Ed School Moves Into Uni High

In the future, students and professors in the education school will not have to brave the elements of Oregon weather going to different classes in the department.

Beginning winter term, the entire school will be incorporated in the old University high school building and the education school building, according to I. I. Wright, physical department superintendent.

Remodeling of the education building into office space was completed early in September and work on the former high school building began immediately. When completed, the remodeled building will house four classrooms, four offices and the same number of laboratories and clinics.

Fenton Remodeled; Offices Moved

Among the latest physical improvements on the campus is the remodeling of Fenton hall.

Last winter when the offices of the dean of liberal arts and his associates were moved to Johnson hall, Pres. H. K. Newburn allotted funds to turn the empty offices into a modern library and reading room for the law students.

Now, with the project completed, 64 students can be accommodated at one time in the reading room. The walls have been fitted with book shelves containing many of the law text books, which had formerly been stored in a small fireproof room in the building. A new librarian's office also has been added.

SU Art Gallery Exhibits Prints

An art exhibit featuring prints by Charles Heaney is scheduled for the SU art gallery from Oct. 4 through Oct. 24, according to Barbara Johnson, gallery chairman.

Included in this showing will be aquatint etchings, linoleum cuts and woodcuts by the Wisconsin-born artist. Media of this versatile painter include oil, tempera, encaustic, plaster, woodcuts and etchings.

Heaney, whose vocation at present is jewelry engraving, has shown his works at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the Library of Congress, Chicago Art Institute, San Francisco Museum of Art and at many other exhibitions.

CAMPUS BRIEFS

● Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, will meet at 4 p.m. Friday in the Student Union. The meeting will be a very important one as plans for the Oregon-UCLA football game will be discussed, President Janet Wick has announced.

● Twelve students were in the infirmary Wednesday. Those being treated were: Carolyn Lemley, Margot Casanova, Donna Maulkin, Clara McClelland, Edna Susan Erudige, Marva Hair, Judy Burdett, John Frey, Robert Fick, James Lee Harvey, Ronald Carneross and Robert McMath.

● Students interested in mountain-climbing and skiing are asked to attend a meeting today at 4 p.m. in the SU, according to Tom Taylor. Plans for a climbing trip Oct. 10 will be discussed, and everyone is invited to attend.

● Freshmen and sophomore women wishing to serve as committee members of the YWCA-sponsored Kiddie Carnival, to be held the last of October, should obtain petitions now, according to Joanne Gerber and Ann Erickson, general co-chairmen. Regular ASUO petitions may be obtained at the Student Union. They should be turned in to the YWCA office at Gerlinger by 5 p.m. Tuesday, Miss Gerber said.

President's Reception For Faculty Tonight

Acting President and Mrs. Victor Morris will be honored at a reception to be held tonight in the Student Union.

The affair will be formal, and faculty members, and all members of the University staff as well as wives and husband of members, are invited to attend.
