

Junior Prom Activities Begin Moms' Weekend

Leading off the events of the annual Mothers' weekend will be the special activities planned for mothers at the Junior Prom, May 8, according to Barbara Wilcox, general chairman of the weekend.

For the first time plans are being made for card games, other activities and refreshments to be provided for the mothers during the dance.

Registration for the mothers will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday in Gerlinger hall and continue until 5 p.m. Last year, 506 mothers were registered in the competition between living organizations for record albums. First places for the highest percentages registered went to Alpha Delta Pi and Phi Delta Theta.

Breakfast For Mothers

The annual Mothers club meeting-breakfast will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday. At noon the mothers will be guests at the traditional all-campus luncheon.

Both the students and their mothers may attend the Mothers' tea in the Alumni lounge of Gerlinger between 2:30 and 4:30, according to Miss Wilcox. They will also attend the float parade at 4 p.m.

Sing Is Highlight

Highlight of the weekend for the guests of honor will be the

700 Seniors Listed For Duck Preview

A total of 700 high school seniors were registered for the annual Duck Preview weekend last Friday and Saturday, according to figures released Sunday by Les Anderson, alumni secretary and advisor to the Duck Preview committee.

Although the registration number fell far short of the expected 1000 visitors, Anderson estimated that counting the seniors who didn't register there were from 850 to 900 high school guests at the University over the weekend.

All-Campus Sing Saturday evening in McArthur court.

Plans for Sunday morning include special services in local churches, dinner in the living organizations, and at 3 p.m., the Sunlight Serenade.

Fund Nets $178.25 In Friday Sale; MC Even Sold

The WSSF auction Friday afternoon on the SU terrace netted the WSSF fund $178.25 from the sale of campus beauties and beasts. The proceeds from this year's auction far exceeded last year's total of $60.50.

Five Sweetheart of Sigma Chi finalists, bought by Phi Delta Theta for $47, brought the highest price of the auction. The finalists and other auctioned groups served dinner Friday night for the living organizations buying them.

Auctioneer Spencer Snow, freshman in liberal arts, put five Kwama's on the platform to start the sale off. Beta Theta Pi took the group for $6.25 despite attempts by the Kwama's to buy themselves off the block.

$35 Buy Ugly Men

Carson hall led the bidding for the six Ugly Man finalists (minus Waldo) to buy them for $35. Assisting auctioneer Snow, finalist Wes Ball took over the microphone to bid up the sale.

A pair of culinary professors also was purchased by Carson for $23. Clad in chef's attire, E. R. Bingham, assistant professor of history, and H. T. Koplin, instructor in economics, offered themselves as waiters for the evening.

Quartet Gives Sample

After presenting several samples of their talent, the Susan Campbell Uncalled Four Quartet was won by Alpha Chi Omega for $23.50.

The masculine charm of the six Joe College finalists brought a top bid of $25.50 from Delta Gamma. Eight dollars purchased four members of the Homecoming court for Alpha Tau Omega.

Closing the auction, Snow put himself and his guitar up for sale. His musical services were won by Kappa Alpha Theta for $10.

Librarians to Enter Recreational Books For Silver Award

House librarians are asked to submit their recreational reading lists before Friday in order to compete for the Josephine Evans Harpham silver cup, according to Bernice Rise, browsing room librarian.

The cup is awarded annually during Junior Weekend to the living organization which stimulates the greatest interest in recreational reading and the house library program during the current year.

It has been previously awarded to Rebec house, Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Chi Omega and University house. Tau Kappa Epsilon is in current possession of the cup.

Weekend Court Named Friday; Final Vote May 6

The Junior Weekend Queen will be selected from the five finalists by an all-campus vote May 6, according to Joyce Jones, queen selection chairman. The other four will be members of the court.

Finalists who were elected in elections held Wednesday and Thursday and introduced at the All-Campus Vodvil Friday night, are Joan Marie Miller, Phi Kappa Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon; Diane Stout, Theta Chi and Phi Kappa Psi; Carol Lee Tate, Phi Delta Theta; Cathy Tribe, Campbell club and Alpha Phi; and Joan Walker, Chi Psi and Phi Gamma Delta.

Approximately 1115 students voted in the election, reports Miss Jones. This number is considerably higher than last year's figures.

Pictures and interviews with the five finalists are scheduled to be run in the Emerald before the election.

Browsing Room To Feature Nagy In Tuesday Talk

Ivan Nagy, assistant professor political science, who returned recently from research work on international affairs at Columbia University, will talk on "The Enforcement of Political Orthodoxy" in the browsing room at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Nagy was awarded a Ford Foundation faculty fellowship during the year 1951-52 for research work at Columbia university on the subject "Citizen Participation in International Affairs." His talk Tuesday will concern the problems of individual participation in government and the enforcement of political doctrine.

The browsing room lecture is scheduled for Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday for this week only, Bernice Rise, browsing room librarian, has announced.

Ducks In Front In ND Baseball

Coach Don Kirsch's baseball team stretched its lead in the Northern Division race to two full games last Saturday by edging the Washington Huskies, 4-3, on Earl Averill's tenth inning home run.

Sophomore Norm Forbes went the entire ten innings for the victorious Ducks and gave up only six hits and one earned run. Bud McCartney, who pitched two-thirds of an inning for the losers, was tagged with the loss.

Oregon came from behind in the eighth frame when third baseman Pete Williams drove in two runs with a long fly that went to the edge of the bank in left field. Details on page three.

Three Seniors Planning Graduate Work Enter Race; UIS Primary Wednesday

Who wants to be ASUO president? That's the big question now, with the UIS primary coming Wednesday, and AGS runoffs slated for May 4, 5, and 6. General elections will be held May 13.

Here's the list of presidential hopefuls in both parties as of Sunday. It includes three seniors who will return for graduate work. They have all either turned in petitions, or told the Emerald they plan to:

In UIS:

Tom Shepherd, junior in law, recently named junior class president, IDC president.

In AGS:

Jack Faust, senior in history, AGS president, Theta Chi president.

Paul Lasker, junior in education, recently named junior vice-president.

Tom Wrightson, senior in business, senior class president.

Spiking rumors that he was an AGS aspirant, Bill Frye, senior in journalism, told the Emerald Sunday he definitely is not in the race.

Frye is now an ASUO senate member, and ran for the AGS nomination last year.

Petition instructions for both parties:

UIS petitions for all offices are due today at 5 p.m. They may be turned in to Elsie Schiller at University house, Collin, UIS president, Germaine LaMarche, Orides, Shepherd, Gamma hall, and Paul Ward, Campbell club, and the first floor of Gerlinger hall.

UIS petitioners for the ASUO presidential nomination will speak briefly in an open meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in 123 Science. Candidates for other offices will be introduced.

AGS petitions for all posts are due by 5 p.m. Tuesday to Faust at Theta Chi or Pat Ruan at Delta Gamma.

Freshman candidates will be interviewed by the AGS policy committee from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at Delta Gamma.

All candidates, from both parties and those running independently, must turn in ASUO petitions by 10 p.m. May 6. Proposed constitutional amendments will run in the Emerald May 4, 5 and 6.

Burt Barker Cup Missing for Month

Information leading to the recovery of the Burt Brown Barker scholarship cup, taken from Gamma hall about Mar. 18, has been requested by the office of student affairs.

The cup was reported missing following the state high school basketball tournament on campus, according to George Ealer, hall counselor. The police and the office of student affairs were notified of the theft.

Annually awarded during Junior Weekend, the cup was presented to Gamma hall last year.

Friday Deadline For Press Contest

Deadline for submitting essays in the Peter Pauper Press essay contest is Friday according to Bernice Rise, browsing room librarian. The contest is sponsored for Oregon students by the Peter Pauper Press of New York.

They are offering ten books from their "collector's edition" as first prize, and five books as second prize. The winners will be announced during the All Campus Sing, Junior Weekend.

Essays are to be submitted to Miss Rise in the Student Union browsing room or to Carl Hintz at the University library, she said.

Vodvil Prizes Won by Tri-Delt, Sigma Nu Skits

Sigma Nu's "Let's Dial In," and Delta Delta Delta's "As Time Goes By," copped the top awards in Friday night's All-Campus Vodvil. Second place went to Phi Delta Theta for "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," and to Delta Gamma for "Fundamentals II."

The Phi Deltas also scored with the selection of narrator Don Holt as the outstanding performer, and Jim Light as winner of the Ugliest Man on Campus contest. Light was presented with the Ugly Man mug and Herman the Moose, traditional symbol awarded to the Ugly Man's living organization. Runner up to Light was Waldo, Theta Chi mascot.

Tri-Delt garnered its first award of the evening—a chamois cloth—as the co-winner of the World Student Service Fund car wash. Sharing honors with the Tri-Delts was Delta Zeta.

Chairmen Chosen For 1954 RE Week

Barbara Swanson, junior in sociology, has been selected as general chairman of next year's Religious Emphasis Week, according to Russ Walker, executive secretary of the event.

Assisting Miss Swanson in planning the event, which will be the week of Jan. 17, will be the following chairmen:

Pat Adkinson, vice chairman; Ann Blackwell, secretary; Bob Hastings, treasurer; Shirley Soble, book displays; Janet Wick, luncheon; Pat Hartley, classroom; Sonia Edwards, hospitality; Gail West, firesides.

Jean Peterson, personal conference; Dorothy Iler, publicity; Bill Walker, worship; Nan Mimnaugh, promotion, and Phyllis Pearson, Sunday night dinner. Faculty advisor to the group is P. J. Powers, assistant professor of Romance languages.

Sing Meeting Tuesday

A meeting of all song leaders or house representatives of living organizations entering the All-Campus Sing will be held Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the Student Union.

At this time, each organization is to submit three copies of their song and a list of participants, according to Barbara Swanson, contact chairman for the sing. Eliminations for the sing will be held Wednesday night at 7.
