Twelve Violators Will Be Punished

Twelve students have been reported to the Order of the O as traditions violators, according to Barney Holland, junior weekend traditions chairman. Violators are to report to Fenton hall at 12:25 this afternoon.

Women violators will be dunked and men violators are to be hacked.

The following students are to report for punishment: Gary McManus, Kent Dorwin, Max Anderson, Bill Dellinger, Garry McMurry, Bob McCracken, Sonia Edwards, Patty Fagan, Edna Humiston, Diane Ramsey, Pat Gilbert and Barbara Dunston.

Holland stated that the freshman men had been particularly lax in observing traditions.

Notes to the Editor

I am writing this letter in regards to my letter printed by the Emerald recently. I must say that I was disappointed in the emasculated treatment given to the letter, but I fully realize that the economy drive and thus the attempt to conserve-space is the culprit . . .

I do sincerely feel that the primary point . . . was obscured by deleting parts of the letter and therefore I am afraid it will go by unnoticed.

. . . I am afraid that the impression left by the article is that we are merely concerned with the refusal of the Student Affairs Committee to recognize the NAACP. On the contrary, we are deeply concerned with the rules and regulations of the committee in regards to recognizing any group of students. This though was the important point in the entire letter . . .

I also would like to have you print a correction to my letter, caused either by a typographical error on my part or by a misprint on your part. In the last paragraph I stated that "We believe that the policy of this committee is closely correlated to the lack of interest in student government, lack of cooperation, morale . . ." By some accident it came out MORALS which constitutes another concept altogether.

I am not qualified to state the condition of morality on this campus and a notice of correction, I think, would save me much embarrassment.

President, NAACP
