

Emerald Trophy To Be Awarded

Thirty Senior Men Considered on List

The Emerald Athletic Trophy, awarded annually to the senior who has the best athletic ability, scholarship and citizenship, will be awarded to this year's outstanding sports man during Junior Weekend. Thirty seniors, 14 in football, four in basketball, two in baseball, three in swimming, four in track, two in golf and one in tennis, are athletically eligible for the award. The winner will be picked by a committee consisting of the athletic director, faculty representative to the PCC, sports editor of the Register Guard, sports editor of the Emerald, president of the Order of the "O," student body president, dean of men, and the director of the athletic news bureau.

Oregon Golfers To Try Beavers

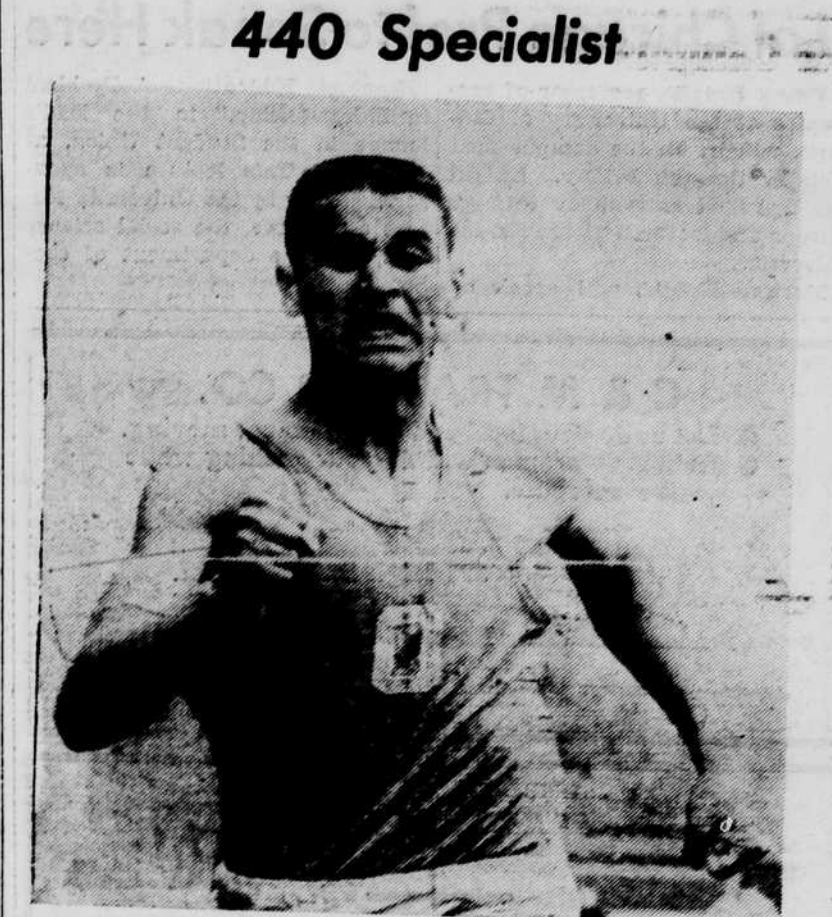

University of Oregon's golf team, winner of its past three meets, takes on Oregon State varsity linksters Saturday afternoon at the Eugene Country club. It will be Oregon's second ND test. The squad is led by Capt. Bob Atkinson, Don Kreiger, and Al Mundie. Oregon is favored to take the meet and go on to its fifth straight dual meet golf championship. Coach Capt. Laurence's tennis team, spilled by the perennial champions, Washington, last week, will meet the Aggie court squad at the same time on the local courts.

Frosh Diamond Nine Petitions Due Monday

Coach John Londahl's Duckling baseball team, which was rained out of a game with Linfield yesterday, will host the OSC Rooks this afternoon, weather permitting. Tomorrow they will journey to Salem to engage the State prison nine. The freshman tennis team stays at home for an encounter with the Oregon State Frosh, Saturday noon.

Spring Grid Prospects Practice 'T' Plays, Scrimmage in Rain

Although spring football practice for the fourth straight day Thursday, the squad looked considerably improved. As usual, the first part of the afternoon was spent limbering up and practicing on fundamentals; but later the grid men divided into line and backfield groups under the direction of Coaches Vern Sterling and Johnny McKay, respectively. In backfield practice, the runners worked on basic "T" formation plays, with Barney Holland and Don Holt managing quarterback duties.

TED ANDERSON, Oregon's top entrant in the 440-yard dash and low hurdles, will carry a good share of the scoring responsibility when the Oregon track and field squad travels to Pullman, Wash., this Saturday to tangle with the favored Cougars. Anderson won first in the 440 and hurdles against Washington last week.

Track Chances Drop As Injuries Hit Team

By Jim White

Oregon's slim chances took a nosedive Thursday as the Ducks prepared for Saturday's dual track and field meet with the Washington State Cougars. Injuries riddled the Oregon trackmen in several formerly strong events. The Ducks, now resting in third place in the league, were thought to have a good chance to upset the powerful league leading Cougars, but the drain on manpower has weakened Oregon so that a victory now looks unlikely. In the pole vault, Oregon's squad, which was one of the best on the coast, was reduced to one man as a result of injuries. Only Ken Hickentbottom will make the trip in that event. The Ducks hopes in the broad jump were shattered when

Ben Johnson acquired a dislocated shoulder. The Oregon traveling squad and events: Ted Anderson, 440, low hurdles; Walt Badorek, discus, high hurdles, high jump; Len Berrie, shot, discus; Doug Clement, 880; Bob Faucett, high jump; Ken Hickentbottom, pole vault; and Jimmy Jones, shot. John Loftis, 880; Al Martin, mile; Jerry Mock, 100, 220; Ken Reiser, 2 mile; Chan Sogge, high hurdles, low hurdles, javelin; Bruce Springbett, 100, 220; Tom Swalm, high hurdles, low hurdles; Fred Turner, 2 mile; and Dick Zimmerman, high hurdles, low hurdles.

A half-hour tackling scrimmage was held as the final drill. Cece Hodges, power-driving halfback, turned in a stellar performance, racking up sizeable gains against the defensive team.

Coach Don Kirsch is expected to start one of his prize sophomore pitching stars, Norm Forbes, against the Cougars in the first game. Either of two more second year men, Bill Blodgett or Stan Dmochowsky, will get the nod for the Saturday contest.

Oregon must come out with a better than .500 split if it plans to hang onto its first place position. The Ducks will end their season with a four game series in the Willamette valley with their cross state rivals, the Oregon State Beavers.
