

Religious Evaluation Week Speakers' Backgrounds Told

Speakers for Religious Evaluation week, Jan. 17 to 21, have been selected from some of the outstanding religious leaders in the United States by the RE week program committee in conjunction with the University Christian mission.

James Stoner, national director of UCM, was on campus last spring to help the committee choose the Protestant speakers. The speakers include:

Earl Cranston

Earl Cranston is currently dean of the school of religion and professor of religion at the University of Southern California. He has held this position since 1949.

He served as a Methodist missionary in China from 1920 to 1924. This visiting lecturer for RE week has taught at State Teachers college, Buffalo, N. Y., Colgate university, University of Redland, Pacific School of Religion and Dartmouth college.

Cranston's travels in other countries have been varied. He served as a U. S. army ambulance driver in Italy from 1918 to 1919. He was an exchange preacher in England and Scotland in 1933 and traveled in Europe in 1937. He is the author of "Swords or Plowshares."

Cranston received an A. B. from Dartmouth in 1916. He also holds an A. M. from Columbia university; a B. D. from Drew Theological seminary and a Ph.D. from Harvard. He has also done graduate study at the Union Theological seminary.

Martin Harvey

Martin Harvey, who is a representative from the AME Zion church for RE week, is dean of students at Southern university in Baton Rouge, La.

In 1938 he made a trip around the world to study youth move-

Friday At Four Talent Announced

Among the talent featured in today's Friday at 4 program will be Julie Detrick, vocalist, accompanied on the piano by Shirley Hardy, and Mark Tapscott, who will sing and play the accordion.

Marilyn Patterson will be the master of ceremonies. In charge of this week's program are Carol Aiken, freshman in liberal arts, and Russ Cowell, sophomore in liberal arts.

Tickets for the barbershop quartet contest, which is being planned by the Friday at 4 committee, will be given with the luncheon tickets for Dad's Day at the main desk in the student union. Remaining tickets will be handed out Friday before the concert.

Bob Kelly will make the trophy presentation and give recognition to second and third place winners at the contest.

Monday Last Day To Change Classes

Monday is the last day to register or change classes without payment of a penalty fee, the registrar's office in Emerald hall has stressed. A course-change fee of $1 will be charged for changes made after that date.

Course changes are considered as any adding, dropping, or changing of any course or section after the registration card is filed. To be official a course-change card must be filed with the registrar's office. The card must be signed by the student's adviser and instructor.

ments in over 60 countries and to speak at various national student conferences. He attended two conferences, the World Missionary conference in India, and the World Christian Youth conference, Amsterdam, Holland, of which he was vice chairman.

Harvey began his work with youth while still in college as president of the New York State Youth council. He later became president of the Christian Youth Council of North America and for ten years was the National Director of youth work for the AME Zion church.

The scheduled speaker was graduated from New York university with a B. S. degree in Religious Education and an M. A. in Personnel Administration. He has completed residence work for a Ph.D. degree in the Administration of Higher Education at the same institution.

Rabbi Joshua Stampfer

Rabbi Joshua Stampfer is the spiritual leader of Congregation Ahavai Shalom, Portland. Prior to assuming his present post in Portland in 1953, he served as spiritual head of Congregation Tifereth Israel in Lincoln, Nebr.

In addition to lecturing at universities for the Jewish Chautauqua society, Rabbi Stampfer has served as director of youth leadership institutes.

This RE week speaker graduated from the University of Chicago in 1942. He received his M. S.

degree from the University of Akron and his Master of Hebrew Letters from the Jewish Theological seminary in New York. He has also attended Ohio State university, the University of Nebraska and the Hebrew university in Jerusalem.

Otto Bremer

Otto Bremer holds the positions of Lutheran campus pastor at the University of California at Berkeley, Calif., and executive director of the Lutheran Student Foundation of Northern California.

During the past year he carried administrative responsibilities for the 1953 European Study project, sponsored jointly by the Lutheran World Federation, the Lutheran Student Association of America and the National Lutheran council. In previous years, Bremer assisted in Europe with Lutheran student work camps and study service projects. He also organized the first international Lutheran student conference in 1951.

Bremer spent three years in Europe in connection with the work of the Lutheran World Federation and his own theological training. He was also in Europe during World War II as a navigator in the army air corps.

He has received a B. S., cum laude, and a M. B. A., with distinction, from Harvard university. His training also includes study at Hamma Divinity school, Tuebingen university in Germany and the Chicago Lutheran Theological seminary.

'Moonlight Girls'

Four Finalists Named; Campus Votes Thursday

Barbara Keelen Altman, Nancy Miller Hawkins, Ellie Robblee Schuppel and Cathy Tribe Siegmund were selected as finalists for Dad's Day hostess last night by the weekend's hostess judging committee.

A student body election next Thursday will decide the winner, who will serve as official hostess for Dad's Day, Jan. 22 and 23.

Mrs. Altman was sponsored by Sigma Alpha Mu, Carson 2 and Alpha Tau Omega; Mrs. Hawkins, by Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Alpha Theta; Mrs. Schuppel by Alpha Phi, and Mrs. Siegmund by Carson 5, Hale Kane and Sigma Chi.

The other semi-finalists for the title were Mary Fowler Akers, Bunny Ivory Hetrick, Kay Moore Stager, Ann Armstrong Wilson, Diane Hawes and Joan Fuller.

The Dad's Day hostess is traditionally a married woman, either a student or the wife of a student at Oregon.

ASUO Senate Fills Vacancies

Appointments to various campus positions occupied most of the senate meeting when Doyle Higdon, freshman in liberal arts, was selected to the vacant senate-at-large position; Tom Gaines, sophomore in speech, was chosen as yell king, and Don Rotenberg, junior in chemistry, was appointed as student court chairman.

Petitions for rally board chairman were called for after Paul Lasker, senior class president, pointed out that according to the rally board constitution, the present chairman's term ended fall term and petitions were to have been called for two weeks before the end of fall term.

Tax Studied

The rally board chairman will be selected by the senate and the rally board in turn will fill the vacancies on the board and yell squad with the help of senate rally committee members.

Bob Summers and Jim Light reported on talks with C. Ward Macy, head of the economics department, concerning tax bill changes which were brought to the attention of the senate by a letter from the University of Louisville.

The letter advocated the bill to be proposed by Senator Maybank of South Carolina which would allow education expenses to be added to medical expenses. If this total was in excess of five per cent of the total income, it would be deductible for tax purposes.

What was termed as a more realistic proposal was finally approved by the group who instructed Summers and Light to prepare a letter to send to congress. The proposal would call for a $700 tax free base income instead of the present $600 a person may earn before he is taxed. The letter will also suggest raising the age of dependency from 18 to whenever a person graduates from college.

The motion for the letter went through several parliamentary procedures. A motion to postpone it made by Ben Schmidt was defeated as was a motion to table made by Schmidt. Schmidt, Tom Shepherd and Hollis Ransom went on record as no favoring action until further study of the question had been made.

The senate voted to purchase liability insurance for the "O" on Skinner's Butte as promised in the approval for rebuilding of the landmark by the Eugene city council.

Two constitution changes were proposed by ASUO Pres. Tom Wrightson. Al Oppliger was chosen chairman of a committee to study the changes which would involve freshman election procedure and filling of graduate student vacancies. Committee members are Jim Light, Gordon Rice and Hollis Ransom.

Lecturer Stresses Plight of Japan

"When Perry opened Japan's doors 100 years ago, he created a moral responsibility for the United States—that moral responsibility remains today," Nobutaka Ike told his Perry Centennial audience Thursday night.

Painting a pessimistic picture of contemporary Japan, Ike, Far Eastern librarian at Stanford university, stressed the need for dynamic Japanese leadership, but admitted that he lacked faith in the present government of Japan.

The democracy that was given to the Japanese by the Allies has served to diffuse the power. Gone is the strength of the Japanese leaders who brought their country out of isolationism, he said. Now it is certain that power groups would stall the government to protect personal interests.

Marxism Embraced

"Today there is a good deal of anti-American sentiment among the intellectuals," said Ike, adding that much of this feeling comes from Japanese who have embraced the Marxist doctrine. He pointed to a growing interest in Marxism in all parts of Asia.

He said that many of the magazines in Japan are controlled by Marxists. The fact that these publications are opposed to the present conservative government, which they consider pro-American, was another reason given by Ike for the weak government.

Three Concerts Open To Public This Weekend

A series of three concerts, all open to the public, will be featured at the fourth annual conference on music education, scheduled to open on campus today. The conference, sponsored by the school of music, will last through Saturday.

The combined University groups of the symphony orchestra, concert band and Singers will present a concert tonight in the Student Union ballroom.

Saturday, the Los Angeles Woodwinds will be presented in the Student Union ballroom under the sponsorship of the Failing Distinguished lecture committee. The group will present a second concert Sunday in the school of music auditorium.

Sponsor Lecture

The Failing series is also sponsoring a lecture on "Contemporary Music in Europe" in conjunction with the conference.

Registration in the SU opened the conference at 8:30 this morning. An open house at the school of music and clinics by the Woodwinds followed.

At 1:15 this afternoon Robert Vagner is scheduled to lead the Junction City high school band in a session on rehearsal techniques for high school bands.

Other sessions planned for the day include one on junior high school music, string rehearsal techniques and a clinic by the Woodwinds. A voice seminar and an open forum, conducted by J. Russell Bodley.

Primary Grades

Saturday morning Alice Snyder, assistant professor of music education at San Francisco State college, will conduct a meeting on music resources for primary grades. Also on the agenda are a choral reading session by the University Singers and a clinic on Woodwinds, strings and French horns by the Woodwinds.

Mrs. Snyder will speak in the afternoon on "Enriching the Music Program in Grades Four Through Eight." Sessions on contest-festival and new music reading for junior high school and high school bands and rehearsals and conducting techniques will also be held Saturday afternoon.

Concluding the conference will be an open forum on voice, led by Exine Anderson Bodley, Herman Gelhausen, associate professor of voice, and Clyde Keutzer, associate professor of music. Mrs. Snyder and Robert Nye, associate professor of music education, will conduct a session on music education.

The meeting on bass instruments will be led by Ira Lee, assistant professor of brass instruments and the one on string instruments by George Boughton, associate professor of violin, and Milton Dietrich, assistant professor of music.
