

Duck Quint Hopes to Clinch Second Slot in Husky Series

By Bob Cole
Emerald Sportswriter

Oregon's Webfoots, who have all but clinched second place in the Northern Division Conference, invade Seattle this weekend to encounter Washington's front-running Huskies. The biggest obstacle confronting the Ducks, who hope to hand the Huskies their first defeat in conference play, will be putting the stopper to Bob Houbregs, who leads the conference scorers with a record-breaking 28.1 points per contest.

Stop 'Hooks'

Tuesday afternoon emphasis was placed on a defense to bottle up Houbregs, and it wouldn't be too surprising if Coach Bill Borchert comes up with a little different defense than "Hooks" and his teammates have faced all season. Chet Noe, who has been outstanding defensively this season will probably get the individual assignment of guarding Houbregs.

Offensively the Webfoots are trailing the Seattlites by a single point in the league scoring race. Where Oregon falls decidedly behind is defensively, having allowed 67.7 points per contest, while Washington has yielded only 56.1, the best defensive record in the conference. The Webfoots will certainly have to be at their best if they expect to return home sporting a triumph.

Coach Bill Dorcher isn't expected to make any changes in his regular starting lineup, which would consist of Halberg and Keith Farnam at forwards, Noe, center, and Wegner and Barney Holland, guards. Holland has been using a face guard for the past two weeks, and it is probable he will be using the protection again this weekend.

Ducks Close to Second

Now sporting a five game conference win streak, the Ducks have a solid hold on second spot at the three-fourths mark, three games above third place Idaho and four ahead of Oregon State. One win in Seattle would give the Oregon five at least a tie for second in the final standings.

Order of 'O' Meeting

The Order of "O" will meet today at the Phi Delta Theta house, according to Tom Lyon, president of the organization. Oregon pictures are to be taken.
