

HC Sign Plans, Costs Due Today

The absolute deadline for submitting Homecoming sign plans and a financial statement is today, at 5 p. m., according to Ann Gerlinger and Ann Bankhead, sign contest co-chairmen.

The plans and financial statement may be submitted to either Miss Bankhead or Miss Gerlinger at Kappa Alpha Theta.

"Those living organizations failing to follow these rules will be disqualified," Miss Bankhead has stated. An expense limit of $35 has been placed on each sign, she added.

Judging of the signs will be based on adherence to the central theme, effort, originality and impressiveness. Men's and women's living organizations will be judged separately and a rotating trophy will go to the winner in each division. Second and third place awards will be donated by Eugene merchants.

Far East Professor To Speak Tuesday

T. Z. Koo former official in the Chinese Nationalist government and present professor of Oriental studies at Iowa State university will speak in a University assembly next Tuesday at 1 p. m.

"The War of Ideas in the Orient" will be the topic of Koo's speech.

Koo was an official in the department of Railways in the Chinese Nationalist government, a national YMCA and church leader, and a university professor. Although he has lived in the United States for some years, he has made many trips to China and has current contacts with the situation there and throughout the Orient.

In speaking appearances Koo usually wears his native Chinese scholar's robe. He usually has his Chinese flute along and on request will play a bit before starting his address.

School Building Discussion Heads Conference Agenda

Discussion of national trends in school building construction and school curricula heads the agenda for the Oregon state conference on School Plant Planning which opens here Thursday morning.

The conference, which will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday, is designed to give school superintendents and school board members an opportunity to discuss problems involving school plants.

Ray Hamon, chief of the school housing section of the United States Office of Education in Washington, D. C., will discuss national trends in school plants at the first business session of the conference Thursday morning.

"Planning a Program of Long-Range School Plant Expansion" will be covered in an address by Clarence Hines, superintendent of Eugene schools, in the second session Thursday.

Morris To Talk

Victor P. Morris, acting president of the University, and Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction, will give short welcoming talks at a general session prior to the talks.

Slides to Illustrate Art Lecture Tonight

Slides of early cave paintings and of contemporary paintings will illustrate the lecture given by Mrs. Chandler Beall as she presents the basic principles of ancient and modern art tonight at 7:30 in the Student Union browsing room.

W. S. Baldinger, associate professor of art, will lead discussion from the audience following Mrs. Beall's lecture. The slides used in the lecture are on loan from the University art school, Mrs. Beall said.

Mrs. Beall, who is well-traveled, has designed her lecture to suggest a practical approach to the understanding of the abstract art expression of our times. She has visited the great art collections of her native country, France, and those of Germany, Italy, Spain, the United States and Mexico.

She studied art in Paris, at the Academie Julian, and at the Academie Moderne with Fernand Leger. Having worked with Hans Hofmann at the Chouvard School of Art in Los Angeles in 1931, she was given a scholarship to Hofmann's Art Academy in Munich, Germany two years later.

More recently, Mrs. Beall has studied with Hofmann again in his New York school. She has also done work with Ozenfant in his Paris school and with Archipenko. In addition she has studied art in Mexico.

Dance Plans Near Finish

Homecoming dance committee members took one last deep breath as they prepared to wind up final details for the dance, Nov. 21, in the Student Union ballroom. Dick Schwary and his band has been scheduled to musically greet alums and students of Oregon and Oregon State college, states Bob McCracken, dance committee chairman. Schwary's band, rated "Portland's Newest and Best," has just completed an engagement at the Jantzen Beach ballroom. Most of the members have worked for name band leaders such as Jack Teagarden, Les Brown, Charlie Parker, Claude Thornhill, and Charlie Barnett.

Schwary, a 1952 graduate of Oregon, played in Portland bands for several years and followed this with New York appearances before forming his present group. Featured soloists include Don Manning, drums, formerly with Claude Thornhill; Louise Mann, vocalist; Bob Schlichting, sax, formerly with Charlie Barnett; and Fred Keller, trombone, formerly with Les Brown.

Recordings released for radio broadcast by the band include "Ruby," "Melancholy Rhapsody," "Tenderly," and "It's You or No One," featuring Louise Mann.

Tickets Now on Sale

Dance tickets are on sale for $2 at the main desk of the Student Union, the Co-op, and all men's living organizations. Carol Oakly, dance ticket committee chairman, has urged everyone to buy his ticket early, even though they will be sold at the door Saturday night.

Plans for decorations include a two-tone green false ceiling of crepe paper, according to Jane Flippo, decoration chairman. Around the walls will be black silhouettes trimmed with silver sparkle, depicting scenes from the theme, "As Time Goes By."

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Vincent will be official chaperones, according to Betty Anderson, chaperone chairman. There are fourteen members of the faculty and their wives on the guest list.

Pollack To Emcee

Bob Pollock, general Homecoming chairman, will be master of ceremonies during the intermission when the Homecoming queen will be introduced. Trophies for the sign contest winners and tappings by Druids will also be conducted during this time.

Attire for the affair will be short silks for women and suits for men. Flowers will be optional.

Queen Voting Ends Today

Voting for Homecoming queen will end at 5 p. m. today, according to Marcia Tamiesie, co-chairman of the queen selection committee.

Voting booths are located inside the Student Union near the main desk, inside the Co-op and in Commonwealth Square. Miss Tamiesie urges all students to participate in the elections.

Student body cards will be stamped at time of voting.

Members of the 1953 Homecoming court are as follows: Mary Co-sart, Ann Gerlinger, Janet Miller, Nancy Randolph, Sylvia Wingard and Florence Wright.

SU Board Will Meet

The Student Union board will meet at 4 p. m. today in the SU board room, according to Andy Berwick, chairman. Agenda for the meeting is as follows:

- Board petitioning report and announcement of new board members;
- Barbershop quartet contest report;
- Treasurer's report;
- Directorate chairman's report;
- Special attractions committee report.

HC Button Sales Near Half of Quota

Nearly half the total sales quota of 5000 Homecoming buttons had been reached by Tuesday noon, according to Milan Foster, finance committee chairman.

Public schools sales had topped the quota of 400, and more buttons were put on sale Tuesday afternoon by Bud Hinkson's committee. Campus sales, under Jean Piercy and Donna Anderson, approached the goal of 1500, with 1350 having been sold at the time of Foster's report.

Downtown sales, led by Jane Bergstrom, neared one-third of its 1500 quota. Returns from Springfield had not been reported, with alumni registration sales, which start Friday, expected to increase this total by 300 more.

Death Takes Elon Moore

Elon H. Moore, for ten years head of the sociology department at the University of Oregon, died Monday of a heart condition in a Phoenix, Ariz. hospital. He was 59.

Moore, who retired from his post at the University in June, was vacationing in Arizona with his wife, Marjorie. He was to have departed time teaching next spring with the extension division of the Oregon State System of Higher Education.

His retirement last June marked the end of 17 years of service on the University faculty. He came to the University as a professor of sociology in 1935, and became head of the department in 1943. Prior to that time, he was a professor of sociology at Oregon State college from 1928 to 1935.

Moore was active in the Pacific Coast Sociological society and served as president of that group for one year. He was also a member of the Pacific Coast committee on old age research and conducted numerous studies in Oregon on old age and retirement.

Born May 18, 1894, at Moscow, Mich., Moore married Marjorie Kenney in 1921. Four grown children, two boys and two girls, survive.
