

DUCKS DOWN USC 13-7

 5 foot, 9 inch halfback, who last year jumped on the track team and performed acrobatics on the trampoline, vaulted at least four feet off the ground to snag the aerial.

He was upended in the effort, and crashed to the turf on his shoulder. An ordinary defender would have lost the ball, but not James. His "theft" gave Oregon possession with two and a half minutes left in the game, and Shaw used up of this time with just four plays, even though Oregon was penalized once for delaying the game.

Barney Holland, senior quarterback, piloted the Webfoots to both their scores, once in the second, and again in the fourth period.

Not only did he fire his passes with needle-threading accuracy, but he also threw such a variety of plays at Southern Cal, that the Trojans didn't know where the next play was coming from.

Keith Tucker, junior tackle, celebrated his 20th birthday Saturday, and he must have been feeling pretty good. It was he who opened up the hole for Oregon's second touchdown, and who generally made a nuisance of himself in the Trojan attack.

Ron Pheister, center, turned in one of his usually good performances, as did Guards Jack Patera and Ken Sweitzer, Tackle Hal Reeve, and Ends Emery Barnes and John Reed.

In the backfield, little Walt Gaffney was a package of dynamite. He kept the Oregon ground attack moving when the passes failed, and turned in some stellar defensive work. Dean Van Leuven also had a great day on defense.

Oregon's line, which has not allowed more than two touchdowns a game all this season, was pressed hard by the Troy visitors, but held the foes to a net of 144 yards. And USC held second place in the PCC rushing department going into the fray.

Now the Jess Hill coached opponents racked up a gross total of 214 yards on the ground, but the Webfoot forward wall, especially the ends, threw USC runners for losses accounting for 80 yards, more than the Trojans were penalized.

The contest was hard fought, as the list of post-game injuries points out. For Southern Cal, Aramis Dandoy left the game late in the third quarter with a pelvis injury after being crumpled by the Duck stalwarts on a line plunge.

For the Ducks, Farrell Albright was taken out of the ball game early in the first half with a hand injury. Len Berrie had some more trouble with his ribs; Emery Barnes picked up a bruised hip; and Ken Sweitzer injured his leg.

As the game started, it looked like El Tropan was going to have a field day on the Multnomah surf. Led by the busting runs of Addithe four minute rule went into effect and threw six straight passes, three of them completed.

The first was to Gaffney and covered 14 yards. With a third down and ten yards to go on the SC 28, Holland flipped a short pass to Hodges who picked up interference and went down to the 16. On the next try, Barney nailed Shaw with a lofting spiral in the end zone for the score that put the Ducks ahead. Shaw's conversion was good.

Southern Cal retaliated in the third frame with a drive that covered 75 yards in 18 plays, all on the ground. The Troy attack bogged temporarily within the Duck 5, but Dandoy cracked over on fourth down from the 1. Sam Tsagalakis came off the Southern Cal bench to boot the tying tally.

The winning touchdown drive was set up when Des Koch, USC's ace punter, fumbled the pass from center on fourth down and could pick up only three yards running.

Oregon took over on downs, and Mr. Holland came into pitch. On the first try, he fumbled and lost four, but made it up on the next scrimmage attempt with a 15 yard pass to Shaw.

Gaffney carried for 8, and then Holland hit Shaw again to put the ball on the SC 12. Gaffney picked up a first and ten with two line punches, and then went off tackle for the winning tally after a pass fell incomplete.

Penalties hurt Southern Cal in the dying minutes, as the Trojans were pounding for a tying or winning score. A penalty for too many time outs hurt the losers chances midway through the last frame, and a clipping penalty cost the Trojans 18 yards and a first down on the Oregon 25 with 2 minutes left.

Koch, the top punter in the PCC put on a fine kicking exhibition, averaging 43 yards per try. One of his coffin corner kicks zeroed out on the Oregon 3, and another of his quick kicks went 58 yards from scrimmage.

USC Coach Jess Hill commented after the game that his boys made a few mistakes and Oregon didn't make any. He added that there was "just too much Shaw."

The Duck win boosted Oregon up into seventh place in the Coast Conference with a 1-4 mark. The Webfoots picked a mighty tough team to defeat for their first league triumph.

How the stars got started

ANNE JEFFREYS dreamed of being an opera star, studied long and hard. BOB STERLING could have been a pro athlete, but chose the long, hard pull of acting. Both eventually won good parts on stage, radio, TV. They met on a TV show... sang an impromptu duet... became Mr. & Mrs. in real life... and "Mr. and Mrs. Kerby" in TV's brilliant, new "Topper" program!
