Committee Hears Fall Rush Week Plans NAACP Plea

The student affairs committee listened Thursday afternoon to J. V. Berreman, professor of sociology, read a 13-page statement regarding the recognition of a University chapter of national Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Petitions by the student NAACP group for university recognition had been previously turned down by the committee. No motion to recognize the group was made Thursday.

Berreman, advisor of the NAACP group, made two main points in his statement, according to Donald DuShane, committee chairman. The first was the defense of a campus NAACP chapter recognition and the second, the University policy in general of recognition of such groups.

Complete plans for a proposed fall term rush week will be presented to the Inter-Fraternity Council Thursday for approval before presentation to the administration.

Stressing the importance of cooperating with the University, the council felt that there were several

'Sing' Tickets on Sale

Students should get tickets to the All-Campus Sing for themselves and their parents today, Sing co-chairman Jean Mauro has urged. Tickets, priced at 90 cents, are on sale at the Student Union main desk and the co-op.

Sixteen houses will participate in the Sing slated at 8 p.m. in McArthur court.

ways in which fall term rushing would help both the University as a whole and the houses. Working with this as a base, the special committee will present the sample plan at next week's meeting.

Ray Hawk, director of men's affairs, told the group that starting next fall, returning veterans to the University will be allowed to pledge and live in fraternities fall term, regardless of their class hours.

A report was also given on plans for the Western Regional Inter-Fraternity Council meeting which Oregon will co-host with Oregon State College Inter-Fraternity council next October. The conference will be held at OSC Oct. 23 and 24.

Saturday's Parade To Form at 3:30

Floats will assembly at the 4th and Willamette starting point at 3:30 p.m. Saturday for the Junior Weekend float parade, Sally Haseltine, float parade chairman, has announced. Positions will be determined by order of arrival.

The parade will start up Willamette to 13th, east on 13th to University, up University to McArthur court with departure time scheduled at 4 p.m. Motorcycles, the queen and her court and the University band will be at the head of the parade.

Mothers' Registration Opens Special Events

Registration from 2 to 5 p.m. today on the second floor of the Student Union will launch the events of the annual Mothers' weekend, according to Barbara Redford, registration chairman. The Mothers will also register from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. Two trophies will be awarded to the living organizations having the largest percentages of mothers registered.

The Mother's Executive board will meet at 12:15 p.m. today in the Student Union to go over plans for the weekend.

At 5:30, the mothers are to attend the living organization dinners with their sons or daughters. At 9 p.m. they will be guests at the Junior Prom in the SU. A special lounge has been reserved for the mothers and numerous events have been planned for their entertainment, reports Marilyn Lundell, hospitality chairman. A special section at the all-campus sing Saturday evening has also been reserved for them.

Weekend Queen Coronation, Other Awards, Set at Prom

Appearance of Jack Fina at the annual Junior Prom tonight marks the third time in two years that a big name band has played for a major campus dance. Other headliners who have played here recently were Dick Jurgens for the 1952 Senior Ball and Skinnay Ennis for the 1952 Homecoming dance. The dance is the first big event of the Holi-Daze, 1953 Junior Weekend.

Tickets for the prom are now on sale at $2.88 per couple (40 cents tax). The tickets can be obtained at the Co-op and men's living organizations until 5 p.m. this afternoon. They will also be sold at the door to the dance tonight.

2 a.m. Closing Set

Women's closing hours have been extended to 2 a.m. for tonight. The late hours were approved by the office of student affairs last week.

Highlight of the Prom intermission will be the crowning of the Junior Weekend Queen by Secretary of State Earl T. Newbry. Members of the court—Joan Marie Miller, Diane Stout, Carol Lee Tate, Cathy Tribe and Joan Walker—will be introduced, and the queen announced.

Other intermission activities will include tapping of the new members for Druids, junior men's honorary, and the awarding of the Gerlinger and Koyl cups.

Wickham to Award Cup

Mrs. Golda Parker Wickham, associate director of student affairs, will present the Gerlinger Cup to the outstanding junior woman on campus. Mrs. George T. Gerlinger, donor of the cup, will be unable to attend. The outstanding junior man on campus will be awarded the Koyl Cup by Charles W. Koyl, class of 1911.

"May Day" is the theme for the dance and this will be carried out with flowers and maypoles decorating the edges of the dance floor. A big maypole will be set in the center with streamers from the smaller ones leading to it.

Traditions Violators Told to Report Today

Fifteen tradition violators were reported to the Emerald Thursday evening by Barney Holland, Junior Weekend traditions chairman. These students are to report to Fenton hall at 12:25 this afternoon.

Tug of War Slated On Millrace Today

"The freshmen will get a taste of sophomore superiority when they get hold of that rope," Bob Summers, sophomore class president, stated about this afternoon's tug-o-war.

The tug-o-war is scheduled for 4 p.m. today behind the Kappa Sigma house.

"After soundly drenching a mass of blubber in last year's tug, this year's overhand grab session shouldn't be much of a strain for our muscle-bound '56ers," Summers added.

Summers said that the report of an imported goon squad was only to make "McCracken's formation of freaks" feel at home on the banks of the Millrace.

'O' May Be Painted Saturday Morning

Oregon's O will be painted Saturday at 9 a.m., according to Barney Holland, Junior Weekend traditions chairman, if the cement is dry in time.

Holland reported Thursday evening that the cement had been poured by Bob Simpson and other members of Delta Upsilon.

Tradition violators who do not show up for punishment will be rounded up by members of the Order of the O members Saturday morning. The violators will be taken to Skinner's Butte to paint the O.

Spry 'Mom' to Come to Campus To Attend All Junior Weekend

An 81 year old mother, Mrs. Albert Gardiner, of Newberg, Ore., will arrive today for a visit with her coed daughter, Mrs. Ernest Watkins, a fifth year education major, and to attend the Junior Weekend festivities.

"She's amazingly spry," says Mrs. Watkins, who is a bona fide student, returning to the Oregon campus after 36 years. As Mary Alice Hill, Mrs. Watkins graduated from Oregon in 1917. She has returned to work on a certificate for substitute teaching.

Mrs. Gardiner will travel by bus because she "feels more independent that way," says Mrs. Watkins. "She's very active," she states.

Mrs. Watkins' mother will probably be the oldest mother of a student on campus this weekend. She will sit at the head table during the breakfast Saturday morning.
