8 Noted Religious Leaders Will Speak for RE Week

Several outstanding religious leaders in the United States will be brought to the campus January 17 to 21, as speakers for Religious Evaluation Week.

Following the theme, "Religion and the Individual," the eight speakers will participate in the annual campus event which is designed to evaluate religious beliefs.

The speakers will include Martin Harvey, dean of students at Southern university, Baton Rouge, La.; Otto A. Bremer, executive director of Lutheran Student Foundation of Northern Calif.; Robert E. Fitch, dean of the Pacific

Schedule Listed

Earl Cranston, dean of the school of religion, University of Southern California; T. Z. Koo, professor of Oriental studies, University of Iowa; Rabbi Joshua Stampfer, spiritual leader of Congregation Ahavai Shalom, Portland, and Rev. Thomas P. Jones, prefect of religion, University of Portland.

Included in the four-day program for RE week will be personal conferences, fireside discussions, chapel meditations, no-host luncheons, a Sunday night dinner, classroom sessions and a book display plus addresses by the speakers each day. A new feature this year will be the "skeptics hours," Monday and Wednesday of RE week from 4 to 5 p. m.

Chairmen Named

General chairman of the event is Barbara Swanson, senior in sociology. Vice-chairman is Pat Adkisson; Jean Peterson holds the position of secretary. Bob Hastings is in charge of finances.

Working as sub-chairmen for RE Week are Dick Brown, arrangements; Easton Cross and Doug Hunt, assemblies; Shirley Soble, book display; Pat Hartley, classroom; Gail West, firesides; Janet Wick, luncheon; Jane Bergstrom, personal conferences; Sonia Edwards, hospitality; Rosalund Lowrance, promotion; Dorothy Iler, publicity; Phyllis Pearson, Sunday dinner, and Bill Walker, worship.

Applications for Scholarships Due

Students who have urgent need for scholarship help for next term must get their applications in immediately to the office of Karl W. Onthank, chairman of the committee on scholarships and financial aid.

All applications will be considered at one time by the committee during the Christmas vacation or at the very beginning of winter term, Onthank said.

Both those who have already had some help but found it inadequate and those who have received no assistance whatsoever from the committee may apply, he said. No especially large sums will be awarded, but some funds have been made available by withdrawals, and some are kept always in reserve for students in real need.

Hawaii Calls

Mrs. Antoinette Faaborg, housemother at the Alpha Xi Delta Sorority will head the J. D. Howard college tour for women to Hawaii on the Oregon campus for the 1954 tour. Mr. Howard, who originated the Hawaii summer tours for students, has conducted them for six consecutive years and draws his groups from all over the country. Over two hundred young women attended the University of Hawaii Summer Session last year under his direction. The Howard tour groups are housed at the University campus in a new fireproof dormitory or at a slightly higher cost at the famous Waikiki area in the delightful cottage section of the edgewater Hotel.

Mrs. Faaborg, who has been asked to head the Oregon group was a newcomer to the campus last year, having come directly from Honolulu where she had lived for fourteen years. These years in the Islands, working with young people at two of Hawaii's outstanding private schools especially qualifies her for such leadership. She has a rich understanding and appreciation of Hawaii's people and of Hawaii. Because of this knowledge she is able to offer to her group an interpretation of the Islands that only one who knows them can give.

Travel is by air or the return trip may be made on the luxury liner "Lurline." The basic cost for travel, housing and many enjoyable special events is low, $519.00 for the dormitory plan and $538.00 to live at Waikiki. If return is on the "Lurline," the cost will be slightly higher. Call Mrs. Faaborg at 23663 for information and an appointment to discuss this delightful low cost summer of vacation and study. Watch for further announcements after the holidays.

3 UO Seniors Interviewed For Scholarship Candidacy

Sprague, Paul Means, head of the University's religion department, Karl Harshbarger, Mark Patterson and William O. Walker, seniors in speech, history and physics respectively, appeared Wednesday before an interview board in Portland with five other students from other universities as part of the screening procedure for the Rhodes scholarships to Oxford university.

Head of the interview committee was Ex-Governor Charles served as one of the committee members.

Two finalists from the group of seven will be selected to compete in Spokane on Saturday for the Northwest district selection. Four students will be chosen from the Northwest, and will go, together with 28 other U. S. students, to Oxford, in England.

ROTC Hosts Guests At Inspection Visit

The Army ROTC Transportation corps unit was host Wednesday to two visitors here for inspection visits. Col. C. L. Whittle, 6th Army T-C Chief, visited from the Presidio, San Francisco, and Lt. Col. George Reynolds represented the Office of the Chief of Transportation, Washington, D. C.

Lt. Col. Reynolds was on a regular liaison tour to the Northwest district. The purpose of his visit was to discuss policy with the T-C faculty, informing them of new procedures and learning their suggestions and criticisms.

Their visit was concluded Wednesday afternoon by a coffee hour reception in the Student Union Dad's lounge where the T-C senior cadets were invited to talk with the two men.
