

Webfoots Awaiting Southern Cal Game

Oregon Seeks Upset Victory

By Bob Robinson
Assistant Sports Editor

Oregon's rejuvenated football team ran through their last big practice session, Thursday afternoon, before Saturday's all-important battle with Southern California on Portland's Multnomah Stadium turf.

The Ducks, who only last weekend broke a four game losing streak by downing San Jose State 26-13, will be anxious to continue their winning ways in their fray with the powerful Trojans.

Coach Len Casanova's warriors have never quite hit their stride in Pacific Coast Conference action this year. The Webfoots have dropped four consecutive league games and as a result are firmly entrenched in the conference cellar. Oregon's two victories have been over kings-x opponents.

Last Saturday afternoon on Hayward field the Ducks put together a steady defense and a sparkling offense to chalk up a very impressive win over San Jose State. Whether Casanova's hard-working eleven can continue to click against the stronger USC squad remains to be seen.

For the undefeated Trojans of Jess Hill this game with Oregon is quite important. Southern Cal has gone through the season without a defeat so far and are very much in the thick of the fight for the Pacific Coast Conference championship. The only mar on their record is a 13-13 deadlock with the Washington Huskies. Last week the mighty men of Troy took advantage of the breaks to subdue California's highly respected Bears, 32-20.

If Southern Cal should succumb to Oregon the Trojans' successful record so far would have a tremendous black mark added to it.

On the other hand, should Oregon carve out a big upset over the Californians it would do wonders for the morale and reputation of the Duck eleven. Although the Webfoots have played good football against all their big opponents this year they as of yet have been unable to knock one of them over. This is their golden opportunity.

In anticipation of the rugged encounter his boys are due to have Casanova ran his charges through an extensive offensive and defensive drill Thursday. With the third team running through single wing formations, similar to those employed by the Trojans, the Ducks' first and second squads worked quite some time on the defense. Then the ball changed hands and the first two elevens worked on the offense.

During the entire session the whole team demonstrated a spirited and determined attitude. It was apparent that all of the players had an upset win over Southern Cal on their mind.

From the way the team lined up Thursday it appeared that Casanova planned to stick with the same starting team that he used last weekend against San Jose with one exception. Larry Rose, sophomore fullback, will probably open in the fullback slot against the Trojans.

ATO, Campbell Club, Barrister Inn Record Intramural Triumphs

Alpha Tau Omega, Campbell club, and Barrister Inn all scored impressive victories in "A" Volleyball action Thursday afternoon.

ATO breezed to two quick wins over Phi Kappa Sigma, both by scores of 15-2. Leading the way for the winners was big Max Anderson and Ron Chevrier. Both of these boys spiked home numerous points to help their team's cause.

Led by little Jim Katekura, the Campbell Clubbers had little difficulty in downing the Dorm Counselors in two straight games, 15-2 and 15-8. Katekura's dynamic serve was by far the outstanding feature of the match. Also looking good for the winners was Hank Mishima. For the losers Tom Wrightson and Dick Bruce played well.

Barrister Inn had several shaky moments as they squeaked by Philadelphia House in a very close battle, 7-15, 15-9, and 15-8. Dick McDaniel played brilliantly in leading his team to victory.

In other games Thursday Sigma Chi rolled over Chi Psi, 15-6 and 15-5; Lambda Chi Alpha edged Beta Theta Pi, 15-4 and 15-11; and Pi Kappa Phi downed Tau Kappa Epsilon, 16-14 and 15-9.

Outstanding for Sigma Chi were Gordon Sloan, Ed Halberg, and Doug Ruhlman. Chi Psi fell behind at the start and was never able to match the stellar play of the Sigma Chi's.

In the closest single game of the day Pi Kappa Phi edged out Tau Kappa Epsilon 16-14 in their first encounter. The Pi Kaps also won the second fray by a 15-9 score. Dave Stewart and Pete Tyreman were standouts for the victors while Herb Uamanuka was the spark plug for Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Lambda Chi Alpha won their first game over the Betas with ease but found their opponents a different team in the second match and were pressed all the way before finally winning out by a 15-11 tally.
