Diversion Method Needed by Race

If the diversion wall that brings water into the Millrace from the Willamette river is ever washed out, the Millrace is finished, unless a new method is used to draw water into it, Eugene city manager Robert Finlayson told a group of students and University officials Wednesday night.

Finlayson and Dave Todd, who headed last year's Millrace clean-up committee, agreed that the wall, which diverts water from the river into the Millrace near Judkins point is "rotten" and may go out at any time.

Cost Prohibitive
Finlayson stressed that the cost of replacing the wall with a like structure would be prohibitive, and suggested that perhaps a battery of pumps could be installed to pump water out of the river into the stream. Such a plan was part of a report presented to the city in November of 1948. The cost of the pumps at that time, however, was $24,200 and would be nearly double that now.

E. G. Ebbighausen, associate professor of physics and faculty member of the ASUO senate reported that he had made a tour of the Millrace course last summer, and that there were several bad spots in the upper part of the Millrace.

He explained that "something could be done with" the upper end of the stream—the part between its source near Judkins point and

'Defend Yourself Dinner' Date Set

The Tuesday night before Thanksgiving, Nov. 24, has been chosen as the date for the annual journalism family dinner this year.

The usual "come and defend yourself—no one else will" pattern of the dinner will hold. All journalism and pre-journalism students are invited. Entertainment will include both student and faculty skits and journalism faculty members will serve the meal.

Religious Group Schedules Trip

Members of Christian House will visit the children's farm home in Corvallis Saturday, leaving here at 12:30 p. m., according to Gennie Eachus, chairman of the social action committee.

Cost of the trip will be $1, and anyone interested, is invited to attend, Miss Eachus said. Those interested should call Christian House this week to sign up. The group will have a waffle supper at Christian house when they return from Corvallis.

Annual Homecoming Lunch Ticket Sale Set Wednesday

Tickets for the annual Homecoming luncheon, to be held Nov. 21, will go on sale Wednesday in the Co-op and Student Union, Germaine LaMarche, committee chairman, announced today.

The luncheon will consist of barbecued beef sandwiches, potato salad, relishes, layer cake, ice cream and coffee or milk. Five hundred places are available. It will be held in the SU ballroom at 11:30.

the Franklin blvd. bridge—if the opening of the channel were enlarged and the stream bed cleaned.

Pipe Too Small

He commented that, at present, there is only a 30-inch pipe leading into the race from the river, and that the channel has silted in and trees are growing in the stream bed.

Both senate members and the city and University officials present agreed that the Millrace could never be restored to what it once was, but that it could be made "many times better than it is now."

The next meeting of the group was set for Dec. 2, after Finlayson requested more time to familiarize himself with the problem of restoration.

Button Sales Begin Friday

Homecoming button sales will begin on campus Friday reports Milan Foster, finance committee head. Priced at ten cents for students, the pins sport a yellow duck and the traditional slogan, "Beat the Beavers."

Kwama and Phi Theta Upsilon, women's service honoraries, working with sorority pledge classes, will do the booth selling in the Student Union and Co-op and with the flying speeches Friday Monday and Tuesday.

Total sales goal has been set at 5000, with 2000 to be sold in the campus campaign, headed by Donna Anderson, and Jean Piercy.

Downtown selling, handled by Jane Bergstrom's committee, started along with sales at service clubs by the Druids, led by Pete Williams, and in Springfield, where Phil Lynch is chairman of sales.

Goals in these areas are 1500 downtown, 500 at the service clubs and 300 in Springfield. Barbara Williams, chairman of button sales during alumnae registration, hopes 300 more will be sold there.

In the public schools, where sales are also starting today, Bud Hinkson and his committee are working to sell 400 buttons.

The annual sale of Homecoming buttons provides the main source of revenue for Homecoming weekend except for the dance and barbecue luncheon.

Ticket sales will continue from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. through next Friday. They will also be available in the women's living organizations and at the Eugene and Osburn hotels for registering alumni.

Two special sections will be reserved this year, for the Order of the O and for the reunions of the classes of '41, '42, and '43.

All students and alumni are invited, Miss LaMarche said.

Homecoming's Usual Bonfire Is Cancelled

The traditional bonfire will not be included in this year's Homecoming celebration, Bob Kelly, bonfire chairman, revealed Tuesday.

The only available location this year would have been the former Condon school site, an empty lot two blocks east of Hayward field. When neighbors complained of a fire hazard, Eugene Fire Marshall overruled the location.

Once held on Amazon Flats, the fire had to be moved with the construction of the new Eugene High school and the physical education field was chosen.

After one fire, the physical education department prohibited the use of the field, because of damage to the turf.

The old Condon School site has been used for two years, and its overruling leaves no available place for the fire.

According to Donald DuShane, director of student affairs, the Homecoming committee last year felt that too many activities were crammed into the one week.

Senate Will Meet

The ASUO senate will hold a regular meeting in the Student Union tonight beginning at 6:30, ASUO Pres. Tom Wrightson has announced. The new freshman class officers will be attending their first meeting.

Agenda for the meeting includes:

- Homecoming report by Bob Pollack, co-chairman.
- Rally Board report.
- Report on the fixing of the Oregon "O" by Don Smith, freshman class president.
- Freshman class election report by ASUO Vice Pres. Don Collin.
- Oregon Federation of College Leaders conference report by Bob Summers.
- Discussion of Wednesday night's Millrace meeting.
- University Housing committee report.

Oregana Sets Makeup Day

Today will be all-fraternity makeup day at Kennel-Ellis, Janet Bell, living organizations editor, announced.

All fraternity men who have not had Oregana pictures taken should do so today from 9 a. m. to 5:15 p. m., or Saturday morning, Miss Bell said.

Off-campus seniors should have graduation pictures taken any Saturday morning, Miss Bell said, so their picture will appear in the graduation section of the Oregana.

Women who have not had pictures taken may still do so any Saturday morning, Miss Bell stated.

Dormitory pictures will begin Monday, with Alpha and Sigma hall scheduled for 9 a. m. to 5:15 p. m. Tuesday's schedule will be Susan Campbell hall from 9 a. m. to 5:15 p. m.

Freshmen men who have pledged fraternities, who are living in the dormitory or off campus, may check their fraternity as their living organization. Other freshmen are to appear on the dormitory pages. The same policy has been used for women's living organizations, and will be duplicated for the men since rushing was held fall term.

Counsel in Court Denied to Students

J. Kelly Farris, senior in law, was denied the right to represent 14 students who had requested his counsel before the student traffic court Wednesday night. His appearance in their behalf was denied on the grounds that the court is an administrative group and is not subject to the fine rules of procedure of the courts of law.

Farris remarked, however, that according to the Oregon Code of Laws Annotated, the power in disciplinary matters is delegated immediately to the faculty of the University and that it may be delegated no further.

Enlarging on the statement that the student traffic court is an administrative body, Carl Weber, chairman of the student court, pointed out that it had the right to deny counsel. He pointed out

S.U. Meeting Decides Issues

Policy for "Calendar of Events," a folder distributed in September by the Student Union board, was announced at the board meeting Wednesday.

Under the policy, events listed on the calendar will include:

1. Student Union events.
2. Eugene-University Civic Music association concerts.
3. University assemblies and lectures and Wednesday night browsing room lectures.
4. The academic calendar.
5. Varsity athletic contests of major sports, including football, basketball, baseball and track, and home events of swimming, golf and tennis.
6. All "all campus" events projected by the student affairs committee.

In other business, the board approved a program enlargement of the recorded music committee.

The two additional program features outlined by Chairman Martha Spatz are piping radio broadcasts of the Saturday afternoon Metropolitan opera into the music listening room and presenting a weekly program of recorded musical comedies in the record lending library.

The screening committee will interview ten candidates Thursday night to fill five representative vacancies on the board, according to Virginia Dailey. Petitioners and their schools include one from health and physical education; one from education; one from graduate school; four from liberal arts, and three from art and architecture.

A campus barbershop quartet contest will be held on the Friday evening of Dad's weekend during winter term, Board Chairman Andy Berwick announced.

Rally Will Welcome Team On Return From California

A rally to welcome the team back from the University of California game will be held at 8:45 p. m. Sunday at the Southern Pacific depot, according to Al Goldenberg, rally board chairman. No rally will be held today, he said.

Student tickets for the California game cost $1.50 and will be on sale at McArthur Court today until 5 p. m. These tickets are for a special Oregon section on the

that a student has three options when he receives a citation for traffic violation:

1. He may appear before the student court and pay the fine
2. He may appeal to the court.
3. He may acquiesce and have the fine taken from his breakage fee.

As to the students who requested his counsel, Farris agreed that the court has the right to refuse counsel, and stated that he had done everything in his power for the students. No disciplinary action is being taken against him, Farris told the court. He has been informed by University authorities that he will not have to pay his fine.

Farris said that the best test for the legality of the court would be to ask the opinion of the state Attorney General, but added that he, as a private citizen, may not request the opinion of the attorney general on questions concerned with the legality of such groups.

Weber said that a student may receive advice while appearing before the court, but that the student must speak in his own behalf. If a student wishes to question the authority of the court, he will be referred to the Office of Student Affairs.

Phi Beta Slates Formal Initiation

Eight girls will go through formal pledging rites in Phi Beta at 6:30 p. m. tonight in Alumni hall, Gerlinger.

The new pledges include Gloria Lee, junior in speech; Donna Maulding, junior in speech; Janie Lee Moore, junior in speech; Pat Adkisson, junior in speech; Virginia Nye, graduate in English; Donna Peterson, sophomore in liberal arts; Sharlene Stewart, sophomore in physical education and Eva Jean Miller, senior in music.

Cosmo Club Sets Program Friday

Modern dances by Knox studios and a series of slides on Korea will be featured at the Friday night meeting of the Cosmopolitan club at Plymouth house, from 8 to 12 p. m., according to Pres. Lee McGary.

David Hatch is the group's new adviser, and the new co-social chairmen are George Lo and Rita Grislis. Recently-elected publicity chairmen are Bev Ulstad and Inga Shipstead, with Ingrid Maijling serving as historian.

50-yard line. Tickets purchased at Berkeley will cost more and will not be for the Oregon student section, Goldenberg said.

Train tickets are available today, at the Southern Pacific depot at $29.80 for the round trip. If enough train reservations are made early in the day a special car will be run for Oregon students, Goldenberg added.
