

Burglary Rash Strikes

Three fraternities were entered early Sunday morning and one women's house was broken into early Saturday in the first rash of living organization burglaries since Kappa Kappa Gamma, Chi Omega and Alpha Chi Omega were entered last Jan. 10.

The burglaries came two nights after Ted Brown, Eugene police chief, urged members of the inter-fraternity council to alert members of their organizations to the possibility of such burglaries. He reported that such burglaries are experienced every year and pleaded that caution be used in leaving billfolds and purses containing large amounts of currency around in the rooms.

The houses entered over the weekend were Delta Zeta, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi and Sigma Chi.

A prowler evidently entered through the kitchen window at the DZ house. A total of $118.50 in currency was taken from 17 purses plus one jewelry box. Phyllis Karn, president, reported that the house had received no warning notice to be on the outlook for prowlers since last spring.

At Phi Gamma Delta, $128 in currency was taken between 3 and 4 a.m. Sunday according to a report filed with the police. No other valuables were listed as missing. A member who claimed to be the house president told the Emerald Sunday afternoon that the report of a burglary was erroneous and that the information could not be verified. The police could not release the name of the person who filed the report.

District Officer Don Braman filed the Phi Kappa Psi report Sunday morning after it was discovered that $44 was missing from nine billfolds. Braman later reported that the amount of money taken was closer to $60 and estimated that time of entrance as between 4:30 and 7 a.m. Sunday.

The Phi Psi house was left open following their house dance Saturday evening, Braman stated, although the house is usually locked at night. The rooms in which men were sleeping were not entered. The house had been warned of the danger of a burglary, Braman said.

Missing at Sigma Chi sometime between 11:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. were the two Sweetheart trophies of the fraternity, the report filed by Dick Reinhart, social chairman, stated.

Reinhart was not available for comment Sunday afternoon, but Doug Clement, member of the house's executive committee, said that the larger of the two trophies had been returned early Sunday and that it had evidently been taken as a practical joke. The smaller trophy, awarded to the chapter's sweetheart, had not been returned.

Earlier in the year approximately $100 worth of trophies were removed from the house. The trophies were replacements of those stolen from Sigma Chi last spring. Clement expressed the opinion that the Saturday night theft was not connected with the other burglaries on campus over the weekend. He also stated that to his knowledge no announcement had been made at Sigma Chi of the warning issued at the IFC meeting.

Eugene city detectives were working on the case Sunday, but no arrests had been made Sunday afternoon according to Brown.

Schwary to Play For Homecoming

Dick Schwary and his band will musically greet alums and students at the Homecoming dance, Nov. 21, reports Bob McCracken, dance committee chairman.

Schwary's band, which has performed for many schools in and around Portland recently completed an engagement at the Jantzen Beach ballroom. It has been rated "Portland's Newest and Best."

Most of the members have appeared in name bands such as Jack Teagarden's, Les Brown's, Charlie Parker's, Claude Thornhill's and Charlie Barnett's.

Schwary began his career with the organization of a high school band, "The Skyliner's." He then worked in Portland bands for several years and followed this with appearances in New York city. He now has a disc jockey show, the "Band Box" on station KVAN.

Schwary is a 1952 graduate of Oregon and a graduate of New York university. He is affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma, national social fraternity; Eta Mu Pi, retailing honorary; Beta Gamma Sigma, business honorary and the Newman club.

Featured soloists in his present group are: Don Manning, drums, formerly with Claude Thornhill; Louise Mann, vocalist; Bob Schlichting, sax, formerly with Charlie Barnett; and Fred Keller, trombone, formerly with Les Brown.

Recordings released for radio broadcast by the band including "Ruby," "Melancholy Rhapsody," "Tenderly" and "Its You or No One," featuring Louise Mann.

Alpine Club Recognized

Oregon's new mountaineering club, the Alpine club, has received official recognition by the office of student affairs.

The organization will climb mountains during the fall and late spring and engage in hiking and ski mountaineering during the winter.

A rock climbing school has been inaugurated at the Coburg rocks and operates every Sunday, weather permitting. Rappelling (roping down) and techniques of climbing are practiced.

Outings with other college groups, among them Oregon State college and the University of California, are being considered.

Point 4 Policy Answer To Real World Peace

Foreign policy was rated as the greatest issue of the coming campaign for 1954 by Sen. Wayne Morse (R. Oregon) as he spoke to about 400 persons at a Young Democrats' meeting in the ballroom Sunday evening.

The Republicans were criticized by Morse for "talking bi-partisan foreign policy and acting unilaterally." A Democrat controlled congress is the only remedy, the senator said.

"Then, this administration will have to stop talking about a bi-partisan foreign policy and do something about it," he said.

A Point-four policy of enlightened capitalism was given as the answer to a successful foreign policy and real peace. Morse stressed the need for building up the economic prosperity of the free peoples of the world.

"We can win a war today," he said, "but there would be great sacrifice and we still wouldn't have won the peace."

Food Is Money

"Surplus food is the best barter money you have," said the senator, criticizing the administration for its attempts to eliminate farm surpluses.

The increasing population will need full utilization of our power resources, Morse said. He strongly favored government power where a multi-purpose dam could be built.

The junior senator harshly criticized the present policy of Eisenhower and Secretary of Interior McKay regarding public power.

"Eisenhower and McKay have sold out to private monopolies," Morse claimed. However, the senator did say he favored private power where it didn't deprive the public of a multi-purpose dam.

Needs Low Rates

"The Northwest needs low power rates and these are best attained when private power is in competition with public power," he said.

In a question period following his speech, Morse said he believed the administration's promised changes in the Taft-Hartley act would be only political amendments.

On the issue of Red China, the senator said he did not favor its admission until Red China had proved that it was willing to stand behind its international commitments.

Student Paper Debates 'Bad Smell' at Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP) — The Harvard university daily, the Harvard Crimson, Saturday challenged Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wisc.) to actually name the professors who are Communists. "If he fails to do so," the paper said, "he will be admitting to the nation that he has consciously slandered a university which is contributing at least as much to the world's fight against Communism as McCarthy himself."

The blast from the paper, which is published by undergraduates, came after McCarthy said Thursday there was a "smelly mess" at Harvard when a Harvard assistant professor refused to tell his subcommittee whether he had ever given secret radar information to the Communist party.

The recently installed president of the university, Nathan Pusey, did not indicate whether or not he would reply to a telegram from McCarthy which demanded that he know "what action if any" Harvard intends to take upon the case of Wendell H. Furry, assistant professor of physics.

Pusey earlier said in a dedication address that "Harvard's achievements give the lie to McCarthy's statement."

Final Eliminations To Begin Tonight

Final eliminations for the Homecoming court will begin tonight at 7 in the Student Union, Ann Blackwell, co-chairman of the selection committee has announced. The twelve remaining candidates will be narrowed to six at tonight's elimination.

Semi-formal is the attire for the interviews. Room number will be posted. The elimination will last one hour, giving each candidate a five minute interview.

ty Weitzman, Delta Delta Delta. 8:00, Sylvia Wingard, Lambda Chi Alpha; Ann Steiner, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Gamma, and Phi Gamma Delta and, Florence Wright, Beta Theta Pi.

Sig Ep Swamp Girl Is Sharon Snyder

Sharon Snyder, freshman in liberal arts, was selected "Swamp Girl of SPE" by members of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at their house dance Saturday evening. Miss Snyder was sponsored by Phi Beta Phi.

Other finalists for the title, each of whom was presented with a necklace with the fraternity crest on it were Judy Kirk, Alpha Chi Omega; Jan Hargis, Carson 4; Pat Wilson, Alpha Omicron Pi and Carol Kern, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Miss Reporter Here Monday

Mademoiselle magazine's campus reporter, Rachel Mellinger, will be on the Oregon campus today to talk with women interested in the magazine's national college board.

Miss Mellinger will speak to members of Gamma Alpha Chi, women's national advertising fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism fraternity, at a luncheon in the Student Union at noon today.

An informal coffee hour for any women interested in meeting the Mademoiselle representative has been scheduled for 4 p.m. The meeting, to be held in the SU, will be open to all University women, according to Sally Thurston, Gamma Alpha Chi president.

While on campus, Miss Mellinger will also talk with English professors concerning Mademoiselle's college fiction contest. She plans to collect information on campus news and trends for magazine feature stories.
