

Women Prepare for Feb. 25 Election

Activities of AWS Listed As Group Plans Election

AWS is an association of all women registered at the University—a woman becomes a member automatically upon registering here. The group is affiliated with AWS groups established on other campuses throughout the United States.

The purpose of the organization, according to President Sarah Turnbull, is to "promote the best interests and welfare of the women at the University."

Among the events sponsored by the AWS fall term are the Dean's tea, the Bunion Derby, AWS auction and the Christmas tea. Winter term activities include Apple-polishing party and publication of a vocational guide for women to help them find summer employment.

This year the AWS handled the freshman orientation program and will cooperate with other campus women's groups for the YWCA Heart Hop, the Phi Theta "Mystic" sale and a bridal style show sponsored by the Y.

Composed of representatives from each living organization is the AWS congress under the jurisdiction of the vice-president. Congress members helped gather rummage for the AWS auction and publicized the Bunion Derby.

Offices open in the group include president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, sergeant-at-arms, reporter and Intercollegiate Associated Women Students representative. The IAWS representative corresponds with the regional director and other campus AWS groups.

Any junior woman may petition for president and vice-president after clearing with the office of student affairs. Sophomores are eligible for secretary and treasurer positions while the sergeant-at-arms and reporter jobs are usually filled by freshmen. The IAWS representative must be either a sophomore or freshman.

Present officers besides Miss Turnbull include Elaine Hartung, vice-president; Judy McLoughlin, secretary; Kay Moore, treasurer; sergeant-at-arms, Dorothy Kopp; Sharon Brown, reporter; and Joan Walker, IAWS representative.

Deadline Approaches For AWS, YW Petitions

Jan. 28 is the petition deadline for offices in two of the three campus women's organizations—Associated Women Students and the campus YWCA. Women's elections will be held Feb. 25.

The third women's group, the Women's Recreation association, does not choose cabinet members by petition. The present WRA cabinet will select a slate of candidates from the organization's members.

Regular ASUO petitions may be picked up on the third floor of the Student Union for AWS positions. They may be turned in to Elaine Hartung, group vice-president, at Alpha Chi Omega or to the ASUO office.

Petitions for YWCA offices, both elective and appointive, may be picked up in and returned to the Y office in Gerlinger hall.

The slates of candidates will be chosen from the AWS senior council or the YWCA senior council and junior advisers.

WRA Chiefly Responsible For Handling Women's Sports

The Women's athletic program on campus is largely handled by the Women's Recreation association—composed of women who have participated in at least one WRA activity, intramurals or clubs.

"Skill is not a pre-requisite for membership and we are here to help you learn as well as perfect your skills," stated Bunny Bradley, president of the association.

WRA, besides sponsoring the women's intramural competition among living organizations in volleyball, bowling, basketball, swimming, badminton, tennis and softball, promotes such activities as the co-rec nights, Northwest Hockey tournament and a water show during Duck Preview.

The hockey tournament held on campus during fall term brought top women's hockey teams from throughout the Northwest here for the three-day meet.

The Cascade and Evergreen hockey clubs, led by Mary Holman and Jean Stevenson, are also WRA activities as is the Outing club. Headed by President Norma Munie, this group takes many hikes during the year.

A branch of WRA, the Amphibians, women's swimming honorary, annually presents a water pageant. President of the honorary is Mary Bennette.

Officers of WRA include Bunny Bradley, president; Lois Hamar, vice-president, in charge of all social events such as initiations and co-rec nights; Mary Jordan, secretary; Mary Bennette, treasurer; Mary Holman, head of sports; Jo Morton, sergeant-at-arms; Janet Bell, publicity; Jackie Saylor, assistant publicity, and Mary Co-sart, historian.

A slate of candidates for the association is selected from the membership, therefore the offices are not open to all-campus petition.

YW Cabinet Basic Organization; Members Elected and Appointed

Operating apart from any church affiliation but in conjunction with all church groups is the campus YWCA.

The Y actively co-operates with other campus organizations such as the University Religious council, the YMCA, and Cosmopolitan club to sponsor activities such as the religious orientation program for freshmen, the Thanksgiving service, Religious Evaluation week, Easter Sunrise service, World Student Service Fund drive, United Student Christian Council conference and others both on a local and a more widespread basis.

the cabinet, much larger in number, are selected by an interview with only one of the senior cabinet members. In the case of the sophomore cabinet, women seeking elective offices are interviewed by the nine senior cabinet members, while those petitioning for appointive offices are screened by the eight women who have served as junior advisers to the freshman commissions.

Interviewers ask applicants specific questions about the information included in the petitions, in particular in the suggestions space. On the basis of these interviews and the petitions, two people are selected for each office. Both old and new general cabinet members select the new appointive office-holders.

Present members of cabinet groups with their duties are: Jackie Wilkes, president, presides over meetings, attends advisory board meeting and helps organize new areas in the program; Jane Simpson, first vice-president, helps supervise committees and programs and represents the Y on the University Religious council, and Mary Alice Baker, second vice-president, supervises the spring training program for junior advisers, presides over junior adviser meetings and reports on progress of freshmen commissions.

Other members of the cabinet are Sue Lichty, secretary; Mary Ellen Burrell, treasurer, and Joan Cartozian, upperclass chairman. Norman Hamilton is president of the sophomore cabinet and Ethel Reeves is secretary of that group.

Elective offices on the cabinet open only to petition by juniors are president, second vice-president and upperclass chairman. Sophomores may petition for secretary, treasurer and any appointive office on the cabinet.

The difference between appointive and elective offices, for petitioning purposes is that, in the case of the upper class cabinet, elective officers are interviewed by both senior and cabinet members and YWCA Director, Mary Elizabeth McDowell. Appointive members of
