

Senate Names Alan Oppliger

The senate Thursday night discussed several important campus issues and appointed persons to several positions during its regular meeting last two and a half hours. Business accomplished included:

1. Selection of Alan Oppliger as a senior representative following interviews of him, Bob Enright, Al Goldenberg, Ann Dielschneider, Jean Mauro and Richard Crisero.
2. Approved a report that the Oregon "O" site be moved 50 feet to the right of the old "O" and a new one constructed of wood and sheet metal.
3. Appointed a committee consisting of Ward Cook, chairman, Jim Duncan and Bob Summers to look into infirmary setups at other schools with the possible aim of improving Oregon's infirmary scope.
4. Passed a motion at the suggestion of Ben Schmidt expressing disapproval of wholesale saving of seats at home games and threats by seat savers to forcefully eject others from sitting in those sections.

5. Appointed Gordon Rice as honor code committee chairman, and P. S. Wengert and C. Ward Macy of the faculty, Milan Foster and Ted Rubenstein as members of the constitution committee.

6. Discussed the coming Oregon Federation of College Leaders, the Millrace and the rally board and rally squad.

Hollis Ransom, chairman of the "O" committee, stated that city officials forbid the rebuilding of a cement "O" because of the danger if it were blown up as in the past. Arrangements for obtaining the materials, estimated to cost $35 will be made but completion of the project is to be turned over to the freshmen following election of their class officers.

A meeting of interested senators and city officials to discuss the Millrace is scheduled for next Thursday night.

Tickets for Concert Continue on Sale

Tickets for the Dave Brubeck concert in the Student Union ballroom Nov. 4 are still on sale in the SU at the main desk, according to SU officials. Cost of the tickets for the all-jazz concert is 85 cents, Donna Shafer, treasurer, said Thursday.

Featured in Brubeck's band are Paul Desmond, alto sax player who was named the "best newcomer to jazz" by Downbeat magazine and Charlie Parker, who is one of the instigators of bop. The entire band has been on tour of the major clubs and night spots of the country.

Brubeck's appearance is in conjunction with the week of events commemorating the third birthday of the Student Union building and the fourth year of the SU board.

First in the series of events is a program of entertainment in the fishbowl at 4 p.m. Tuesday, according to Sonia Edwards, SU public relations chairman. Dick Baranovich is in charge of the program, with Jean Sandine in charge of entertainment.

Wednesday's featured program will be the Brubeck concert, and the Friday at 4 will be the birthday party celebration. There will be a cake-cutting ceremony, according to Miss Edwards, and Andy Berwick, SU board chairman and others will speak at the ceremony.

The SU hospitality girls will pass out free cake and there will be free coffee for all those attending. Friday night is a dance in the ballroom with students admitted free.

Songs by Sigma Chi Inform 5 Finalists

Members of Sigma Chi informed their five Sweetheart contest finalists of their selection by a serenade Thursday night. The following were serenaded: Connie Long, Alpha Chi Omega; Carol Aiken, Delta Gamma; Donna Aris, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Marcia Cook, Pi Beta Phi; and Sally Greig, Carson 4.

As Sweetheart contestants these women are taking part in a tradition that dates back to 1911 at Albion college. The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi contest was introduced on the University of Oregon campus in 1939 and has been an annual affair ever since.

Today 124 chapters in the United States and Canada sponsor local contests. Every two years the local chapters submit the name of one of their two most recent Sweethearts to compete in a contest to select the International Sweetheart of Sigma Chi.

The deadline for submission of the names of candidates for Homecoming queen is 5 p.m. today, according to Marcia Tamesie and Ann Blackwell, co-chairmen of the selection contest. The names may be turned in at Kappa Alpha Theta.

The selection of the queen will be based upon appearance, poise, personality, campus interest and enthusiasm. The name of the queen will not be announced until the variety show Nov. 20.

The panel of judges has been divided into two groups. The following will judge on Nov. 2 and 5: Mayor Edwin Harmen; Tom Wrightson, ASUO president; Mrs. Clyde Blackwell, vice-president of Oregon Mothers; J. Spencer Carlson, director of admissions; and Miss Virginia Kempston, counselor for women.

Those judging on Nov. 4 and 9 are: Bill Carey, past ASUO president; Ray Hawk, associate director of student affairs; Jim Duncan, president of the sophomore class; Victor P. Morris, acting president of the University; Mrs. Bill Russell and Mrs. William Gamble of Eugene.

3 Professors Awarded Psych Project Grants

Three research grants have been awarded personnel of the psychology department, from the University's general research fund. These grants will make it possible for members of this department to continue research projects started last year.

Among those receiving these grants are: R. A. Littman, assistant professor of psychology; John Pierce-Jones, instructor in education and psychology and S. R. Pinneau, assistant professor of psychology.

Littman and Pierce-Jones will work together on a study of child rearing practices in Caucasian communities. This experiment is designed to test methods of observation and to lay the ground work for four or five years of research on this project.

Next year Littman and Pierce-Jones expect to be ready to work with Theodore Sterns, assistant professor of anthropology, in determining the possibilities of using these methods upon members of Indian communities.

Pinneau will develop studies started last year with a psychology graduate student, Alexander Milton.

UO-USC Tilt To End Season

The season's final Portland game will be held with the University of Southern California at Multnomah stadium at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Students will be admitted at the southeast gate of the stadium by their athletic cards.

Reserved seat tickets for the game will cost $2, $3 and $4. General admission tickets for the game will go on sale Saturday morning.

The traditional rooster hats for freshmen men and green ribbons for freshmen women are to be worn, according to Al Goldenberg, rally board chairman.

Free pompoms will be distributed by members of Kwama at Charles F. Berg's before game time. Kwama and Skull and Dagger will decorate the goal posts Saturday morning. A special section will be reserved in the student section for the members of Order of O and campus honoraries.

The dress for the game will be suits and heels for the women. Slacks will be in order for the men.

Saturday's game will be the eighteenth game in the USC-Oregon series which started in 1915. Oregon has won three, tied one, and lost thirteen to USC.

The Sig Ep "Swamp Girl" will be announced at the "Swamp Stomp" Nov. 7.

THEMES WANTED

Homecoming Dedicated to Hayward

by Frances Love
Emerald Reporter

People affectionately called William L. (Bill) Hayward, "Dean of the American Track Coaches." His death in 1947 marked the end of 44 years service to the University of Oregon athletic department. To the members of this department, the University and the outside world, "Bill" was more than a coach, he was counselor, friend, teacher and the legend.

He came to Eugene in 1904. During his career here, he coached approximately 1,000 athletes. The boys with "no ability" he made into outstanding athletes; the boys with natural ability, he made into Olympic champions.

Hayward himself was no stranger to the Olympics for he was selected six times to the staff of the American teams. Appearing on the Olympic staffs of the games held in London in 1908; Stockholm in 1912; Antwerp in 1920; Paris in 1924; Amsterdam in 1928 and Los Angeles in 1932.

Injuries meant little to him. If

Theme Deadline

Final deadline for submission of theme suggestions for Homecoming is noon Saturday, according to Geri Porritt and Barbara Wilcox, co-chairmen. Suggestions may be placed in boxes in the Student Union or the Co-op, they said.

Homecoming, to be held Nov. 20 and 21, is being dedicated this year to Bill Hayward, Oregon track coach, for whom Hayward field is named, announced Homecoming co-chairmen Dorothy Kopp and Bob Pollack. Suggestions for the theme may include references to Hayward, Miss Porritt said. However, other suggestions are also sought, she added.

Recent Homecoming themes have been: 1945, "Ducks Revive in '45"; 1947, "Return, Recall, Recapture"; 1950, "New Union and Re-Union," and 1952, "Sing the Story, Oregon."

one of his athletes turned up with a sprained ankle or pulled muscle, Hayward would simply glance at it and say "cut it off." Then he would get out the shears and begin fixing a device out of various odds and ends, to make it possible for the injured player to compete without further injury or pain. An example of this technique appears in the case of an Oregon football player many years ago.

He was playing with a bad case of water on the knee. Hayward diagnosed the case, then with his usual shortness in such matters, took a short section of an old bicycle inner tube and vulcanized the ends together into a small circle.

After inflating this with a bicycle pump he placed it on the player's knee, bandaged this over with a piece of heavy sole leather, then concealed this contraption by the knee bend of the player's football pants and sent him out to play.

These "rubber doughnuts" are now standard equipment available at any sporting goods store.

This legendary figure supposedly was born on July 2, 1868. In his youth he was an outstanding athlete—famous as a track star and as a field performer. He also toured the prize-fighting circuit with Gentleman Jim Corbett and was his sparring partner before Corbett's match with John L. Sullivan.

His age is one of the hazy features of his life. No one seems to know exactly how old he was. Although his official age at death was 79, he was reputed to be 78, in 1922. Other reports say he celebrated his 70th birthday in 1929 and his 79th in 1947.

In his obituary editorial appearing in the Oregonian he was termed "one of the world's greatest coaches, a peerless trainer and a grand sportsman. It will be Bill Hayward as a personality who will be remembered by those who worked out under his keen eye, not the great athlete he was in earlier days, the Olympic coach, and first citizen of Eugene."
