

Student Affairs Set Rules for Weekend

The pre-final week closed period will begin at 5 p.m. Friday, according to the office of student affairs. This means that University women will be allowed only one date, or night out, over the weekend.

Closing hours have been set for 10:30 p.m. Friday and for 12:15 a.m. Saturday. No men will be allowed in the women's houses after Friday.

Edna Landros to Speak At Portland Meeting

Edna Landros, assistant professor of classical languages, will be the guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the foreign language division of the Oregon Educational association in Portland Monday.

The luncheon, which is a part of the annual meeting of the OEA, will be presided over by Pauline Layne of Willamette high school, president of the foreign language section.

Group Postpones NAACP Action

Action by the student affairs committee on recognition of a campus chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People may not take place until the beginning of spring term, according to R. C. Williams, committee secretary.

The committee meeting scheduled for last Saturday was postponed because of the illness of Donald M. DuShane, director of student affairs and chairman of the committee. Due to final exams next week, the committee may not be able to meet before the end of the term, said Williams.

John C. McCloskey, English professor and committee member, read a three-page argument against the request of NAACP for campus recognition at the last meeting of the student affairs committee. The committee voted three to three at that time to adopt a motion granting the group recognition.

Because voting on this issue was tied, the committee decided to hold another meeting, originally scheduled for last Saturday, for further consideration of the matter.

Singers to Make Vacation Trip

University Singers, a 60 voice mixed chorus from the University school of music, will take their seventh annual tour during spring vacation, March 22-29, according to Donald W. Allton, director of the group.

The tour will include 15 appearances, covering central, southern and eastern Oregon and ending with a performance in Portland. The home concert will be April 9 in the Student Union.

The program for the tour performances includes numbers ranging from sacred to folk-songs and selections from the light opera, "Brigadoon."

Featured as a companion-group with the Singers is the Madrigal Singers, a 12 voice ensemble which specializes in the madrigal, popular song type of the 16th and early 17th centuries. Since madrigal singing was originally done in the home while seated around a banquet table, the Madrigals will also sing while seated around a table, to preserve the spirit of the original custom.
