Press Delegates To Hear Heldring Luce, Patterson

Gov. Paul L. Patterson will address delegates to the 34th annual Oregon Press conference at the Friday evening banquet in the Eugene hotel. His topic will be "Today and Tomorrow in Oregon."

The conference, described by Carl C. Webb, assistant professor of journalism, as a short course in journalism, will be held Feb. 20 and 21.

Sponsored by the school of journalism and the Oregon Newspaper Publishers association, the conference is designed to include discussions of news handling, editorial writing and news managing, Webb said.

Life, Time, Fortune

The Friday events will be held in the Student Union. They will include a speech by Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Time, Life and Fortune.

Luce will deliver the Eric W. Allen Memorial lecture in honor of the founder of the school of journalism at the University of Oregon.

Jerome R. Heldring, chief of the Netherlands Information service in the U. S. and former foreign correspondent for a Rotterdam daily, will speak to the group on the topic, "How United States Papers Handle Foreign News."

Crowd Expected

A crowd of about 175 is expected to attend the conference.

Two movies will open the conference at 9 a.m. Friday. They are, "The Colonial Printer," telling the story of 18th century printing in America, and "The Keystone Idea," produced by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers association to explain the reason for the existence of any newspaper anywhere.

Consumers

Friday afternoon in the SU a panel of "newspaper consumers" will express their opinions of newspapers. Charles T. Duncan, associate professor of journalism, will be moderator.

Panel members include a labor leader, a professional man, a farmer, a retailer, a public official, an educator, a housewife and a student. Their identities will not be revealed; they will be known only by the vocation each represents.

There is to be no rehearsal of the discussion and the participants, who come from all parts of the state, have not been given the questions in advance.

The conference Saturday will be held at the Eugene hotel. An inspection of the Register-Guard plant after the luncheon will close the program.
