Idaho's Vandals swirled out of the north Saturday but they found it hard to steal anything as they were leveled by Oregon's rising Ducks, 25-6, under partially clearing skies on Hayward field.

The win was the third in a row for the Oregons, matching their longest winning streak since the great team of 1948 that went on to play in the Cotton Bowl against Southern Methodist on New Year's day, 1949.

On To Berkeley

The battle cry now is "On to Berkeley," where next Saturday the resurgent Webfoots will be seeking win number five for the season against Pappy Waldorf's always tough Bears, who last Saturday clawed the Washington Huskies, 53-25, in what was anticipated to be a close contest.

Top feature of the Oregon game was the brilliant passing of George Shaw and Barney Holland and the equally fine work of their glue-fingered receivers. Shaw completed six out of six aeriels and Holland connected for four as the Webfoot quarterbacks rolled up a grand total of 10 for 11, sub-quarterback Don Holt throwing one incomplete.

On the receiving end the speedy sophomore halfback, Dick James, twice broke away down the Oregon left sideline to snag two TD passes from Shaw. Back Cece Hodges and Ends John Reed, Len Berrie and Chuck Greenley also figured in the pass-catching act.

Before 9,500 enthralled spectators, the Ducks struck twice to roll up a quick 12-0 bulge. Len Casanova's charges went 48 yards in eight plays for the first touchdown, with Dick James going for five through right tackle for the clincher.

The second drive was for 55 yards in three plays. On the Oregon 45, Shaw shot a pass to Hodges that carried to the Vandal 42. James made 14 over left guard to the 28, and Shaw then pitched a perfect pass to James for the remaining 28 and the TD.

In both cases Shaw missed the try for the extra point.

The Ducks made it 18-0 in the second quarter when they scored with just 1:08 left to play. On the run-pass option Shaw started the march with a 20-yard gain around right end to the Idaho 25. Gaffney went through tackle for 13, James made three, and then an Idaho offside put the ball on the Vandal four, from where Gaffney again cracked off left tackle into the end zone.

In the third quarter Oregon drove 70 yards in eight plays for their last score. Shaw completed a 23-yard pass to James for the score and then kicked his first extra point.

Game Almost Over

With just :39 left in the game, the Vandals pushed across a TD against the Oregon subs. Speedy Larry Gorrell and 160-pound Eddie Allison spearheaded the Idaho scoring thrust with Allison carrying the final four yards to score.

An interesting sidelight of the game was Oregon's platooning system. In the first half Casanova substituted his second eleven for the first and vice versa. Eventually all the Webfoots entered the contest except Sophs Dick Pavlat, Ted Overton, Bill Banbrock, Keith Peterson, and Dick Barker, who are being held out in order to retain another year of football eligibility.

Hedgepeth suffered leg injuries. Larry Rose had the wind knocked out of him in a collision with Idaho's Ted Frostenson, and Tom Elliott suffered a recurrence of an old leg injury.

In the dressing room after the game, Casanova praised the work of Dick Mobley, Shaw, Holland, James, Chuck Greenley, and the whole first string as a unit. He said he felt the second and third strings needed sharpening up and that the Idaho play would benefit them.

He was especially pleased with the pass defense—the Vandals failed to make a completion all day—and also with the fact that his team was able to score early in the game.

On the whole the first unit seemed to exhibit an extra amount of poise and finesse whenever they entered the game. They moved at will against the Idaho defense and held like a stone wall whenever the Vandals threatened a scoring march.

An interested spectator, was Jerry Nelson, sophomore tackle, who was downed in an airplane accident after the USC game. He watched from the Webfoot bench in street clothes.

McGee Sharp as Frosh Edge Out Oregon State Wee Beavers, 7-6

Coach Bill Hammer's University of Oregon Frosh set the pace for their seniors, the varsity squad, when they edged out the Oregon State Rooks, 7-6 at Corvallis Friday, in the last game in Bell field history. It was a muddy last game, too.

Jasper McGee, 210 pound fullback, ripped through the line and went 70 yards untouched for the touchdown that offset a previous Rook score. When OSC was offside on the conversion, the Frosh tried again, and Tom Crabtree crashed over from the one yard line.

Oregon State had tallied in the first four minutes of play on a 19 yard aerial from quarterback Bob Clark to end Leon Hittner. Clark's point after touchdown was wide.

Oregon threatened again just before the half, but time ran out. The Rooks crossed paydirst again in the third frame, on a 50 yard pass, but a penalty nullified the six points.

The freshmen should make some needed additions to the varsity next year, especially in the fullback slot, where the Ducks are lacking a 200 pound plus line crasher. McGee and Crabtree could both fill this bill.

The Frosh failed to develop a good end, however, to catch passes from the varsity quarterbacks next year. In the Rook contest, the Ducklings went only 16 yards through the air.

Pi Phis, DG's Top Bowlers

Pi Beta Phi, in the Tuesday league, and Delta Gamma in the Thursday league, have taken over first place in the Women's Recreation association bowling tournament.

High average for the Thursday league is held by Jean Mangan, Delta Gamma, 139. Marianne Brautlatch, Gamma Phi bowler, owns the top mark for the Tuesday kegglers, 127.
