Collins Describes Balloting System

An explanation of the preferential voting system, to be used in the freshman election Wednesday, has been given for freshman by ASUO Vice Pres. Don Collins, in charge of the election.

The most important thing in counting the ballots is to determine the quota or the number of votes a candidate must obtain before being declared elected. This is arrived at by taking the total number of votes cast in the election and dividing by a number one greater than the number of offices to be filled, in this case 5, and add one to the result.

Then the ballots are separated into piles according to the first choice votes. If any pile contains the number of the quota, then this candidate is declared elected as president. If four candidates have over the quota in first place votes, then the winners are the ones with the most votes, in order. Officers will be president, vice president and two representatives.

If no candidate has the quota, then the candidate with the least number of first choice votes is eliminated, and his ballots are distributed to the other piles according to the second choice. The same procedure may be done several times until the stated number of candidates have quotas.

There are 30 candidates on the ballot for the election. Voters will number them in order of preference, 1 to 30 or as far as they wish to number.

No campaigning or electioneering will be allowed near the poll booths. Members of Kwama and Skull and Dagger, sophomore service honoraries, will man the booths, to be open from 8 a.m.

to 6 p.m. Booths will be located at Carson hall, John Straub, the Student Union and the Co-op.

Debate Squad Meets Tonight

An intra-squad debate between Phil Cass and Don Mickelwait on the affirmative and Sue Shreeve and Pat Peterson on the negative will be featured at the debate squad meeting tonight at 7:30 in Villard 205.

The scheduled debate is the first in a series of practice debates designed to prepare the squad for the first two major tournaments of the season late in November, according to Herman Cohen, instructor in speech and director of forensics.

The squad began the tournament season at the Willamette Valley Forensic Institute in Corvallis Saturday. The meeting was a non-decision affair featuring rounds of debate as well as "practical" rounds of other forensic events.

Pat Adkisson, Lis Collins and Dick Bronaugh represented Oregon in the discussion rounds. A team composed of Pat Peterson and Sue Shreeve and a three-member team including Shirley Hutchison, Kent Parsons and Forbes Hill also participated in the meet.

Pix Snapped Today For SAE, Sigm a Nu

Men's living organizations who are scheduled to have Oregon pictures taken today at Kennell-Ellis are Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Nu. Members of the two houses may have picture appointments between 9 a.m. and 5:15 p.m., according to Janet Bell, Oregon living organizations editor.

Theta Chi and Sigma Alpha Mu are scheduled for pictures Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. Dress for the men will be suits, preferably on a dark tone and solid color ties, according to Miss Bell.

● The Hawaiian club will meet tonight at 8 on the third floor of Gerlinger hall, according to Lorna Murakawa, president.

Travelogue Scheduled By Architecture School

A travelogue of Spain on colored slides made by P. J. Powers, assistant professor of romance languages, when he visited that country in 1950 and 1951 will be shown Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Browning room of the Student Unoon. A commentary on the architecture of Spain shown in the slides will be given by M. D. Ross, associate professor of architecture.

Powers lived in Madrid and worked in the national library during this period when he was on leave from the University. The pictures which he took, he said, do not provide a complete picture of Spain but will give those viewing them a very good idea of the "differences in architecture and landscape of the country as compared to ours."

The evening will take one over the Pyrenees mountains through Barcelona to northern Spain and through Old Castile; then on to Madrid, which is a comparatively modern city on a castilian plateau, said Powers. Also shown will be pictures of Sequoia where the newest church is a 16th century cathedral.

The imperial city of Spain, Toledo, which is also the adopted home of El Grecco, was acclaimed by Powers for its magnificence, and several of his pictures are from there. The cathedral of Toledo is the head church of Spain.

Other colorful scenes which will be shown by Powers are those taken at Seville during Holy Week. The religious processions which go on day and night are spectacular sights, commented Powers, as he told about a candle-light setting in the cathedral in Seville. This cathedral is second only to St. Peters in Rome. Only at the Good Friday celebration in Seville, however, was he able to photograph any scenes.

Ronda, which is a city built on rock, highly elevated, will also be shown on the slides. A gorge divides the city, which is considered typical by Powers, of other Spanish cities. He pointed out that the average elevation of Spain is higher than in any other European country.

Cressman Clears Degree Rumors

To stifle recent rumors concerning the various degrees offered by the anthropology department, L. S. Cressman, head of the anthropology department, released the following statement:

"There is a rumor among the students that the department of anthropology, offers only the BA degree. This is incorrect. Both the BA and the BS degrees are offered. However, at the graduate level, only the MA degree is offered. The reason for this limitation at the graduate level is that many of the sources of information are in foreign languages and if the student is going to do preprofessional work it is felt that he should have the tools with which to do it."

Young Demos Feature Lane Central Chairman

Featured speaker at the meeting of the Young Democrats tonight at 6:45 in the Student Union will be Alison Wysong, Jr., newly elected chairman on the Lane County Central committee.

Wysong will discuss the role of the Young Democrats in society. Afterwards, an informal discussion period will be held for all persons interested in discussing politics in general.

The speaker is a local businessman, and has resided in Oregon for eight years.

Homecoming Sign Rules Announced

Rules for the Homecoming sign contest have been announced by Ann Gerlinger and Ann Bankhead, co-chairmen of the committee.

Three persons will judge the signs on adherence to central theme, effort, originality (light, moving parts and music considered) and impressiveness. Men and women's living organizations' signs will be judged in separate classes.

Rules and limitations for the contest are:

1. A price limit of $35 is to be placed on the sign of each organization.
2. The signs must be constructed and finished by 5 p.m. Nov. 20.
3. Judging will take place between 7 and 8 p.m., Nov. 20.
4. A financial statement must be turned in to one of the sign contest co-chairmen by 5 p.m. Nov. 18.
5. A plan of the sign must be turned in by 5 p.m. Nov. 18, to one of the contest co-chairmen.

Job Opportunities

S. D. Ward, Montgomery-Ward regional personnel manager, will be at the graduate placement office Thursday to interview June graduates.

Chemistry and chemical candidates at bachelor and master degrees levels will be interviewed Friday by L. Porter, personnel and industrial relations manager of Shell Oil Co. for employment in the laboratory and various technical departments of the company.
