

Church Unity, Functions Head RE Discussions

At a ecumenicity forum held Wednesday at 1 p.m., religious leaders of five faiths, currently participating in Religious Evaluation week, discussed the question of church unity.

The speakers, though all agreeing on the desirability of such unity, differed in their suggestions on how to achieve it. It was generally agreed that religious unity would follow in the wake of true world order. Therefore it was suggested that the problem be attacked from economic, political and sociological levels.

General topic of Wednesday morning's talks was "Kingdoms Not of This World." Four religious speakers discussed this question from the viewpoint of their own faith.

Rabbi L. Elliott Grafman of the Temple Israel in Long Beach, Calif., stated that the founder of every faith has had one purpose, to teach that men must know they have a kinship with a God who is universal to all men and that God desires men to live by his will.

Judaism, he remarked, has avoided making a God of their religion's founder. Such a deification would have the unfortunate result of turning the people from his teaching.

An insight into the Roman Catholic viewpoint and explanation of the points about the Catholic faith which most bother other faith members was given by the Rev. Mathias Burger, professor of scripture and religion at Mount Angel seminary.

Discussing "The Church as the Nucleus of the New Order", the Rev. Paul S. Wright, Presbyterian, expressed his belief that the church has a real part in the formation of the community which all men seek.

The Very Rev. Georges Florovsky, Greek Orthodox church representative, told his audience that under the theory held in the Middle Ages the state was one of the existing orders in the world that needed "Christianizing." He contrasted this with the Lutheran or modern theory, whereby the church is a special institution of the world of God in a world ruled by kings putting the state first.

Nothing no, nothing beats better taste and LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!

Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke?
You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco.

So, for the thing you want most in a cigarette... for better taste—for the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste of Lucky Strike...

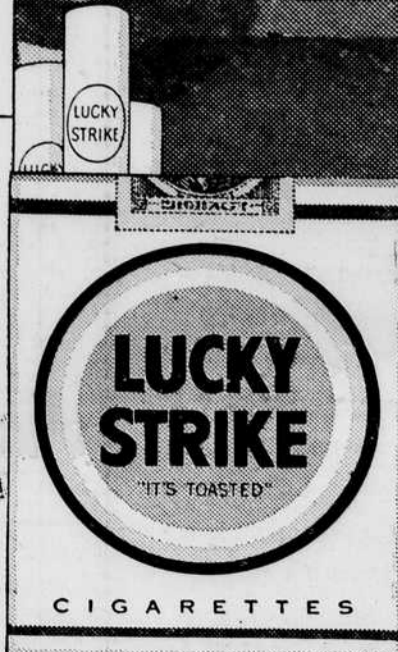

Be Happy-GO LUCKY!

I've tried all kinds of cigarettes To find the one that's best - It's Luckies' cleaner, fresher taste That way outranks the rest!
