Oregon Ducks ...

VOL. LV.

. still lead the Pacific Coast Conference in passing defense after five games. Shaw, James and Albright are among the top offensive leaders. Complete statistics on Sport page three.

Fifty-fifth year of Publication

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1953

Clear Skies ...

. . are predicted along with warmer weather for today and Thursday. Morning fog is forecast by the weather bureau, with the temperature expected to reach a high of 65 today and near 70 on Thursday. Low tonight, 40.

No. 27

Open World Seen As Way To Peace

by Joe Gardner Emerald News Editor

"We don't want a Pax Americana today, we want only to be one among others in an open world," Max Lerner told an audience of students and faculty at the year's second University as-sembly Tuesday afternoon in the Student Union ballroom.

Lerner, a columnist for the New York Post and professor of American civilization at Brandeis university in Waltham, Mass., pointed out that America's greatness lies only partly in her material wealth, technical progress and military might. "We should stress that, in the struggle to build a civilization, America has remained an open

"An open society," said the columnist, "involves an open mind and freedom of choice." Extending this principle to the world is seen by Lerner as our greatest weapon in the struggle with the Kremlin.

The speaker outlined his ap-

World Not Silent Says 'Post' Writer

The present generation is not a "silent generation," but is made up of individuals who have convictions and are beginning to express them, Max Lerner told reporters at a press conference Tuesday.

Speaking informally in his hotel room, Lerner added that he preferred to lecture to college students because, "their minds are not yet rigid." "Even my thoughts are in a process of change always,' the journalist commented. After eight years of research, he has finished his new book, "America as a Civilization," which will be published this month. "And I was constantly changing it as my views changed," he said.

"My book attempts to be like 'a whole series of searchlights' upon the American scene, combining the study of the social sciences into a study of American civilization," he said.

Band Tickets

Reserved seat tickets are now on sale for the United States Navy band concert Thursday at 8 p.m. in McArthur court. This is the first West Coast tour of the band since 1950 and the first time the band has appeared in Eugene.

Tickets may be purchased at the Eugene Music company, Wilson Music company, Graves Music and McArthur court. Reserve seats are $1.80. General admission tickets will be $1.20.

The band features selections ranging from Tschaikowsky to Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Described by publicity releases as the "Navy's finest," the men in the band are selected on the basis of character, intelligence, and education, as well as their musicianship.

Their conductor, Lieutenant Commander Charles Brendler, conducts his concerts entirely from memory. He sees that the band's programs cover the tastes of both student and music master, trying nalism and letters to receive the to give all groups the finest in musical interpretation.

proach to peace in four essential steps: 1) the United States should declare itself ready to fight if there is no other way for world unity; 2) we should also be ready to negotiate and test the sincerity of the Kremlin when it speaks of negotiation; 3) we should let it be known that we feel world problems can be solved by negotiation, and 4) we should be anxious not to impose our will on the world, but rather to strive for this open world patterned after our open society.

Quoting liberally from American and British thinkers and writers, the short, dark New Yorker pictured for the audience his concept of America's position in the world today. Pulling no punches, the columnist attacked the foreign policy of the present administration in crisp, staccato phrases.

Leadership Lost

"Secretary of States Dulles has repeatedly pushed away the proposals of our Allies to negotiate with Russia," said Lerner, "The age of the H-bomb has gone far enough, we must now enter the age of negotiation," he stressed.

Lerner feels that the leadership of the "Grand Alliance" of World War II has definitely passed from the U. S. to Britain. He charactized Churchill as the outstanding statesman in the western world, citing him as a man "with enough flexibility of mind to understand that the time has come to prevent the H-bomb from being used."
President Eisenhower, declared
Lerner, has not demonstrated such leadership.

Policy Criticized

Other areas of American foreign policy criticized by Lerner are the emphasis on German industrial might in Europe and the failure to recognize India's leader-

(Please turn to page four)

Levis, Prints Cricket For Soph Whiskerino

THE BILL DESOUZA ORCHESTRA Music for the "Stubble Stomp"

Logger costumes of levis and Vicki Stuart. The band has play-Whiskerino Saturday night, reports Garry McMurry, publicity Salem. chairman.

Tickets for the dance are now on sale at the Co-op and the Student Union, as well as at the men's living organizations, at $1.80 per couple, Don Bonime, ticket chairman, has announced. They will also be on sale at the door Saturday evening. No tickets will be sold Friday.

Music for the dance will be furnished by the 10-piece band of Bill DeSouza, featuring Vocalist bright shirts for the men and cot- ed at Willamette university and ton dresses for the women will Oregon State college dances and be worn at the annual Sophomore for three years was featured at the Crystal Gardens ballroom in

Winner Shaved

Intermission entertainment scheduled by Chairman Lucia Knepper will spotlight Don Finlay, freshman in speech, a comic magician. The winner of the beardgrowing contest will be selected at the same time.

Judges in the beard-growing contest include Mr. and Mrs. Si Ellingson, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bartell, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Wickham, Dick Gray and Phyllis Pearson, co-chairmen of the contest. The winner and the runner-up will be awarded permanent trophies by the University Jewelers. The third liott will shave the winner on stage during the intermission.

Finalist Listed

Students attending the dance will cast their votes for Joe College and Betty Co-ed as they enter, Bob McCracken and Marilyn man, and Mrs. Wilma Morrison tion contest, said Tuesday. The men are to vote for Betty Co-ed Parrish, co-chairmen of the selecand the women are to vote for Joe College. The winners will be announced as soon as votes are

SU Board Agenda

The Student Union board will meet at 4 p.m. today in the SU, according to Andy Berwick, board chairman. The following items are on the agenda:

· Selection of Browsing room committee chairman. Explanation of operation of Embossograph machine.

• Public Relations committee plans for fall term, Sonia

Edwards. • Treasurers report, Bob Koutek.

 Directorate chairman's report on the 10 committees of the SU board. Investigating committee report on Creative Arts Workshop committee. Board membership petitioning committee report.

Brubeck concert ticket sale report.

Finalists are: Phyllis Pearson, Alpha Chi Omega; Barbara Bailey, Alpha Phi; Jill Hutchings, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Paula Curry, Nestor hall; Beverly Jones, Pi Beta Phi, and Loretta Mason, Sigma Kappa. Phil Lynch, Alpha Tau Omega; John Shaffer, Beta Theta Pi; Andy Nasburg, Sigma Chi; Don Hazelett, Phi Gamma Delta; Don Bonime, Sigma Alpha Mu, and Max Anderson, Carson 5.

Beard growing violators were checked by freshmen women Monday night, reports Miss Pearson. Violators listed include: Ron Brown, Bob Wagner, Leon Hammerquist, Tom Caulis, Dick Beckman, Dick Lillibo, Bob Wallberg, Kent Darwin, Bob Bond, Maurice Bell, Bill Hettick, Max Pierce, Dick Wright, Al Evans, John Hall, Robert Duffy, Al Andrews, Richplace winner will receive a toilet ard Proctor and Don Lewis. The kit from Claypool's. Charlie El- men are scheduled to be dunked in Fenton poll by the men Skull and Dagger.

Cast Selected For 'Show Biz

The cast of this year's exchange assembly has been selected and rehearsals will begin soon in preparation for winter term traveling, announced Gloria Lee, co-director. "Show Business-U. of O." is the name of this year's traveling talent show; the hour program will portray the various aspects of show business—night clubs, TV, movies and theater, she said.

Members of the cast include: Don Finlay, Allison Le Roux, John Jensen, Phil Lewis, Joan Klinger, Mark Tapscott, Nancy Randolph, Donna Maulding, Scott Lehner, Ann Moyes, Mary Dee Fulp, Verla Thompson, Janet Miller, Jean Boyden, Ann Erickson, Jim Jones and Barbara Johnson.

The following have been appointed to staff positions: Sue French, business manager; Joan Edstrom, secretary; Pat McCann, advance publicity; Dick Lewis, publicity; Paul Maier, stage manager; Carl Wieness, lighting and special effects; Marv Young, music; Art Ekerson and Ed Hoppe, stage crew. The exchange assembly staff will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Student Union.

Judy McLoughlin

JUDY McLOUGHLIN Woman of Achievement

Judy McLoughlin, senior in English, was selected by Theta Sigma Phi as the University "Woman of Achievement" at their annual Matrix Table banquet Monday night.

Miss 'McLoughlin was one of four women in the fields of jourawards at the event. Mrs. Vera the first to know that her second Todd Crowe received the award book would be "Book Number 2."

for the outstanding Eugene woman, and the two awards to women in Oregon newspaper work went to Mrs. Mary Conn Brown, copublisher of the Redmond Spokes-

Ruth McLean, graduate in journalism, was pledged by Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, at the banquet.

Sister Mary Gilbert, author of the book "Springs of Silence," told "The Story Behind The Springs of Silence," as the evening's principal speaker.

She emphasized that "it was much easier to write a book than to recall how it was written," and that the problems faced during the writing all fade into the background when the author is confronted with post-publication prob-

The author illustrated the talk by relating a series of incidents occurring in the convent, including a commentary on the interest shown in her book by the other sisters. She commented that "the nearer a book comes to the subject of convent life, the more difficult it is to please the nuns."

She also admitted that she was working on another book, and told her listeners that they would be