

Statistical Chief To Speak Here

Chief of the statistical engineering laboratory of the National Bureau of Standards, Churchill Eisenhart, will speak on campus Tuesday on "The Role of the Statistical Method in Scientific Research." The mathematics department is sponsoring his appearance on campus.

Eisenhart, who has been with the Bureau of Standards since 1946, has been associated with the National Defense Research committee and the Office of Scientific Research and Development. He received the Naval Ordnance Development award in 1946.

Lomax Receives Shipping Award

Alfred L. Lomax, professor of business administration, has been awarded the Pi Sigma Phi award by the Portland Propellor club.

The award certificate was presented to Lomax for his research in the field of shipping, marine transportation, economics and foreign trade. The Propellor club is a national organization of businessmen interested in shipping and merchant marine.

New Scholarship Awarded Johnston

William B. Johnston, fifth year student in architecture, has been awarded the new $1,000 Ina McClung scholarship, which was made available through the sale of timber land presented to the University in 1923.

Johnston, who will continue his research work this year on the early architecture of Southwestern Oregon, was selected for the grant on the basis of his outstanding record in the school of architecture and allied arts.

Because the award was not available early enough in the year to call for applications in the usual manner, the faculty committee considered students already on the campus for the scholarship.

In the future, however, it is planned to use the fund for several scholarships of varying amounts of less than $1,000 to undergraduate students, according to Karl Onthank, chairman of the committee on scholarships and financial aids.

Civil Service Commission to Hold Junior Management Examination

The United States Civil Service commission will again hold its Junior Management Assistant examination, a means of selecting, each year, the most capable young men and women available for training that will enable them to become high-level executives and administrators in the federal government.

Applications for the examination are due at the Civil Service commission in Washington, D.C., by Nov. 12. Students expecting to complete a four-year college course in public or business administration or the social sciences by June 30, 1954, and who are citizens of the United States and physically able to perform the duties of the positions are eligible to file applications.

The written examination is scheduled for Dec. 5, with interviews for those who pass the test to be held in late February. Successful candidates will be assigned work in various federal agencies in Washington, D. C., or throughout the United States.

Homecoming Sign Heads Announced

Ann Gerlinger and Ann Bankhead, co-chairmen of the Homecoming sign contest, have announced sub-committee chairmen for the event.

The committee chairmen are Dean McMullen and Stewart Johnson, men's phoning committee; Judy Kirk, women's phoning; Patty Fagan, awards, and Virginia Johnson and Florence Woodworth, judges.

Honorary Offers Out of Town Rides

Alpha Phi Omega, men's service honorary, has organized a program whereby students who need rides out of town may be matched with those who need passengers.

The plan calls for the interested parties to fill out forms three days before they intend to leave, and a committee will assign the cars.

Forms for this purpose will be available at the Student Union main desk.

Campus Directory Ready Wednesday

The 1953-54 Pigger's Guide will go on sale Wednesday, according to Al Oppliger, business manager for the publication.

The student and faculty directory will be sold at booths in the Co-op and Student Union, beginning at 8 a.m. and lasting until 5 p.m., Oppliger said. The price of the guide will be 50 cents.

After Wednesday the Pigger's Guide will be sold at the Co-op and at the SU main desk.

New Registration Program Released

A new plan of curtailed pre-registration, aimed toward lessening registration-day confusion, calls for adviser-advisee conferences Nov. 30, at 8 p.m.

The new winter term time schedule, with a trial program blank on the back, will be distributed before the meetings. The trial program is to be signed by the adviser after its completion and kept by the student until registration day, Jan. 4. If a student requires more time for planning his study program, he may make an appointment to meet with his adviser within two weeks following the meetings.
