Art Gallery Chairman Chosen by SU Board

Barbara Johnson, freshman in art, was chosen chairman of the Student Union art gallery committee at the SU board meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Plans for a Career Day, tentatively scheduled for April 16, which was initiated by the board are progressing. Don Zavin, vice-chairman, reported on the findings of his special committee considering the event.

The major portion of the board meeting was spent in discussing and voting upon the report of the committee of the whole dealing with definitions of general areas of responsibility of SU standing committees. Final report on this subject as accepted by the board involves several changes in the program.

A budget report for the Student Union during first half of the academic year was submitted by Sandra Price, treasurer. Out of the original budget expense of $4,020, $995.22 has been spent to date. A balance of $3,024.78 remains.

The general area of responsibility for the executive committee defined by a committee of the whole report was accepted by the board. Under the specific terms of the report, the executive committee will "implement and administer general policies and business" and minor policy adjustments which are not important enough to bring before the whole board.

Members of the executive committee are: Clyde Fahlman, chairman of the board; Don Zavin, vice-chairman; Margaret Powne, secretary; Sandra Price, treasurer, and Jane Wiggen, directorate chairman. They are to meet Feb. 20 at 3 p.m.

Board members were appointed to advise and assist the chairman of standing committees for the next two weeks period.

On The Air...

KWAX Reporter

Some confusion emitted from the KWAX studios Feb. 10 as KOAC, Corvallis station, tuned into the line expecting to pick up a broadcast of Mortimer Adler. Since Adler was not scheduled until this week, a startled KOAC staff found themselves listening to Jack Vaughn play a tape recording and finally cut him off when the tape recorder was run backwards, giving out with gibberish closely akin to profanity.

A few of the sane KWAX broadcasts scheduled for today over KWAX include William Stibbins answering "Is the Clarinet More than a Licorice Stick?" on Musician Comments, "Russian Literature Must Extol the Soviets," on People Under Communism, and "Brittany, Normandy and St. Malo," on Report From Europe. "Repeat Performance," an original drama by Sandra Price, will star Deane Smith, Loanne Morgan, Stuart Olson, John Bree, Hugh Garabrant, Bill Wilson and Joanne Forbes.

Friday's offerings are "The Law of Reversed Effort" in Way Beyond the West, with Alan Watts, and Folksongs and Footnotes by Louis Ford telling of "Folk Dances of the World."

England's dramatization of "Slowest Journey" can be heard over the BBC Theater this Sunday. Also offered on Sunday are "Journey to Freedom" over City of Warning and Harry T. Levin speaking on Christopher Marlowe over Humanities Lecture.

Aubrey Castell, philosophy department head, leaves his Window in the Ivory Tower to speak on "Humanities in the Modern World" Monday, Feb. 16. The following day Dr. Walter Goldschmidt will speak on "Sticks and Stones" over Ways of Mankind.

Wednesday's Old Books, Old Friends show offers Dr. Cecilia Payne-Gaposchkin reviewing "The Way of All Flesh," and Kingsley Martin interpreting "What Kind of Press Does the Public Want?" over Voices of Europe.

Guadalajara Summer School

A bilingual summer school sponsored by University of Guadalajara in co-operation with Stanford University faculty members will be held in Guadalajara, Mexico, June 28 - Aug. 8, 1953. Offerings include art, folklore, history, language, and literature courses. $255 covers six-weeks tuition, board and room. Write Prof. B. Rael, Box K, Stanford University, Calif.

We Pause Too Long

Another of those little slip-ups prone to radio announcers happened on a KOAC broadcast last Monday night. The regular station break was given "We now pause 10 minutes (instead of seconds) for station identification." After a long pause, the embarrassed announcer continued the broadcast.
