

Delta Nu Alpha Elects Officers

New officers were elected by Delta Nu Alpha, transportation fraternity, at their meeting Tuesday in the Student Union.

Elected president was A. L. Stanley, business. New secretary and treasurer are Gordon Klope, freshman in business, and Bill Tickle, junior in business. Gene Henry, sophomore in business, was elected publicity chairman.

A membership drive is now under way, Stanley announced. He said that the fraternity charter is to be amended to include freshmen and sophomores, as well as juniors and seniors.

"There is an open field in transportation," Stanley continued, "and college graduates are continuously being sought by industries and transportation firms." Delta Nu Alpha is to help and familiarize business students in this field, Stanley said.

The average salary for the beginner in the transportation field ranges from $300 to $400 per month and advancements are constant, according to Stanley.

Anyone interested in the fraternity may contact Stanley at Commonwealth 174-B.

Mrs. Wickham to Talk On Co-ed Grades

Mrs. Golda P. Wickham, associate director of student affairs, will speak to all women on scholastic probation at 4 p.m. Monday in the Student Union. She will discuss scholastic probation and give some tips concerning scholastic success in college.

Students on scholastic probation include all those who have below a 2 point accumulative grade point average or who made below a 2 point their last term at the University.

Women's scholarship chairmen, or their substitutes, are also to attend the meeting, according to Mrs. Wickham.

'Peace Threat' Is Topic Of British, UO Debate

"Every young country is a threat to world peace," will be the topic for debate when a team of British debaters from Cambridge university in England appear on the campus Monday at 8 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom.

Peter John Mansfield of Pembroke college and Alistair Herbert Sampson of Selwyn college are the challengers in the international debate. The British speakers have included the United States in their definition of "young country" which may place the debaters representing the University in the position of defending the American revolution.

Karl Harshbarger, junior in speech, and Don Collin, senior in economics, will take the negative side of the question while the visitors uphold the proposition.

Debators 'Entertaining'

"The British debaters have a tradition of being entertaining as well as informative," Herman Cohen, director of forensics, in charge of the program, said. Cohen, during his own college debating, had an opportunity to meet the team from Oxford university.

Mansfield and Sampson are making the annual tour of British debaters sponsored by the Institute of International Education. They are touring the Western states while a second team meets teams on the campuses of Eastern universities.

The first British team to participate in this international program came to American in 1923 for a single appearance at Bates college in Maine. Speakers are selected from Cambridge and Oxford for two out of every three years and the third year are chosen from one of the British dominions or a provincial college in the British isles.

A pair of Australian debaters appeared at the University last spring and Edinburgh university in Scotland was represented in 1950. No international debate was scheduled for Oregon in the intervening year.

An exchange program was initiated last year by the Institute of International Education to send American debaters to England and possibly India this year, Cohen said.

Harshbarger is making application to participate in the program. Eight teams from all over

Initiation Slated For Pi Delta Phi

Campus chapter of Pi Delta Phi, national French honorary, initiated nineteen new members at a ceremony held Wednesday night in Alumni hall.

New regular members are Gerald L. Alexanderson, Nancy Cloege, Diane David, Kathleen Evans, Paulene Gaiser, Dagmara Grisle, Elena Horn, Robert Leroy Johns, Vera Gwen Paugh, Shirley Ann Shupe, Patricia Shute and Barbara Tomlinson.

Special members are Janine M. Etchepare, Beatrice Eakin, Ghaida Meo, Mette Brix-Kjelgaard, Jeanne Gottfredson and Norma Olsen. Raymond Labos was the only honorary member initiated.

The initiation, conducted entirely in French, was presided over by Mitzi Asai, president, assisted by Barton Olsen, secretary-treasurer.

At a banquet held at the Faculty club following the initiation, the Pi Delta Phi book awards were made. For the most progress and interest in French, Janet Woods, freshman in liberal arts, received the award for a student in second year French and Jacquelyn Saylor, sophomore in liberal arts, received the award for a student in first year French.

the nation are chosen to compete in finals held at Northwestern university under the sponsorship of the Institute and the Speech Association of America. Two winners are selected at the tournament to represent the United States in visiting debates abroad.

Widely Traveled

Mansfield was born in Ranchi, India, and left India for Britain in 1933. He served in the armed forces from 1947-49, and then studied economics at Cambridge for three years. He has traveled in France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Germany and Switzerland.

Sampson, a native born Englishman, is from Wimbledon, London. He was commissioned in the Royal Army Educational corps and later studied at Selwyn college where he received his BA degree in history and law.

The speakers will arrive in Eugene Sunday evening by train and will leave for Corvallis Tuesday morning.

Math Department Moves to Deady

Math department office and classroom equipment is being moved to recently remodeled Deady hall, where all math classes are expected to be held Monday, according to A. F. Moursund, head of the math department.

Math classes in Emerald, Commonwealth, Friendly, and McClure halls, physical education and education buildings and Quonset 1-B will be moved to Deady. At the close of classes this afternoon, lab computers and other classroom equipment will be moved into the remodeled building.

According to W. U. Olson, physical plant engineer, new tables and chairs for the classrooms are installed in Deady, and office equipment and furnishings are being moved from Emerald. Finishing touches were put on the interior of Deady this week, Olson said. Some work on the roof remains to be done. All wood trim on the outside of the building will be painted before July 1, according to Olson.

Rooms left vacant in Emerald hall by the move will be remodeled to house the general extension division, now occupying a small building on Kincaid adjacent to Commonwealth, Olson said.

'Even The Gods' Ticket Sale Monday

Tickets for "Even the Gods," fifth University theater production of the season, will go on sale Monday at 1 p.m. in the theater box office.

Sales will continue through April 25. For reservations, persons may phone 5-1511, Ext. 401, during regular box office hours, 1 to 5 p.m., according to Mrs. Gene Wiley, theater business manager.

The play, a new manuscript by Mildred Kuner, has been produced only once before. The University of California at Los Angeles gave the initial performance in arena-style. The UO production will be its first presentation on the main stage.

The production, directed by F. J. Hunter, instructor in speech, will open April 17 and continue April 18 to 25.

YW Discusses Group Purpose At April Retreat

Unifying new YWCA members around the purpose of the Christian association was the theme of the Y retreat held at Kitson Springs April 3 and 4. The group also made plans for next year's Y program.

The purpose of the YWCA, evolved during the retreat, was: "To realize as members of the Y an opportunity to give service as well as to receive it, to have an opportunity for a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God and to have a part helping to make this possible for others."

The YWCA should build their new program with this purpose in mind, the group decided, and to develop a well-rounded organization to meet the needs and interests of as many students as possible.

The areas of worship, international affairs, service, public affairs, membership and promotion were discussed. Plans include:

1. The development of the area of religious growth which will function as a group to bring to the students an opportunity to develop ideas in regard to religious philosophy.
2. A three-term freshmen program.
3. Specific programs for upper-class students rather than a continuous weekly program and to encourage participation in already established program areas.
4. Learn to understand the specific needs of the exchange student and to help him learn about our country.
5. Attempt to make the purpose of the YWCA clearer to the campus and to create a better understanding of the Y program among its members.

Chairman Requests Junior Queen List

All living organizations must turn in the name of their candidate for Junior Weekend Queen to Maureen Reiter at Chi Omega by 11 p.m. Monday, according to Joyce Jones, queen selecting chairman.

The candidates must be of junior standing and must have a 2 point or better accumulative grade point average and a 2 point or better for winter term, reports Miss Jones. Men's living organizations and dormitories may nominate candidates if they desire.

First eliminations will be held Tuesday evening in the Student Union. Candidates whose names begin with the letters from A to J are to report at 7 p.m. Those from K to Z will be interviewed beginning at 8:30. Dress will be suits or tailored dresses and heels.

First Spring Mixer Set on SU Terrace

Weather permitting, the first Student Union mixer of the term will be held tonight at 9 on the SU terrace. Campus clothes are in order for the affair which will be held in the fish bowl if it rains, Jackie Steuart, dance committee chairman, has announced.

Dance committees include Phyllis Pearson and Carol Oakley, entertainment; Becky Fortt, Geri Porritt and John Shaffer, publicity; Jerry Farrell, reservations; Dawn West and Donna Hill, arrangements. Doug Ruhlman will act as master of ceremonies.
