

University Public Service Conference Begins Today

A conference on universities and the public service is being held on campus today and Friday. Morton Kroll, assistant professor of political science, is serving as chairman of the event.

Sponsors of the conference are the University of Oregon, the League of Oregon Cities, the Federal Personnel Council of Portland and a number of federal and state agencies. The conference will be open to students interested in public service on a federal, state or local level, Kroll said.

All conference events will be held in the Student Union. Program for the conference has been released as follows:

Program Announced

Among the events scheduled to have occurred this morning were registration at 9 a. m.; opening plenary session from 9:45 to 10:30 a. m. and three panel discussions on university faculties and public executives from 10:30 to noon.

Title of the first panel was to have been "Education for Executive Training." L. K. Mays, assistant regional forester, North Pacific region, Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, was to have served as chairman.

The second panel, "Scientific Training and the Government Service," was to have been lead by W. M. Langan, agricultural student personnel adviser, Oregon State college.

"Personnel Agencies and College Placement Services" was to have been the title of the third panel. Robert S. Copernoll, field adviser, 11th U. S. Civil Service region, Seattle, was to have been chairman.

Students Invited

At noon today the entire group will hold an informal luncheon meeting.

Two conference events this afternoon are of particular interest to Oregon students, according to Kroll. The events are a plenary session from 1 to 2:30 p. m. and a career session and coffee hour from 2:45 to 4:30 p. m.

"Is There A Career in the Public Service?" will be the subject of the plenary session. Chairman will be O. P. Davis, chairman of the Federal Personnel council, Portland, and area personnel officer, Bureau of Indian affairs, Department of Agriculture.

Interviews between public officials and interested students will be featured at the afternoon career session and coffee hour. In charge of the session will be Karl W. Onthank, associate director of student affairs.

Panel Scheduled

A social hour for conference members is scheduled from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. this afternoon. Kroll will preside at the dinner session at 6:30 tonight.

Featured speaker at the dinner will be Eldon L. Johnson, dean of the college of liberal arts and graduate school. Topic of Johnson's speech is to be "The University and the Public."

General topic of the first group of panels Friday morning is "Research and the Public Service." The panels are scheduled from 9 to 10:30 a. m.

Pendleton City Manager Ray Botch will be chairman of the panel entitled "Research and Personnel Administration." Second panel of the group, "Research and Supervision," will be lead by Joe L. King, acting industrial relations officer, Pudget Sound naval shipyard, Bremerton, Wash.

Luncheon Slated

Third panel in the 9 to 10:30 a. m. group will be "Scope and Method of Research in Public Service." Chairman is Richard A. Littman, associate professor of psychology.

"The Public Agency as a Workshop" is to be the general topic of the three panels to be held from 10:30 a. m. to noon Friday.

Charles McKinley, professor of political science at Reed college, will be chairman of the panel entitled "The Northwest as a Workshop." "The Contributions of Individual Agencies" will be lead by R. W. Cowlin, director of the Pacific Northwest forest experiment station.

Third panel of the 10:30 a. m. to
