

Kerr to Illustrate Talk With Slide Collection

A series of "William Allen White" slides will be presented Thursday at 4 p.m. in the Student Union browsing room by Willis Kerr, librarian emeritus of Claremont college, Calif., and longtime friend of White. The illustrated lecture is part of the regular Wednesday evening series, but held at this new time.

Kerr will present 70 slides made from inscriptions and autographs on different copies of White's books. Revealed in these inscriptions is the generosity that was White and also his whimsical characteristic of William Allen traits.

Some of the slides are portraits of White while he was at his work.

Mistaken Identity Featured in Play

A series of hilarious mistaken identities is featured in the University theater's first production, "See How They Run." Under the direction of Horace W. Robinson, Phillip King's British farce will open on the main stage Friday.

Tickets for the production are now on sale in the theater box office from 1 to 5 daily. Tickets for Saturday night are sold out, Mrs. Gene Wiley, theater business manager said, but good seats are available for almost all other performances. Tickets may be reserved at the box office or by calling campus extension 401.

Loretta Mason, sophomore in speech, will make her UT debut as Penelope, wife of the vicar. Wade Eaton is cast as her husband, and Harry Smith, returning to the University after 2½ years in the service, is cast as the GI friend, Clive. Joella Wood adds a fourth to her list of UT productions with her role of Ida, the comical maid.

Others are letters and other correspondence "that White sent us from London," said Kerr.

Most of the material shown in the slides was procured from different book collectors after the writer's death and was organized by Kerr. However, the collection was started when both the White's and the Kerr's lived in Emporia, Kan., and were connected with Kansas State Teacher's college.

In presenting the slides, Kerr is brought closer to his first love—that of books and libraries. He said that "since 1911 he has worked on nothing but books and libraries—and people."

Kerr has had a large part in developing the college libraries of Bellevue college (Nebraska), Westminster college (Missouri), and Claremont graduate school. He also started the Scripps college library in 1927, and has had advisory relation with it for 24 years.

Snowball Parade Scheduled Tonight

A snowball rally has been scheduled by the Rally Board for tonight, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in front of Carson hall, according to Al Goldenberg, rally board chairman.

Students in the vicinity of Carson will proceed up University street to 19th. Living organizations in the hilltop area are to meet at the Delta Tau Delta house and will join the rally at University and 19th.

The group will move down Alder to 13th. Living organizations from the millrace vicinity, scheduled to meet at the Sigma Chi house, will join the rally here.

The snowball will proceed to the front of the Student Union for a rally lead by the rally squad and song leaders.

Frosh Election Petitions Due

Petitions for freshman class officers are due in the ASUO president's office, Student Union 304, Tuesday, reports Tom Wrightson, ASUO president. Students may petition either for the office of president or for representative.

A president, vice president, and two representatives will be elected Nov. 4. The elections have been non-partisan in the past, but final decision as to whether or not they will be this year will be made by the political parties.

Candidates for office must have either a stanine or an Ohio psychological decile of 4 to be eligible. They will be given a chance to present their views at a nominating assembly which will be held Oct. 29.

A $15 per candidate limit has been put on campaign expenditures for the elections. Four polling booths, supervised by the members of Kwama and Skull and Dagger, will be set up for the elections at the SU, the Co-op, Straub hall and Carson hall.

Petitions Sought For SU Board Vacancies

Petition deadline for the 1953-54 Student Union board is Wednesday at noon, according to Andy Berwick, board chairman.

Five representatives are needed for the board: one each for the schools of education, liberal arts, art, physical education and the graduate school.

All petitioners are required to be juniors in their respective schools, with the exception of the graduate member and the representative of the education school, who must be a senior.

Selection of members will begin next Thursday by the joint

LAWYER COMPLAINS

Student Court Legality Asked

The student traffic court was charged Wednesday with being "unlawfully constituted and incompetent," with "violating provisions of the Oregon constitution" in attempting to enforce certain regulations; and "with violating the 14th amendment of the United States constitution."

J. Kelly Farris, law school senior, questioned the right of the court to fine him for a parking ticket. His argument against the legality of the court to take his money was supported by an extensive brief which included references to the state and national constitutions, the University of Oregon Bulletin, and various test cases. He stressed the fact that no place in the bulletin was any mention made of the court's right to deduct traffic fines from the breakage fee.

The court attempted to reach some decision on the level of informal discussion. However, Farris chose to keep the meeting on a legal level, and moved the case be dismissed on his stated grounds. The court admitted that it did not have the legal ability to meet Farris's arguments. However it decided that it must test the case or cease to function. The five members of the court voted unanimously to refuse dismissal of the case.

Farris then demanded that the court produce proof for its charge, and that it grant him an immediate trial by jury. The court having no machinery for providing a jury trial acted on past precedent and unanimously voted to assess the $2.00 fine. Farris's case will now come before the student affairs committee.

Carl Weber, chairman of the court, later stated "in taking that stand I have no idea how legal it is, but by assessing the fine we will probably find out the legality of the case."

After the court decision Farris stated that he would take no further action until he learned of an attempt to take his money. When that happened he said he would "probably consider seeking an injunction against those responsible."

Sophomore Personality Candidates Interviewed

Betty and Joe

Jill Hutchings

Sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma in the contest, blonde-haired little Jill Hutchings lists as one of her major activities being on the Student Union public relations committee.

The busy Kwama is a member of the YWCA sophomore cabinet, for which she is co-chairman for membership. She is co-chairman of programs for the Whiskerino.

Don Hazelett

Don Hazelett, dark-haired member of Phi Gamma Delta, his sponsors, is a member of the Student Union dance committee.

A member of Skull and Dagger, Hazelett has been painting signs for the "Stubble Stomp." Last year he worked on the Homecoming bonfire and sign, and ran for freshman class president.

Loretta Mason

A speech major who has been active in every aspect of speech and drama here on campus is Loretta Mason, Sigma Kappa's candidate for Betty Co-ed.

She is a two-year member of the symposium and debate squad, and this year her principal activity is playing the leading role of Penelope in the University theater production of "See How They Run."

John Shaffer

Another Skull and Dagger member, sponsored by Beta Theta Pi, is John Shaffer. A business major, Shaffer is personnel chairman of the Student Union this year.

His main duty in this connection is interviewing all new personnel for the SU committees.

Last year Shaffer ran for freshman class president.

Phyllis Pearson

Alpha Chi Omega's candidate for Betty Co-ed is Phyllis Pearson, dark-haired Kwama who is SU dance chairman this year. She is an education major, and is co-chairman of the beard contest for the Whiskerino.

She is chairman for the RE week Sunday night dinner, and a member of the YWCA sophomore cabinet. Also a member of the University Ski Quacks, Miss Pearson is assistant chairman of the Homecoming dance.

Don Bonime

Don Bonime, Sigma Alpha Mu's candidate for Joe College, was the only candidate who started to grow a beard for the Whiskerino! He had to shave it off for the picture to be taken, though.

Secretary of Skull and Dagger, Bonime is a member of the SU personnel committee, the tennis team, promotion for the Homecoming dance working with Oregon State representatives and is chairman of ticket sales for the Whiskerino.

No Senate Meeting

There will be no meeting of the ASUO senate tonight, according to Pres. Tom Wrightson. The next regular meeting of the campus legislative body will be a week from today, Wrightson said.

Slips for Donor Appointments Due

White slips for blood donor appointments are due today to either Janet Gustafson at Kappa Kappa Gamma or Lynn Perkins at Gamma Phi Beta. The blood drive starts Monday.

Blood may be given by students Monday and Tuesday without making appointments, Miss Parker said, but appointments in advance are strongly preferred.
