

Eugene's Heilig Theater To Show 3D Movies

Three dimensional movies, in the form of a series of short subjects will make their first appearance in the Eugene area Friday at the Heilig Theater.

Showing here for a week, the

Poet to Discuss Modern Poetry

E. G. Moll, professor of English, will discuss "Poetry as Contemporary Art" Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union browsing room in conjunction with the Festival of Contemporary Arts.

Moll is the author of "Campus Sonnets," "Native Moments," "Cut From Mulga," "Brief Waters," and other books of poetry. In 1949, "Cut From Mulga" was chosen by the Australian government for special publication by the Melbourne University Press. His latest work, "The Waterhole," a poetic story of Australia, was published in 1948.

movies are forerunners to the permanent installation of three dimension screening at the Heilig.

The films will require the use of polaroid glasses by the audience. The glasses, packed individually in sterilized packages, will be issued to a spectator as he enters the theater, then collected again on the way out.

Special admission prices of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children will be in effect during the three dimension show.

Almost every major studio is now scheduling the new 3D pictures and some are making the same pictures in both the old and new systems.

One 3D full length feature is already being displayed around the nation. It is "Bwana Devil," filmed in Africa.

Station Merger May Hurry TV

The merging of station KORE and KUGN into Eugene Television Inc., headed by Robert P. Booth, Eugene business man, has cleared the way for an allocation of another television channel here soon.

The two stations, who announced the merger on Feb. 13, had previously filed competing applications for channel 13. The possibility of an early hearing by the federal communications commission could mean television for Eugene by mid-summer or early fall.

Spencer's Butter is tentatively viewed as a TV transmitter site. Television channel 20, allocated earlier to W. Gordon Allen, is not expected to be in operation for a year.

Campus Briefs

● Today is the deadline for petitions for the all-campus vodvil show to be presented during Duck Preview weekend. They should be turned in to Jane Simpson at the YWCA office or at the ASUO office by 5 p.m.

● Wednesday is the deadline for petitions for chairmen of the Easter sunrise service, sponsored by the University Religious council. They should be turned in to Jane Simpson at the YWCA office in Geringer.

● Stan Kenton and his 25-member band will appear for a concert and dancing at the Eugene Armory Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The concert will last until 9:30 with dancing to follow.

● The Red Cross board will meet at 4 p.m. today in the Student Union, according to Joan Walker, president.

● Morton Kroll, assistant professor of political science, will speak to members of the International Relations club on the topics of Western Europe and John Foster Dulles Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

Oregana Sale Set This Week

A "Special Opportunity" sale of Oreganas will be held this week at the Student Union and Co-Op, with booths being open from 9 until 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, Jim Light, business manager, has announced.

Day managers for the sale are Kay Patch, sophomore in art; Yvonne Holm, sophomore in biology; Rosemary Hampton, sophomore in speech; Mary Ann Foster, sophomore in sociology, and Eileen Randolph, junior in art. They are in charge of personnel who will sell the books, which can be purchased for either $6.75, the full price, or the $3.75 down payment with the remainder to be paid next term.

A former tradition, that of having a special "personalities" section in the Oregana, is being revived this year. A feature of the section will be full-page pictures of week-end queens and other outstanding campus personalities, Light said.

KWAX Pictures Today

KWAX staffers will have Oregana pictures taken at 4 p.m. today in the Villard hall studios, Bob Ford, Oregana photography editor, has announced.

Those who should be present are Sandra Price, Mary Wilson, Joanne Forbes, Shirley Pettijohn, Jack Vaughn, Ken Whittle, Gordon Rennie, Judy Johnson, John Bree, Hugh Garrabrant and LoAnne Morgan.
