

Buildings, Professors' Salaries Not Only Use

Formed only last year, the coffee hour forum committee has undertaken the sponsorship of informal question and answer periods after the Tuesday assemblies. The committee utilizes assembly speakers when possible. Last year, the group entertained the Republican and Democratic committeemen from Oregon before a coffee hour forum. Candidates for the ASUO presidency were queried by students at a forum during spring term.

Lectures Scheduled

A record lending library was added last year to the SU recorded music committee. Five lecture-concerts are scheduled by the group for the year. Formerly under the direction of the committee is the music listening room, which provides a quiet spot for classical music-lovers. The SU board still staffs the room.

Fridays at 4, held in the SU fishbowl nearly every week, are sponsored by the music committee, which also helps sponsor concerts.

Three movie series are included in the movie program handled by the SU movie committee. Most familiar to students are the Sunday feature movies, of which 24 are scheduled this year. During fall term, the committee will show football movies of the Oregon Ducks' away-from-home games.

The educational movie series is a carry-over from pre-SU board days. Held weekly on Wednesday nights in Commonwealth hall, the films are free to university students.

Dances Popular

Dances form a popular part of the SU program. The dance committee has charge of the Hello dance, the Duck Preview dance and the Lemon-Orange Squeeze. The latter two dances pay for themselves. In addition to these three dances, the committee has scheduled six Friday night mixer dances.

A public service is performed by the public relations committee members, who serve at coffee hours, usher at assemblies and conduct tours of the Student Union. The group also publishes the SU board's chatter sheet.

A Creative Art workshop is another one of the Special Events sponsored by the SU program. A display and judging is held during spring term for literature, handicraft, music, dance and ceramics submitted by students.

Sports have their place in the activity program with SU-sponsored tournaments in billiards, bridge and ping pong. Two other committee, publicity and personnel, have charge of staff organization and promotion.

Attractions Planned

The board also plans to bring two special attractions to the campus this year. They are the Budapest Quartet, which will be presented in co-sponsorship with the Failing Distinguished Lecture series, and the Mount Angel Choir.

Although the SU board receives an annual appropriation of only $3,000, it has budgeted expenses of $4,481 for this year. The difference is covered by the revenue-yielding dances and movies.

Last year the SU board had a $500 surplus at the end of the year. This money reverted back to the Student Union and educational activities fund.

Appropriations are made to the Pub board and the SU board on the basis of need and not by percentage, according to SU Director R. C. Williams. The amount in the activities fund varies from year to year, depending on the size of university enrollment.

NAACP to Feature Talk by FEPC Man

Mark Smith, deputy commissioner of the state Fair Employment Practices commission, will be the featured speaker Monday evening at the first meeting of the year of the campus chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

Smith's topic will be "The Challenge of Opportunity on Merit—Not Race, Religion, or Nationality." He will also conduct a brief workshop on the subject.

A film, "The Challenge," will be shown prior to the discussion, according to Bob Holloway, president of the NAACP. All students and faculty members are invited to the meeting, Holloway said.
