is carried on only at University of Oregon and Oregon State college.

Under the board's proposal primary and secondary training would be offered at all the schools and at Portland State college.

The recommendation is one of several suggested by a teacher education survey conducted recently for the board by Earl W. Anderson of Ohio State university.

The board rejected another of Anderson's major proposals. It called for a limited liberal arts program in humanities, social science and science-mathematics at the 3 colleges of education.

In other action, the board recommended that Portland State be made a 4-year school. If the need for such a college is proved, it would offer non-professional degrees. At present, Portland State is a 2-year school.

The board proposed that the college be allowed for a 2-year trial period to offer 3 and 2-thirds years of work toward a degree in an accredited university. If the program worked out, the 1955 legislature would refer to the voters the question of amending the law to permit establishment of a 4-year college at Portland State.

Petitions Asked For 'Fun Fest'

Petitions have been called for chairmanships of the eighth annual YMCA-YWCA International Fun Fest, a gathering of foreign students from Oregon colleges, slated for Feb. 7.

Chairmanships available besides general chairman include coffee hour, invitations, evening program, programs, registration, housing and general secretary.

Petitions may be obtained at the office of the director of women's affairs, Mrs. Golda Wickham, and must be returned by 5 p.m. Thursday.
