YW Lists Events For Winter Term

The Inter-racial understanding conference at Lewis and Clark college this weekend is the first YWCA event of winter term, YW President Cathy Siegmund has announced. Other events include Religious Evaluation Week, January 17-20 with several noted speakers to be on campus.

Jan. 23 is the International Fun Fest, a get-together for all foreign students with Betti Fackler, sophomore in education as general chairman.

The Waffle breakfast will be Jan. 30 and is open to all campus women. The breakfast will also feature a style show by Kaufman's. Betty Anderson and Sally Allen, freshmen in liberal arts, are general co-chairmen. The annual Heart Hop will be Feb. 13 with the "King of Hearts" chosen by popular vote.

Sophomore Skip is the last YW event in winter term.

KWAX Broadcasts Start Monday

KWAX, the University of Oregon's campus radio station, will resume broadcasting for winter term Monday, according to Paul McMullen, station manager.

In addition to KWAX FM and the direct lines to Carson and John Straub halls, there will also be a direct wire broadcast to the Student Union fishbowl Thursday evenings for the half-hour show, "The SU and You."

Tickets Available For RE Dinner

Tickets for the Religious Evaluation week dinner may be obtained in living organizations, religious foundations or the YMCA office in Student Union 319.

The annual dinner will open RE week Sunday, Jan. 17, and will feature Robert E. Fitch, dean of the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Calif., speaking on "Religion and the Individual." The program will also include music by the University singers.

Tickets will on sale until Jan. 15. Price for students is $1. Non-student tickets are priced at $1.50.
