

IT SURE HAS!!

Fair With a Personality Stars Ex-Coed 'Rosie'

We've got an excuse for running the picture of the scantily clad lass you see on this page. We'd probably have run the thing anyway, excuse or not, but there is a connection.

For the young lady in silk tights is none other than our own Rose Zena Latta (we can hear the Alpha Gams screaming now.) Certainly you remember Rosie, don't you? It seems like only yesterday she was tripping about the campus. As a matter of fact we probably saw the last of her around 1950 . . . but the point is she did go to school here.

Singin' and Dancin'

And how did we come to latch on to this fetching photo? Well, it's probably a long story, but we got it short. Rosie's one of the leading attractions at the coming Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival. In that costume, she'd probably be a leading attraction anywhere.

The publicity director down there was kind enough to send us up the mat together with a bit of literature. Rosie's playing the part of Princess Shalimar in "Arabian Nights Pageant." She apparently has a very nice lyric soprano voice (she studied music here under Prof. Herman Gelhausen) though, if she's any indication of the rest of the cast, who'll be listening?

Camel Races, Too!

Well, we got to reading this literature and discovered, as we expected we would, that the Date Festival has a National Horse Show including Breath-Taking Circus Acts and the Original and Sensational CAMEL RACES (the only camel races in America) and each night at 6:45 you can see the spectacular Arabian Nights Pageant on the Famous Authentic, Arabian Stage (whatever that is), an entirely new production (aren't they all?) with gorgeous costumes (costumes, ha!), enchanting music, exotic dances and so forth and so on. P.S.—Much improved highway with opening of Whitewater Freeway. Use Highways 60-70-99 or 111. (Just wait till we tell Southern Pacific about this!)

Oh, yes, we should also include that the fair lasts for Six Exciting Days and Nights and includes Romance, Mystery and Desert Enchantment. And furthermore, this Dazzling Spectacle, this Never-to-Be-Forgotten Setting of Oriental Splendor, this Exotic Atmosphere of the ancient Near East can all be found in Indio, California (population 5,300 according to the 1950 census), that town being square in the middle of a land of winter sunshine and rare and scenic beauty with shaded gardens of towering date palms growing in a fabulous agricultural oasis. Well, we might have known that much.

Save Us a Seat

Which all goes to prove, we suppose, that the printing press (in this case offset lithography), in the hands of Californians, is every bit as dangerous as the old monarchs used to think it was.

But if anybody's planning to drive down (it starts tomorrow) save a seat for us and a pair of binoculars. We'd really hate to miss the fun. Besides that, we've got a hot tip. Abdullah by a hump in the third.

Hostile Planes Range Over Japan

(AP)—The Air Force said Monday that two Russian-type planes made head-on firing passes at two U.S. jet interceptors over Tokyo and fought a ten-minute battle before being chased out of Japan.

One of the planes was described as damaged and smoking as it headed for Russian-held Kurile islands.

The American pilots said the two intruder planes ignored their warnings to land, adding that the battle was fought at about 16,000 feet at least three miles inside the Japanese boundary.

An Air Force spokesman said the first bullets in the aerial fight were Russian. He said the American jet pilots of the Japan Air Defense force have instructions to fire across the bow of an intruding plane as a signal to land. The Air Force statement indicated the Russian planes opened fire when such signal bullets were fired by the U.S. planes.

The American pilots broke off the engagement to avoid violating Russian territory. One told of firing a burst of 300 rounds into the wings and fuselage of one of the intruders.

Students Reminded To Keep Off Lawns

Students should stay on the sidewalks instead of cutting across campus lawns, emphasized I. I. Wright, superintendent of the physical plant Wednesday.

"There's no excuse for taking short cuts across the lawns," Wright said. He pointed out that new lawn beds around Commonwealth building have been damaged by people who could walk a few feet further and stay on the sidewalks. He said students should make a special effort to keep off the grass during wet weather.

Grading and paving of the area back of Howe field's new concrete bleachers will be done as soon as weather permits, Wright said. Wire fencing is ordered and will be installed on the backstop as soon as it arrives.

'Mysties' Will Sell Thursday, Friday

Thursday and Friday are the dates of the annual Phi Theta Upsilon Mystie sale. "Golden Krispie Mysties" will be sold in living organizations and at several booths on the campus on both these days.

The second day of the sale, Feb. 20, will coincide with "Women's Day" on the campus. The "Heart Hop," sponsored by the YWCA, and an Associated Women Students bridal fashion show will be the other events held in conjunction with "Women's Day."

This year's sale is under the joint chairmanship of Marilyn Parrish, freshman in liberal arts, and Doreen Geinger, freshman in education.

Traditionally, the type of Mysties are kept a secret until the time of the sale. In both 1951 and 1952, the junior women's honorary sold candied apples.

IRC to Participate In 'Time' Contest

Members of the International Relations club will participate in a quiz contest March 3, according to Bob Maffin, IRC president. The question forms have been submitted by the publishers of "Time" magazine, and will cover all the current events of 1952.

"Time" will award the winner a book of his own choice from a list which accompanied the question forms.

Entrants Needed In Bridge Tourney

Today is the deadline to enter the National Intercollegiate Bridge tournament slated for Thursday evening in the Student Union.

According to Judge Elderkin, chairman, an insufficient number of contestants have signed up, and unless more persons sign up with him at the Theta Chi house the contest will be cancelled.

Four Music Profs To Present Recital

A faculty chamber music recital, featuring four members of the school of music faculty, will be presented Thursday at 8 p.m. in the music school auditorium.

The recital is a part of the current Festival of Contemporary Arts.

Featured on the program will be George Hopkins, professor of piano; William Woods, instructor in piano; George Boughton, associate professor of violin, and Exine Anderson, soprano, assistant professor of music.

Journalism Honorary Hears Miss Olson

Miss Laura Olson, counselor for women, spoke at a meeting of the Salem alumni chapter of Theta Sigma Phi Monday evening on her experiences as a promotion copy writer for the New York Herald Tribune.

Miss Olson is a former member of the University of Oregon chapter of Theta Sigma Phi.

Alums Sponsor Mu Phi Concert

A morning musicale, sponsored by alumnae of Mu Phi Epsilon, national women's professional music honorary, will be presented Feb. 26, at 10:30 a.m. in Gerlinger hall.

Given as a special bonus attraction, the concert is open to all holders of season tickets for the Mu Phi concert series.

Featured soloist on the program will be Doris Ellen Calkins, harpist. Also performing will be two scholarship holders, Audrey Mistretta, contralto, and Louise Matter, cellist, both sophomores in music.

A violin solo by Doris Saunders and a vocal trio by Mu Phi alumnae will complete the program.

Delts Lose Carpet; Lost Trophies Found

A green carpet, valued at approximately $150, has been missing from Delta Tau Delta fraternity since sometime between 11 and 12 p.m. Feb. 4, according to Chuck Hansen, house manager.

The rug, about 12 by 8 feet in size, was found missing when several members returned to the house. Several trophies, belonging to Theta Chi fraternity were found at the Delta house after the loss of the rug was discovered.

IR Club to Discuss Dulles and Europe

"Western Europe and Mr. Dulles" will be the theme of the International Relations club meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Student Union.

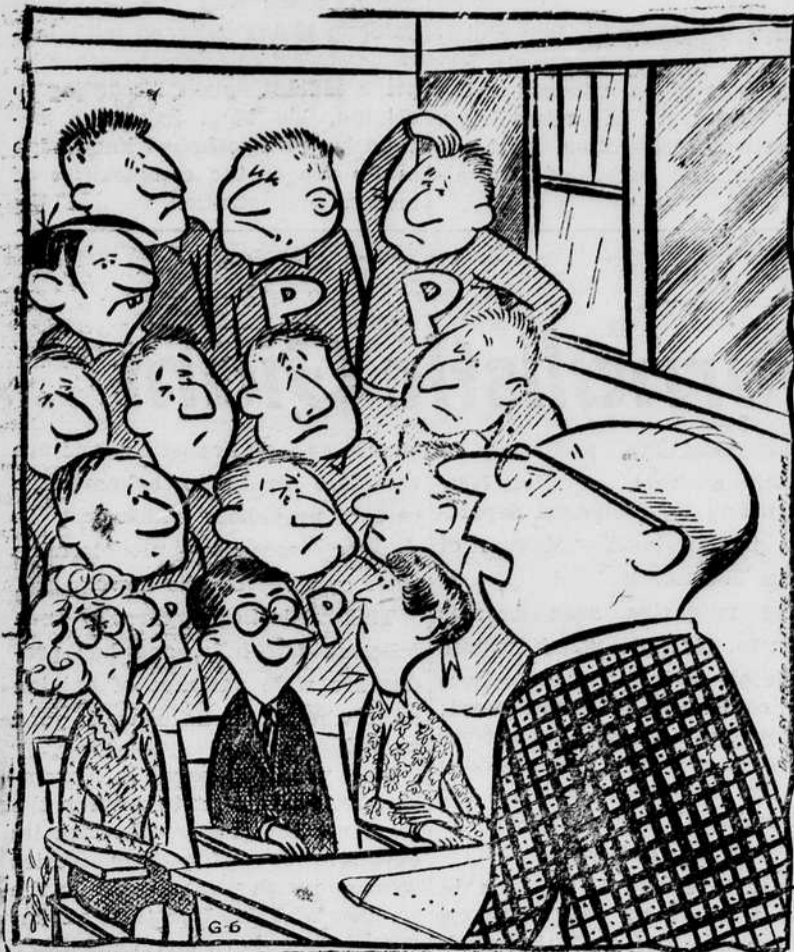

Morton Kroll, assistant professor of political science, will deliver the opening remarks, which will be followed by a discussion period.

'Loyalty' Talk Set By Law Professor

Charles G. Howard, professor of law, will lead a discussion on "Loyalty Oaths and Academic Freedom" in the Dads' Lounge of the Student Union at 1 p.m. today.

The discussion is under the sponsorship of the YWCA public affairs commission, headed by Sylvia Wingard. Faculty members are especially invited to attend, according to Miss Wingard.
