

Newburn Names Esslinger New PE School Dean

Arthur A. Esslinger, presently director of physical education at Springfield college in Massachusetts, has been appointed dean of the school of physical education, H. K. Newburn, University president, announced Tuesday.

The appointment, approved by the State Board of Higher Education, will become effective July 1 upon the retirement of Dean Ralph W. Leighton, present head of the school.

Esslinger is well-known on the Pacific coast, having served as physical education director at Stanford university from 1938 to 1943. Prior to that time he was on the staff of Bradley university as coach and professor of physical education.

Student Soloists Featured Tonight With UO Symphony

Five student soloists will be featured with the University symphony orchestra in tonight's concert at 8:15 p.m. in the music school auditorium, according to conductor Edmund Cykler.

Singing with the orchestra will be soprano Dorothy Anderson, senior; contralto Audrey Mistretta, sophomore; and bass Doug Stobie, junior. Pianists to perform are Rosalie Blickenstaff, sophomore, and Dorothy Pederson, junior.

Included in the program will be Mendelssohn's "Concerto for Piano in G Minor"; "Concerto for Piano in A Minor" by Schumann; "Voce di donna" from "La Gioconda" by Ponchielli; Mozart's "Madamina, il catalogo" from "Don Giovanni"; and "Recitative and Aid de Lia" from "L'Enfant Prodigue" by Debussy.

Portland Art Program Includes UO Speakers

Bertram Jessup, associate professor of philosophy, and Jorge Goya, graduate student in fine arts, will be the principal speakers at a meeting Jan. 30 at Portland's Kharouba Gallery.

WILLIAM C. JONES

Who Runs the UO?

William C. Jones, dean of administration, has been at the University since fall term of 1951. For six months of the 1951-52 academic year he was acting president while Harry K. Newburn, UO president, was in Europe.

Jones received his bachelor of arts degree from Whittier college in Whittier, Cal., master of business administration from the University of Southern California and doctor of philosophy from the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

As the dean of administration he is responsible to the president and represents the president on occasion. He is general administrative assistant of the University and a member of the board of deans.

From 1941 to 1944 Jones was head of the political science department of the UO. He then became president of Whittier college and held that position until last fall term when he returned to Oregon to take his present position.

Jones' son, Gordon, a Whittier graduate, served this year as a graduate assistant in the Oregon school of Journalism until he entered the U.S. Army this week.

Church, State Seen Not Split

No definite line of division exists between the church and government because the state is forced to give equal rights to all religions, Dr. Paul Wright told an audience of about 50 persons in the Dads' room of the Student Union Tuesday night.

"A free church in a free state seems to give the best promise for fulfillment of the lives of citizens," Dr. Wright said in concluding his address entitled, "Church and State in Protestant Thought."

He pointed out that in early American colonial days, church and government were one and the same. No division existed between the two until the time came to choose one form of government. At that time it became necessary to choose an official church, and in the ensuing dispute, no church was sanctioned and the government gave equal recognition to all religions.

Dr. Wright said that early Christians were martyrs who hoped the kingdom of God would come upon the earth and scatter the authoritarian rule of the state. Later, the Roman government under Constantine legitimized Christianity, and there was a wrestle between church and state as to which was the true power. Following the renaissance functions of the state and church separated, he explained.

"God does not want chaos. Fine and orderly government are God's instruments of order," Dr. Wright said. He pointed to John Calvin's belief that the will of God would be actualized in society, and added, "The church has functions to perform in society that reflect upon the functions of the state."

Class of 1956 To Vote Today

Freshmen will decide today who are to be the first officers of the class of '56. Polling booths, located at Carson hall, the Student Union, the Veteran's dormitories and the Co-op, will remain open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Under the preferential system, candidates running for president and representative will be rated by the voters. These preference numbers will range from 1 to 20, which is the number of candidates running.

Who's Elected

Candidates receiving the largest number of "ones" or other high numbers will be elected, as the system is worked out. Therefore freshmen are urged by Helen Jackson Frye, ASUO vice-president, to give a one to any candidate the voter wants in office, because this will give him a better chance of being elected to office.

Those Running

Candidates running for president are Don Bonime, Amos Bowles, Meb Buchanan, Dick Gray, Don Hazelett, Patrick Henry, Robert Lawson, Bob Maier, Bob McCracken, Gary McMurry, John Shaffer, Roger Shiels and Sam Vahey.

Those running for representative are Jim Duncan, Daryl Gould, Judy Johnson, Jackie Jones, Sally Phillips, Sue Shreeve and Mary Sweeney. Candidates are cautioned that no campaigning is allowed on election day.

Results of the election will be carried in tomorrow's Emerald.

Slate Features Five Speakers

A forum representing all the church denominations participating in Religious Evaluation week will be held today at 1 p.m. in the Dad's lounge. All students and townspeople are invited to attend the discussion period according to Cathy Tribe, student chairman.

Speakers and their topics will be: Rabbi L. Elliott Grafman, "Judaism and Christianity"; the Very Rev. Georges Florovsky, "Eastern Orthodox Ecumenicity"; the Rev. Mathias Burger, "Roman Catholic Ecumenicity"; the Rev. Harry C. Meserve, "Humanism and World Order"; Karlin M. Capper-Johnson, "Christian Basis for World Order."

Luncheon scheduled for today in SU 111 at noon will honor Gesard and Mr. Meserve.

GRACIOUS ME!

Politeness is Winner At Olympic Games

"Graciousness" is the word that best characterized the 1952 Olympic games, Brutus Hamilton, United States Olympic track and field team coach and director of athletics at the University of California, told an audience of about 200 people Tuesday.

Hamilton told the audience the graciousness was in evidence everywhere about the games—in the contestants' attitudes toward one another and in the attitude of the Finns as hosts toward the visiting athletes.

Victory and Defeat

He described the athletes in the games as having the feeling that "victory is great, but when it can't be helped, defeat is great." In further illustrating this point, Hamilton said that at the end of the games a delegation of Swedes, Finns and Germans came to congratulate him on the performance of the team, and told him they were most impressed with the appearance of "graciousness in defeat" of the American athletes.

Great and Noble

Calling the games "great and noble" drama, Hamilton then told his audience something of the State Board Considers Granting LA Degrees at Three Colleges

The State board of higher education decided Tuesday to reconsider granting limited liberal arts degree work at the three state colleges of education.

A few minutes before adjournment time Tuesday morning, board member Frank Van Dyke of Medford moved that the matter be given renewed consideration. He said he had talked the matter over with Governor Paul Patterson and the governor said the decision should rest with the board.

On Jan. 5, by a vote of 5 to 3, the board rejected a recommendation of the Anderson report (a study of teacher education in Oregon) which called for a liberal arts curriculum in social science, humanities and science-mathematics, at Oregon College of Education, Southern Oregon College of Education and Eastern Oregon College of Education.

A three-man committee composed of Van Dyke, G. F. Chambers and A. S. Grant was appointed to study the question.

Preview Petitions Due Today at 5 p.m.

Petition deadline for Duck Preview chairmanships is today at 5 p.m., according to co-chairmen Sunny Allen and Bob Summers. Petitions may be turned in to the office of the ASUO president on the third floor of the Student Union.

Chairmanships open are registration, tours and exhibits, exchange dinners, luncheon, dance, men's housing, women's housing, contacts, publicity and campus promotion. Duck Preview weekend is scheduled for April 24 and 25 this year.

What Do You Think of Student Government?

Rosemary Hampton, sophomore in speech, said:
"Student government means to me that students should plan out their activities and the administration should have as little to say about it as possible."
"I also think elections should be changed . . . the way of voting is definitely wrong. Each office should be elected separately instead of collectively."
