Five Marks Shattered; Ducks Alone in Second

University of Oregon's Ducks, destined for a third place ending in the northern division by pre-season cage forecasters, moved a step farther toward a second place finish by soundly choking the visiting Idaho basketball aggregation, 89 to 69, Saturday night.

On their way to a third win in four tries over the Vandals, the local quint broke five northern division records and tied a sixth. Most of the fractured marks were of the "freak" variety, however.

Towering Chet Noe, Oregon's pillar on the backboards, turned in one of the top performances of his career in tying a rebound record, 26, set last year by another Duck, Bob Peterson.

As a team, the winners also upped one of the records which they already held in total rebounds. The new mark, 72, exceeds the previous total by six.

Northern division statisticians will also have to erase the record for high team score which has stood at 85 since 1951 when Washington went wild against WSC. The 89 point total also excels Oregon's previous high by seven.

High Score, Both Teams
A solitary point is all that separates the Saturday night total scored by both teams, 158, from the old mark, but that one free loss was enough to break the record.

Two more offensive marks fell by the wayside in shots tried by one team, and shots tried by both teams. Both Idaho and Oregon bested the team total but the Webfoots' mark was 99, seven more than their opponents could get away. The game total, 171, was 25 higher than the PCG total and 30 more than the previous ND high.

Four Double Fouls
Another performance would probably also have set a new record if there were a category for it, but the contest's four double fouls will probably remain an unwritten distinction.

From the standpoint of competition, the fracas was a "no game" affair after the beginning of the second period.

Briefly, Oregon pulled away from an 11 to 10 shave midway in the initial canto to lead at the end of the frame, 22 to 16.

Ducks Pull Away
Idaho, still in the game, closed the gap to two points, 22 to 20, after 1½ minutes of play in the second quarter, but a lay-in by Noe and a gifter by Bob Stout put the Ducks out of shooting distance.

The entire Webfoot starting line-up contributed to the score during the remainder of the period, and Coach Bill Borchers' boys enjoyed a half-time of jazz records at the long end of a 43 to 29 tally.

Ahead by 28
The remainder of the game was much like the second quarter, with Oregon leading at the third period break, 68 to 44. With his minutes left in the contest and five charges ahead by 28 points, Coach Borchers pulled his first five.

Idaho mentor Chuck Finley also relieved his lanky starters, and

Vandals Scare; But Ducks Win

Chuck Finley and his band of Idaho Vandals threw an unexpected scare into the Oregon Webfoots at McArthur Court Friday night, as they came from behind in the last quarter, finishing only three points behind the winning home quintet.

At the start of the contest, most of the fans expected a tight, closely played game, but the Ducks crept steadily away from their opponents, and as the final stanza opened, it looked like an easy win for the men of Oregon coach Bill Borchers, for they led by a 65-52 margin.

However, with just a few seconds more than seven minutes left to play in the contest, Vandal guard Bruce McIntosh took things into his own hands and chalked up three quick baskets while the Webfoots apparently stood by and watched.

At the end of McIntosh's scoring spree, the count stood Oregon 68, Idaho 65, and the previously confident Duck five began to settle down again. Barney Holland broke the Oregon jinx with a long one-hander to give the Webfoots a five point lead, and Bob Stout capped another a few moments later.

With his hoopsters sporting a five point advantage, Coach Borchers ordered a stall, and despite the desperate efforts of the Idaho quintet, Oregon held onto the lead and won 76-73.

Both teams attempted 84 shots from the field, with Idaho hitting 25 of them for a .297 average. The Ducks canned 28 attempts to give them a .334 percentage. The free throws were almost equal, with Idaho dunking 23 and the Webfoots 20.

The outstanding player in the Friday night tilt was 6-foot, 7-inch Chet Noe, who led the scoring for both squads with 25 points. Big Chet also got his share of rebounds with 15, but teammate Keith Farnham led in this department with 16.

It was a case of just too much speed on the part of Oregon, and the Vandals, already tired after two games with Oregon State, were slow getting back on defense.

Junior guard Holland played most of the game, despite a broken nose and two black eyes which he received in a pile-up at Oregon State last weekend. Ken Wegner, one of the hardest driving guards in the conference, played a sparkling game and aided the Oregon cause with 10 points.

Ducklings Finally Top OSC Rooks; Stop Win Streak

The Oregon Frosh ended the Rooks' 26 game winning streak with a 66-62 win Friday night at McArthur court. The Ducklings were paced by center Max Anderson with 28 tallies while the Aggies were again led by their towering seven-foot center Wade "Swede" Halbrook with 30 markers.

The Ducklings wasted no time in putting the heat on the squad from Corvallis. At the end of the first period the Frosh held a fat 25-13 advantage. However, the pace slowed down in the next two frames as the Ducklings accounted for only 18 points while the Rooks went into the lead as they racked up 24 tallies.

OSC went into the final canto leading by a count of 47-43 and it took Don Kirsch's Eugene tribe six minutes to catch the Junior Beavers. With the score knotted at 59-all the score changed hands two more times. Bob Hazel put in two charity throws and John Foster tipped one in to break the tie and wrap up the victory.

THREE FORFEITS

Sig Ep, Hale Kane Teams Protect Undefeated 'B' Basketball Marks

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Hale Kane came through with wins in intramural basketball Friday afternoon to boost their "B" standings to identical three win and no loss records. The Sig Ep's victory came at the hands of the Deltas. Hale Kane had an easy time, winning by forfeit from Sigma Hall.

Besides Sigma Hall, two other forfeits marred the Friday action. Campbell Clubs' "B" quint won when the Counselors failed to show, and the Susan Campbell won in a like manner from Gamma Hall's "B's."

Scoring Well Divided

A prime factor in the Sig Ep victory over the Deltas was the well rounded team play by the winners. Six players scored three or more points with Kee Briggs leading the pack with eight.

At halftime the winners held a slim 7 to 5 edge.

Merrick Drops Nestor

James Barnard was a one man wrecking crew for Merrick's Hall's "B" team as he scored enough points to singlehandedly defeat Nestor, 38 to 12. The Merrick center tallied 15 for individual scoring honors.

Merrick led all the way and held a 17 to 5 halftime advantage.

French Beats Stitzer

French Hall had to come from behind to defeat the Stitzer "B" outfit, 25 to 16. Although they were behind 9 to 5 at the midway break, the winners, led by Jim Carskadon and Nick Smith, raced ahead to win going away.

Record-Breaking Saturday in NW

Saturday was record-breaking night in the Northwest as eight individual and team scoring records were scratched out of the books and eight new ones put in their place.

At Eugene, where the Ducks trounced Idaho's hapless Vandals, five new marks were made and a sixth was tied. Chet Noe tied the record for rebounds at 26; and the new northern division totals were posted in total team scoring; total score, both teams; most rebounds, one team; most shots taken by one team (broken by Idaho and Oregon); and most shots taken by both teams (record broken both Friday and Saturday nights).

Meanwhile, at Washington university, Bob "Hooks" Houbregs was eclipsing the records in most field goals, one season, (new record, 103); and total score, one season, (new record, 276). With six games remaining, Houbregs is sure to put his marks well out of the reach of any contenders.

Also at Seattle, little Johnny O'Brien was setting an unofficial record in most points scored, four years. O'Brien potted 33 to run his total up to 2,925. The official record, 2,902, set by Nate DeLong, will stay in the books, however, because the National Collegiate Athletic Association does not recognize freshman points.

Ducks Win Twice

rest of the contest was a rollicking affair and whistle filled, drawn-out foul.

Ed Halberg connected nine out of twenty field goals and five out of five foul tosses in another of his fine games for 23 points, enough to earn high scoring honors for the night.
