

Freshmen To Meet Advisers Tonight

Adviser-advisee meetings, scheduled for tonight at 7:30, will acquaint freshmen with their faculty adviser and enable them to start planning class schedules. Individual conferences with advisers will also be scheduled at this time.

Assemblies, dorm meetings and testing highlighted the first two days of New Student week, which began with Kwama, Skull & Dagger, and Phi Theta Upsilon honorary members moving freshmen into dorms.

University Religious Council houses offered supper and "get-acquainted" sessions for new student members of various denominations on campus at 5:30 Sunday evening.

Students Welcomed

New students were officially welcomed to the University at the opening assembly in McArthur Court, Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Interim President Victor P. Morris told freshmen of the varied life offered by the University of Oregon. He mentioned study, recreation and friendships as important phases of college life.

"It is the human element which really make the University of Oregon," Morris stated. "It is primarily the teachers, students and those who have left their thoughts in the books in our library which are most important. He told new students of the ideals of the University—quality of work, freedom of thinking and individual responsibility.

Representing the teaching faculty, Roy C. McCall, professor of speech, spoke to students on "The Great Adventure." He called entering college an adventure because students are making an investment in knowledge, and will form new friendships and loyalties. How successful a student is in college life is determined by intelligence, past experiences and the kind of person he is, said McCall. "The more completely you give yourself to the University of Oregon, the more it will be yours," he stated.

Transfers to Meet

Transfer students met in the Student Union at 3:30 Monday afternoon to discuss campus activities. A second meeting will be held this afternoon at 3:30. Third session is scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday.

Dorm meetings, designed to familiarize freshmen and new students with living organization rules and regulations were held Sunday and Monday evenings at 9:30. Others are scheduled for tonight at 9:30.

Activities on the agenda for the rest of the week include the Duckling picnic at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, ASUO assembly at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday evening, Student Union open house 7 to 10:30 p.m. Thursday, and the President's reception from 8:30 to 10 Thursday.

Saturday Dance Set

An informal no-date "Hello Dance" will be held from 9 to 12 p.m. Saturday in the SU ballroom. Campus clothes are in order for the dance.

Sunday, September 20, has been designated as "Go-to-Church" Sunday. Students will have their first chance to attend the church of their choice in Eugene.

YMCA, YWCA, Women's Recreational association, the Oregon and the Emerald have scheduled open houses for next week.

The Associated Women Students' sponsored Dean's tea, originally scheduled for Thursday from 3 to 5 p.m., has been rescheduled for Wednesday at the same time.

Law School Lists Honor Roll Names

Seven men qualified for the spring term school of law honor roll according to an announcement released by the school.

The honor roll is based upon a cumulative grade point average covering all work done in the University. It includes those students who have a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 or higher and who carry a full study program.

In order according to rank, the list includes: William Duhaime, third-year class; James L. Hershner, Malcolm F. Marsh, Malcolm J. Montague and William V. Deatherage, second-year class, and William V. Norval and John R. Gill, first-year class.

Campus Briefs

• Closing hours for women's dormitories this week will be 10:30 p.m. for freshmen and 11 p.m. for upperclassmen. One p.m. deadlines will be observed on Friday and Saturday nights, for all women on campus.

• All new and old members of Alpha Phi Omega, men's service honorary, will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Student Union, according to Jerry Froebe, president.

Janet Wick Elected Phi Theta President

Janet Wick, junior in liberal arts, has been elected president of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's service honorary. Miss Wick fills the vacancy created when former president Shirley Wendt did not return to school.

Lois Powell, junior in architecture, will take over the historian position formerly held by Miss Wick.

Living Groups Move As Fall Term Begins

Returning students may find that freshmen are not the only ones who have difficulty finding the various campus living organizations.

The reorganization of the veteran's dormitories and the relocation of three fraternities have changed the lineup of living organizations this year.

Vet's dorm I, which was composed of Merrick and Stitzer halls last year, will again house freshmen men, but this year it will be divided into four halls, Merrick, Stitzer, French and Nestor. Vet's dorm II, which last year housed French and Nestor halls, is now being used to house upperclass men and has been named Cherney hall.

Phi Gamma Delta fraternity has moved into its new house on 18th street near the First Lutheran Church. The old Fiji house, which is owned by the University, is now being rented by Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. Delta Upsilon fraternity, which is also building a new house on 18th street, is living in Vet's dorm II until the house is ready for occupancy in about two weeks.

John Straub hall, with the exception of Hendricks Annex, or Sherry Ross, again houses upperclass men. Hendricks Annex will house freshman women temporarily. As soon as sufficient vacancies occur in Hendricks and Carson halls, probably during winter term, the women will be moved into those two halls.

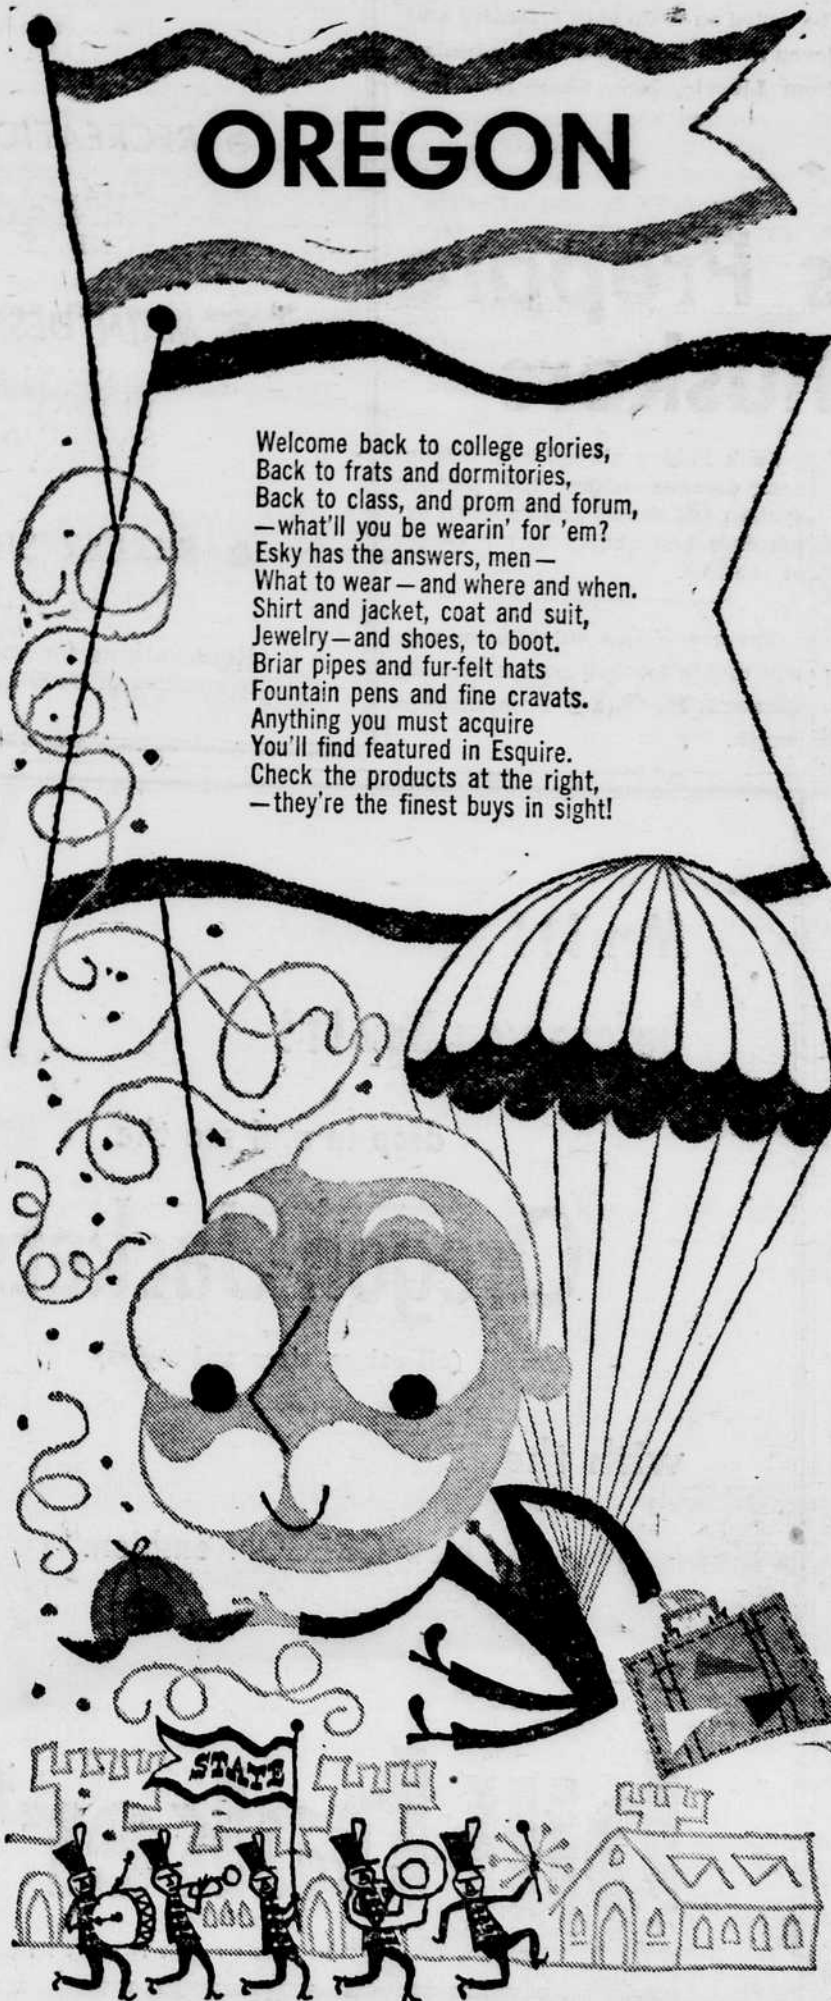

Susan Campbell hall, which last year housed mostly upperclass men, is now being used for freshman men.
