

Curriculum Changes Subject For Faculty Meeting Today

Included in the agenda for the faculty meeting to be held at 4 p. m. today in the main lecture room of the Science building are three motions dealing with curriculum changes at the University of Oregon.

A. H. Kunz, head of the chemistry department, will move that a major in medical sciences, leading to a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Sciences degree be set up at Oregon. If the program is approved, it will probably go into effect next year, Kunz said.

Requirements for attaining this degree, according to Kunz, will include: completion of a three-year pre-professional degree curriculum; satisfaction of all general University requirements for a bachelor's degree, including special requirements for the B.A. or B.S. degree, and completion, in satisfaction of the major requirements, of one year of professional study at the University of Oregon dental or medical school.

One restriction, however, is that not more than 48 term hours of professional work may be counted toward the satisfaction of the 186-hour requirement for a baccalaureate degree.

Other motions to be introduced at the meeting will suggest the substitution of English, by foreign students, for one of the foreign languages required for the Ph.D. degree and the establishment of a six-course group requirement for majors in the college of liberal arts, with a pending proposed amendment to except pre-dental and pre-medical students.

Business Ed Confab Set For January 28

The West Central Oregon Business-Education Conference will be held on campus January 28, with the school of business administration as host.

Business and education leaders from the lower Willamette Valley area will attend the meeting, which is designed to give persons in both fields an opportunity to discuss mutual problems, the relationship between the two fields and the more efficient use of state and community resources. The theme for the conference will be "The Business Community's Stake in Education."

The annual conference is sponsored here in cooperation with Oregon State college, chambers of commerce in this area, Northwest Christian college, the National Association of Manufacturers, public schools and the General Extension division in Eugene.

Charles F. Ziebarth, associate professor of business administration, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the conference. Vice chairman of the group is Nat Guistina, official of Guistina Brothers Lumber Co., Eugene, and the committee secretary is Fred M. Brenne, manager of the Eugene chamber of commerce.

Y Treasurer Petitions Due Monday At Five

Petitions for the office of treasurer of the YWCA may be obtained at the YW offices in Gerlinger hall, according to Mrs. Cathy Tribe Siegmund, president of the organization.

The petitions are due Monday at 5 p. m., and some experience in accounting is preferred for petitioners. The new treasurer will serve until the end of next winter term.

CAMPUS BRIEFS

● Thursday night is the only open night for teams to sign up for the intra-mural bowling tournament, according to Lou Bellissimo. Eight teams will bowl each evening on Jan. 18, 19, 20 and 21.

● Oregana proofs should be turned into Kennell-Ellis immediately, according to Bob Ford, editor. If these proofs are not returned, the studio will submit a proof of their own choosing.

● The graduate student program has been postponed indefinitely, pending further investigation of student opinion, according to Virginia Nye, member of the committee.

● The deadline for petitions for SU special events chairman is today at 5 p. m., according to Andy Berwick, board chairman.

● Asklepiads, pre-medical honorary, will meet tonight at 7:30, according to Bill Haney, secretary-treasurer.

● Women transfer students who have affiliated with sororities winter term but lived in Carson hall fall term are requested to contact the Oregana if they wish to have their picture appear with their present living organization rather than with Carson.

● Interviews for Dad's Day hostess will be held tonight and Thursday at 7:30 in the Student Union, according to Kay Partch, hostess selection chairman.

● A public forum on off-street parking will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Unitarian church, 11th and Ferry Sts. Eugene businessmen will speak at the forum sponsored by the Channing club. The forum will include a panel discussion and group participation.

● A special report on the interracial problems conference held in Portland last weekend will be given by Germaine LaMarche, sophomore in liberal arts, at the meeting of the YWCA public affairs committee Thursday noon in Gerlinger hall, Chairman Sylvia Wingard has announced. The meeting is open to the public, Miss Wingard said.

● The Red Cross board will meet at 4 p. m. today in the Student Union.

● Jean Piercy, junior in psychology, was elected secretary of Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, at a meeting Tuesday night. She replaces Yvonne Holm who failed to make a 2.00 GPA fall term.

● Four musicians are needed for the ASUO exchange assembly, according to Marv Young, music chairman. The assembly needs two alto and one tenor saxophone players and one drummer. Anyone interested may contact Young at Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Manager Position Open on Oregana

Students interested in becoming organizations manager for the Oregana have been asked to contact the Oregana business office, according to Jim Light, business manager.

The position was formerly held by Marilyn Parrish, who did not return to school this term.

Students interested in the position should contact Light at either the Oregana office in the Student Union or Phi Delta Theta.

Light stressed the fact that experience in this position may lead to several positions which will be open on the Oregana business staff next year.

State Board Calls For Dorm Bids

The Oregon state board of higher education has called for bids on the new men's dormitory.

The new dormitory, which will be built at a cost of about $1,036,000, will be attached to John Straub hall, facing Emerald st. between 14th and 15th.

When the state board authorized the bid call last November, members expressed hope that the new dormitory unit, which will house some 300 students, would be in operation by the fall of 1955.

The new dormitory would replace the vet's dorms on Alder st., which were purchased from war surplus in 1945 and 1945.

YM Membership Meeting Tonight

Movies, discussion and refreshments are on the agenda for the YMCA membership meeting tonight at 8 in the Student Union.

According to President Forest Easton, both members and non-members are invited to attend the hour-long meeting.

Movies of the "YMCA at Work" will be shown. Manning Barber, president of the YM advisory board will speak to the members. A discussion of the YM program will also be held. Members will be given a chance to express their ideas of the YM program at this time, Easton said.

TIME TO TAKE THAT VACATION

In Hawaii This Summer

You can have the most delightful summer of your life when you decide to go to Hawaii with the J. D. Howard tours. Can you imagine yourself swimming on Waikiki beach—or maybe just basking in the warm Hawaiian sun? Or how would you like to see every spot of interest possible in a summer in Hawaii? Mrs. Faaborg, house-mother at Alpha Xi Delta, has spent 14 years in the Islands and will lead the tour from Oregon this summer.

The J. D. Howard tour is easy on the pocketbook too, only $519 to live in a dormitory at the University of Hawaii, or $538 to live in the cottage section of the Edgewater Hotel—at Waikiki. Call Mrs. Faaborg today for more details about the trip.
