

Architecture Adds Bristoe To Staff

John Bristoe, practicing architect from Portsmouth, Arkansas, has been added to the staff of the school of architecture, succeeding Eugene Treadaway. Bristoe, graduate of Oklahoma A & M, will instruct courses in theory of structures, surveying, and mechanical equipment of buildings.

Returning to the art staff following sabbatical leaves last year are Wallace C. Baldinger, associate professor of art history, and Mark R. Sponenburgh, assistant professor of art. Baldinger spent his leave of absence in Japan. Sponenburgh was in Egypt on a Fulbright scholarship.

New Detour Signs To Be Installed

Motorists approaching the closed campus area during class breaks will soon be detoured by new sets of traffic signals, according to Irwin Wright, University physical plant superintendent. The new lights are to be set up for better control of traffic movements during peak times.

The old "Do Not Enter" signs along 13th ave., at University and Kincaid streets will be replaced by lights halting entry of traffic to the class area and signals detouring the automobiles.

The closed area is to be extended one block on the East side of the campus to 13th and Onyx streets, the physical department head said.

Both transfer students and old students may attend. However, all women who have transferred to Oregon this year are urged to attend in order to get acquainted with other new students, according to Ann Blackwell, chairman.

Wright's Article Chosen As One of Top Ten

Named as one of the ten outstanding magazine articles on the September list compiled by the Council of Librarians is an article by Gordon Wright, head of the history department.

Wright's article, "A New Look at an Old Ally," appeared in the summer issue of the Virginia Quarterly Review. The article presented an analysis of the present Situation in France.

The Professor Who Couldn't Say "No"

OR . . . What to do when you can't afford to flunk

Once there was a Professor who was reluctant to flunk the Team's Top Muscle-Man . . . a fullback named Printwhistle, of impressive Physical Proportions but intellectually a Lump. The Professor sought a Loophole. "Printwhistle," he said, "I am no pedant who believes that the sole purpose of education is to cram the Mind with Facts. Rather is its aim to broaden the Mind and make it more Productive. If you can come to me within 24 hours with one—just one—original and worthwhile Idea, I shall not flunk you."

The dejected Printwhistle explained his Dilemma to his roommate. "Relax," said the latter. "Simplest thing in the world" . . . and he expounded a Stratagem.

Next morning the evidence was in. Telegrams . . . hundreds of 'em . . . on the Professor's desk, from practically everybody on the Campus. All bearing the same message: "Printwhistle must not flunk. Old Blackstrap needs him. This Approach is his Idea."

Did it work? Well, there's a certain All-American named Printwhistle whose voice shakes with grateful Emotion when anyone mentions Western Union in his Presence.

When you want to Swing a Deal . . . Telegrams work wonders. They're grade-A Date Bait, great for coaxing cash from home, practical for arranging anything from a Weekend to a Job Interview. When you want to get inside the Opponent's ten-yard line . . . let Western Union carry the ball.
