

IFC Will 'Work with Administration'

The Inter-Fraternity council, in a special meeting Wednesday night, approved a motion to "work with the administration in trying to support and improve the deferred living program."

The meeting—and the motion—were in part the result of what several members described as "bad publicity" following last week's meeting.

Pamphlet Discussed

At that time, the group discussed a pamphlet which attacked the recent alumni committee report on deferred living. It had suggested "that the deferred living program be immediately abandoned and a program of strengthening fraternity living be undertaken.

Apparently there had been a great deal of confusion about the report — but Wednesday night's meeting indicated it did not have IFC's support.

Contains Falsity

According to new IFC President Con Sheffer, information contained in the attack had not been verified through the office of student affairs. It included "false statements and lies," he said.

The report was not written by an IFC committee set up to look into deferred living, according to Ted Rubenstein, vice-president.

"The committee had nothing to do with it," he stated.

Sheffer opened the meeting by asking the other fraternity presidents present, "Are we going to stand as a group to fight deferred living all the way . . . or constructively work our points of view into the deferred living system?"

Report Not Checked

Ron Lowell, Alpha Tau Omega, added to Sheffer's remarks about the report, which he said had not been checked through any reliable source of information.

He remarked that he couldn't understand how fraternity president's could have gotten so worked up about a document which could be "cut to ribbons at any time." He called for the group to take an affirmative viewpoint" on deferred living.

Change Implied

Rubenstein objected to some of the talk about what would imply a change of heart for IFC. He said he didn't want anybody to get the "wront slant," maintaining that, while the report had been discussed, it had never been the policy of IFC.

(The motion to endorse the report at the last meeting was tabled. Another motion, to have copies of it printed for distribution, was withdrawn.)

Story Termed "Misleading"

Rubenstein also objected to what he claimed was a misleading story about that meeting in the Oregon Daily Emerald Apr. 17.

Following discussion and the motion, Sheffer appointed a ten-man committee to look into the two phases of deferred living—rushing and pledging. That group, with Sheffer as general chairman, Gailerd Smith, Phi Kappa Sigma, and Lowell Schuck, Delta Upsilon, as subcommittee chairmen, will report back at the next regular meeting.

Briefing for Weekend

Duck Preview General Co-chairmen Bob Summers and Sunny Allen get together with Don Smith, (center), Eugene high school student body president, to outline plans for the annual high school weekend, Friday and Saturday.

Campus Vodvil Tickets on Sale; Rehearsal Tonite

Tickets for the All-Campus Vodvil Friday night went on sale this morning at the Co-op and the Student Union for 60 cents, according to Gloria Lee and Shirley Wendt, general co-chairmen. The high school visitors will be admitted free.

A dress rehearsal for all participants in the ten acts chosen as finalists will be held at 6:30 tonight in McArthur court. Costumes and props must be furnished by the living organizations, but a microphone and a phonograph will be provided, reports Carl Winans, lighting and special effects chairman.

One change in the acts has been reported, according to Miss Wendt. Delta Gamma will present "Fundamentals II" instead of the previously announced "Magoo Ties the Baby Shoes." Two trophies, one for the best men's and one for the best women's acts will be awarded.

Wingard, Kwamas Tour UO Campus

Members of Kwama, sophomore women's honorary, apparently aren't too familiar with the Oregon campus.

The women, who are to conduct tours for visiting high school seniors during Duck Preview, found that they needed a refresher tour themselves.

Sylvia Wingard, tours and exhibit chairman, trailed by 12 Kwama and three Skull and Dagger members (who are also to conduct the tours) set out from the Student Union on a cross-campus trek that temporarily disrupted all activity in the Emerald shack Thursday afternoon.

'Trail' Dance Slated For Saturday Eve

"The Trail Leads to Oregon," first all campus dance of spring term, will be held in the Student Union ballroom Saturday evening from 9 to 12.

Jack Lowry and the Eugene All-Stars will be featured at the annual Duck Preview dance. This event will mark the first appearance together of members from various Eugene bands.

High school seniors will be admitted free to the dance with coupons to be handed out at registration, according to Al Goldenberg, dance chairman. Admission for Oregon students will be 20 cents per person, he said.

Tonight's Senate Agenda

The ASUO senate will hold its regular meeting tonight at 6:30 in the Student Union, announced Pat Dignan, ASUO president.

The following items are on the agenda for the meeting:

- Student activities evaluation committee, Tom Shepherd;
- All campus primary committee, Don Collin;

- Rally board committee, report Bob McCracken;

- Insurance plan committee, Merle Davis;

- Honor code committee, Francis Gillmore;

- Budget report.

Senate meetings are open to the public. Interested students have been invited to attend

Ford, Light Named To Oregon Posts

Bob Ford, junior in journalism, was named editor of the 1953-54 Oregon Wednesday night by the student publications board. Ford was chosen over Ann Dielschneider, junior in art.

Jim Light, sophomore in liberal arts, was selected as 1953-54 Oregon business manager. Only other petitioner for the business position was Alan Oppliger, junior in business.

Ford has twice edited the Ore-Ntr, student handbook, and holds positions on the Oregon, Emerald and Old Oregon. He is an associate editor in charge of photography on the 1952-52 yearbook.

Light is presently sales manager for the Oregon.

Duckling Dinner Exchanges Out UO to Participate In Vocational Study

Pairings for the Duck Preview exchange dinners have been announced by co-chairmen Ann Gerlinger and Don Crawford. Dinners will be from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Saturday. Campus clothes are in order.

Women's houses are Carson 3, Delta Zeta; Carson 4, Alpha Gamma Delta; Carson 5, Alpha Zeta Delta; Hendricks, Alpha Delta Pi; Delta Gamma, Chi Omega; Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta; Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Omicron Pi; Alpha Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Gamma Phi Beta, Sigma Kappa; Ann Judson, University house; Rebec, Highland; Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Chi Omega.

Men's houses have been notified of pairings by phone. Paired houses are asked by the co-chairmen to check with each other for last minute details and number of guests.

The University is one of the five colleges in the nation which has been asked to participate in a long-time study of vocational aptitudes for college students, reports J. S. Carlson, director of admissions and guidances.

Sponsored by the Education Testing service, the exams will include a three and one half hour battery of tests which will be administered to all freshmen, effective next fall. According to Carlson, the study will determine the relationship between the test factors and the performance of the individuals in academic and occupational courses.

Public to Inspect Dome on Sunday Voting to Continue For Jr. Weekend

The geodesic dome, completed last week under the supervision of architect R. Buckminster Fuller, will be open to public inspection Sunday from 1 to 9 p.m., Peter van Dijk, student chairman, has announced.

The dome, constructed on the corner of Franklin Blvd. and Onyx St., represents one phase of what promises to be a continuing experiment in design and production engineering at the school of architecture and allied arts, van Dijk said.

Coin Count Contest Prize Given Friday

"Coin Count" the juke box contest being sponsored in conjunction with the World Student Service Fund drive, ends today.

Chances for the contest will be on sale at the main desk of the Student Union until 10 p.m. tonight. The price of each chance is five cents. A prize will be awarded the winner at the WSSF auction Friday.

The object of the contest is to guess how many nickels are put in the juke box in the Fishbowl of the Student Union in one week, according to Patty Fagan, chairman of the contest.

Skull and Dagger Calls for Petitions

Voting continues today at the Co-op and the Student Union for the members of the Junior Weekend court, according to Joyce Jones, queen selection chairman. Booths will close at 5 p.m.

The five finalists for queen will be announced at the All-Campus Vodvil Friday evening, not in the Friday Emerald, as previously announced. The five, all of whom will be members of the queen's court, will be selected from the 12 semi-finalists.

Petitions are now being called for by Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's service honorary, according to Alex Byler, president.

Freshmen men who are planning to petition must have their petitions in by 5 p.m. May 1, Byler stated. The petitions may be turned in to Byler at Sigma Chi or to Don Rotenburg at Sigma Alpha Mu. Petitioners must have a 2 point GPA, Byler said.
