Brubeck Tonight in Ballroom; Tickets Still on Sale at SU Desk

Tickets for the appearance of Dave Brubeck, recognized as one of the leading jazz interpreters in the nation, are still available at the SU main desk for 85 cents. Suits or short silks and heels are in order for the concert, which will be held tonight at 8. Tickets will not be available at the concert, which will be held in the SU ballroom.

Brubeck, who is now conducting a tour of night clubs throughout the country, has received rave notices from many of the periodical music magazines.

Shared Honors

His band shared honors with Duke Ellington's group in a critic's jazz poll recently conducted by Down Beat magazine. The tabulation was made by consulting the country's leading jazz critics, disc jockeys and recording executives.

Charlie Parker, Brubeck's alto saxophone player, was an individual winner in the same poll. Parker was one of the originators of modern jazz and has been featured with Jazz at the Philharmonic. Having had his own combo for the past few years, he has toured Europe and the East.

Formerly with Stan Kenton and Woody Herman was Brubeck's drummer, Shelly Manne. Manne is considered one of the top drummers in the field of jazz today.

Two of Brubeck's latest records, including "My Romance," "Just One of Those Things," "Stardust" and "Lulu's Back in Town," were acclaimed by the review section of The Metronome magazine in their April issue.

"This is the finest set of sides ever released by Brubeck at one time," according to the review. "They serve as a rapid glance at the tastes and skills of the talented pianist and his able associates," it continued.

Another group of Brubeck recordings, including such jazz classics as "Undecided," "September Song," and "Singin' in the Rain," were named by the Metronome Yearbook as records of the year for 1951.

Has Education Experience

A review by Metronome stated that Brubeck has "just the necessary education and experience" to make him the most successful of the contemporary jazz artists working with classical music.

Brubeck's four-year army experience was spent touring Europe with the band with which he developed much of his experimental arranging and composing technique.

After the war, Brubeck discarded his former ambitions to be a veterinarian and did graduate study in composition at Mills College. His touring career began in 1950, when he began making appearances before western audiences.

New Press Club Elects Officers

Dick Lewis, junior in journalism was elected president and Robert Frazier, Eugene Register-Guard reporter, was the featured speaker at the second meeting of the University press club Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were Ron Miller, vice president, and Dorothy Iler, secretary. Kitty Fraser, president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism fraternity, and Al Karr, president of Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism fraternity, will act as the advisory council. Warren C. Price, associate professor of journalism, is the club's adviser.

Frazier Speaks

Frazier, whose topic was "You Have to Know Something About Everything," stressed the point that a reporter must be able to talk to all types of people about any subject. Frazier's speech ended on a question and answer period during which he discussed the appointment of the new University president, O. Meredith Wilson from the journalistic standpoint.

A graduate of the University of Oregon, Frazier recently returned from a year at Harvard where he studied under a Nieman fellowship.

Constitution Approved

A constitution and amendments were also approved at the meeting and refreshments were served.

The press club is sponsored by Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi and is opened to all interested students. Those joining before the December meeting will be considered charter members, Lewis announced.

The club meets every first Tuesday of the month. "The Confessions of a Campus Editor" will be the topic of next month's talk by Emerald Editor Al Karr.

Ducks to Stage Rally After Win Over USC

A victory rally celebrating the University of Oregon's football win over the University of Southern California last Saturday is planned for 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Student Union ballroom, according to Al Goldenberg, rally board chairman.

A band and speeches by coaches and players will highlight the rally. Living organizations have been paired for the event, Goldenberg said.

Len Casanova, head football coach, W. M. Hammer, freshman football coach and Walt Gaffney, George Shaw, Barney Holland, and Dick James, team members, are scheduled to speak. A portion of the University band under a student director will play Oregon fight songs.

Pairings for the rally are as follows: Delta Gamma, Alpha hall and Campbell club; Delta Zeta and Delta Tau Delta; Rebec house and Alpha Tau Omega; Carson five, Stitzer hall and Chi Psi; Alpha Omicron Pi, French hall and Lambda Chi Alpha; Alpha Chi Omega and Phi Kappa Psi; Alpha Phi, Barrister Inn and Nestor hall; Orides and Susan Campbell hall.

Expert Speaks To Law Group

Gunther Krause, of the Portland law firm of Krause and Evans, spoke at the first general assembly of the law school student body this morning.

Krause, an expert in admiralty law, presented a discussion on that phase of legal work. The assemblies are held once or twice a term for the purpose of giving students basic information on legal fields not covered in University courses, according to Orlando J. Hollis, dean of the school.

Frosh Polls Open At Four Locations

Freshmen go to the polls today to choose their four class officers. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at four locations, Carson hall, John Straub hall, the Student Union and the Co-op.

The ballot lists 30 candidates from which a president, vice president and two representatives will be selected. The preferential voting system, where voters number the candidates in order of their choice from 1 to 30 or as far as they wish to go, will be used. There is no designation of office candidacy with the names on the ballot. The names are listed in alphabetical order.

Members of Kwama and Skull and Dagger, sophomore honoraries, will man the polling booths for the election. In charge of the election and counting of ballots is ASUO Vice Pres. Don Collin, and Marilyn Parrish, Wes Ball, Bob Funk and Ben Schmidt, members of the ASUO senate committee. Results of the election will be available later tonight.

Powers to Show Slides of Spanish Festivals, Cities

Colored slides depicting the elevated rocky terrain, the architectural wonders and some of the famous celebrations of Spain will be shown by P. J. Powers, assistant professor of romance languages, tonight at 7:30 in the Browsing room of the Student Union.

Presented in the form of a travelogue, the pictures were made by Powers when he visited Spain in 1950-51. The lecture is sponsored by the Browsing room and the University library. A commentary on the architecture of the country will also be given by M. D. Ross, associate professor of architecture.

Powers lived in Madrid and worked in the national library during the period when he was on leave from the University. The pictures which he took, he said, do not provide a complete picture of Spain, but they will give those viewing them a good idea of the "differences in architecture and landscape of the country as compared to ours."

The travelogue begins in the Pyrenees mountains, going on to Barcelona, northern Spain and through Castile and then continues to Madrid, a comparatively modern city high on a Castilian plateau, Powers explained. Also shown will be pictures of Sequoia, where the newest church is a 16th century cathedral.

Toledo, known as the imperial city of Spain, which is also the adopted home of El Grecco, was acclaimed by Powers for its magnificence. Several of his slides were made there.

Other scenes which will be shown by Powers are those taken at Seville during Holy Week. The religious processions which go on day and night are spectacular sights, commented Powers, as he spoke particularly of a candlelight setting in the cathedral in Seville—the cathedral which is second only to St. Peter's in Rome.

Morse to Speak On 'Issues for '54'

Senator Wayne L. Morse will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Young Democrats Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Dad's lounge of the Student Union.

Senator Morse will speak on "Issues for 1954" and will be assisted by a panel of approximately ten local citizens, among them labor leaders, farm officials and university professors.

The speech and panel discussion to follow will serve to kickoff a campaign undertaken by Charles O. Porter, local attorney and member of the Executive Board of the Lane County Democratic organization, for an increased interest in the issues which will determine who will represent Oregon in Washington, D. C., come November, 1954.

The audience will have an opportunity to question the speakers and a discussion period will follow. Those wishing to attend are urged to arrive early, as the Dad's lounge can accommodate only slightly more than 200 people and no standees will be permitted, according to Hank Orner, acting president of the Young Demos. The meeting is for University students and faculty members.
