

Shaw Named All-American

NEW YORK (AP) — Two great Midwestern halfbacks, Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame and Paul Giel of Minnesota, occupy the spotlight on the 1953 Associated Press All-American football team.

Lattner and Giel are the only repeaters from last year and were two of the outstanding backs — both offensively and defensively — in the first year since the return of the one-platoon system.

The team was selected on the recommendations of boards of radio and newspaper experts from every section of the country. UCLA's Paul Cameron and Kosse Johnson of Rice round out the first team backfield.

Both Cameron and Johnson averaged exactly 5 yards per carry this season. Cameron scored 12 touchdowns to lead UCLA into the Rose Bowl against Michigan State. Johnson scored 10 touchdowns in leading Rice to the Cotton Bowl game against Alabama.

Only Notre Dame, Stanford and Maryland placed men on both the first and second teams. Backs

Bernie Faloney of Maryland and Bob Garrett of Stanford plus Notre Dame tackle Art Hunter made the second team.

'Surprised' Says Shaw

George Shaw, Oregon's quiet-mannered quarterback, who was named to the Associated Press All-American third team, was "really surprised" last night when the Emerald notified him of the honor, after the bulletin came in on the paper's wire service.

George was studying at his fraternity, Alpha Tau Omega, last night when he got the word.

"It is really an honor to be chosen on an All-American team," he told the Emerald over the phone. He stated that the rest of the team had a lot to do with the selection, considering its fine support through the season. "This is just as much an honor to the coaches and the squad as it is to me."

George commented that the Associated Press selections were "different" than a lot of the other all-star teams. Shaw's running mates in the mythical backfield are Alan Ameche, Wisconsin; Jackie Parker, Mississippi State, and Dick Clasby, Harvard.

Bill Bowerman, assistant athletic director, stated that it was a "tremendous thing for George" to be selected on the team. He also praised the 1953 football squad for the fine job it did in making Shaw's honor possible. "We're really looking forward to a top season next year when we have Shaw and all the other juniors and sophomores back for action."

When asked if he thought Shaw would have made the team in two platoon football, Bowerman answered "No." George would not have had the opportunity to show his all-around playing ability under the old platoon system.

Bowerman was the only member of the athletic staff that the Emerald could contact last night for comments. The rest of the coaches were out of town, speaking at football banquets.

The first night baseball game in the major leagues was played at Cincinnati in 1935, with Larry MacPhail the originator.

"My aching Pinfeathers!"

Football season closed with a quack. Thank heaven those nasty old beavers have gone they left our pond in a muddy mess.

The ducks flew south to Marshfield to open the basketball season and came back to the nest in the mood for celebrating.

Quacking of celebrating, flocks of ducks have discovered a fine place to watch television, play shuffleboard, and have a real gathering at—

New Seating Plan Effective Tonight

A new student seating arrangement will be tried out in the Oregon-San Jose game tonight, according to Bill Bowerman, assistant athletic director.

A white shirt section, approximately 150 seats, will be reserved behind the Oregon basketball team for senior men only. Order of the 'O', lettermen's club, will hold down a small section in the very middle of the east bleachers.

Freshmen men will be seated in the bleachers under the south basket. The women's seating will stay the same, except that the "no men allowed" rule will be strictly enforced.
