

Phi Delts Win Second in Row

Phi Delta Theta's smooth working basketweavers scored their second straight intramural victory Thursday afternoon and established themselves as one of the favorites to go all the way to championship heights when they clipped an out-manned Pi Kappa Alpha five, 35-21.

Led by forward Harry Johnson and center Larry Hibbard the Phi Delts grabbed an early lead and held it all the way. Johnson rammed home 13 points and Hibbard added 10 more for the winners, while Rines tallied nine to head the losers' scoring column.

In other Thursday games, Campbell Club breezed past the Legal Eagles, 31-11, Northwest Christian College walloped Philadelphia House, 49-13, Phi Sigma Kappa edged Kappa Sigma, 24-21, and Sigma Chi won over Theta Chi, 27-19. In the other scheduled game of the day Alpha Tau Omega came out victorious over Delta Tau Delta by forfeit.

Campbell Club had a very hard time getting started against the rangy Legal Eagle squad but got rolling in the second half to pull away to a decisive win. Elmer Jones potted 11 points to pace the Campbell Clubbers and Don Dunn hit six counters for the Eagles.

N. C. C. Impressive
Northwest Christian College, playing their first basketball game in the intramural program, showed that they will be a pushover for absolutely no one as they completely smothered a surprised Philadelphia House quint. Smith hit the hemp for 10 markers for the victors while Dick Proctor pushed home nine for the Phillies.

In the closest game of the day Phi Sigma Kappa broke away to a 12-7 halftime lead and then held on gamely to withstand an ever threatening Kappa Sigma squad in the second half for their three point victory. Roger Miller stole the spotlight in the game as he scored baskets from all angles to amass an 18 point total for the game. Jack Murray and Dave Stringer hit eight apiece for the Kappa Sigs.

Phillips Hot
Sigma Chi and Theta Chi staged what appeared to be a grudge battle as they fought tooth and nail all the way before the Sigs finally came out with their hard earned win. Ron Phillips of the winners led all scorers for the game with 18 markers. Dick James led his Theta Chi teammates with six points.

Webfoot Quint Faces WSC

Hoping to put themselves in contention for the Northern Division basketball crown, Bill Borchers' University of Oregon squad will take on the Washington State Cougars Friday and Saturday nights at Pullman, Washington.

At present all five teams in the N. D. race are in a tie for first place so if the Ducks could come through with two victories over Jack Friel's Cougars they would be assured of a tie for the top place in the standings.

The Webfoots have had more than a week's rest since their last contest and should be in top shape for the WSC series.

Washington State, which managed to split a pair with the Washington Huskies last weekend, will go into the game as the underdog against the visiting Oregon team.

Bennink Out
Friel's hoopsters, wanting very much to better last year's celler finish in the league, will be playing without the services of star forward Ron Bennink who has been ill all week long and is not expected to play against the Ducks.

Bennink's loss to the Cougars will definitely be felt. The scrappy forward has been the sparkplug for his team all year long and without him Friel will have lost much of his scoring punch. Bennink has averaged better than twenty points per game in the first two Cougar N. D. battles.

The Ducks, with guard Ken Wegner and forward Jerry Ross back at top strength, hope to give their opponents plenty of trouble with their fast break attack.

Ross To Start
Borchers will probably open the Friday night game with Ross and Ed Halberg at the forward spots;

Max Anderson at center; and Wegner and Barney Holland in the backcourt.

While Oregon and WSC are matching punches, another Northern Division series pits Oregon State's Beavers against Washington in Seattle. The Beavers and Huskies both have won one and one lost records so the team that comes out on top between them, along with the victor of the Oregon-WSC games, will jump to the forefront in the pennant chase.

BARNEY HOLLAND AND BOB HAWES, Oregon's speedy guards, hope to give the WSC Cougars all kinds of trouble tonight and Saturday when the Ducks meet Jack Friel's Pullman quint.

Ducklings Prep For Rook Clash

The Oregon Frosh basketballers, still untried this season in actual play, continued preparations, Thursday afternoon, for their opening clash next Friday night, January 22, with the Oregon State Rooks.

Highlight of the practice was a full game scrimmage with the strong Everybody's Drug independent team of Eugene. The Drugists held a 53-44 lead when the final whistle sounded and the closeness of the game showed that the Ducklings will prove tough for all comers this season.

Last Friday night at Corvallis the Drugmen put the stopper to the Rooks by a lop-sided score of 64-38 so from this, basketball fans can get a comparison of the Ducklings and O. S. C. this year.

Leading the Frosh in scoring during the scrimmage was big center Frank Warner and pint-sized guard Rich Costi.

Don Kirsch's team trailed their opponents most of the way but never by very many points.

Previous to this contest the Oregon Freshmen ran through pregame warm-up routines and scrimmaged among themselves.

Kirsch plans a heavy drill for the team Friday afternoon with a lay-off slated for the weekend.

From indications so far it looks as if the starting line-up for the baby Ducks in their first game will be Phil McHugh and Don McClain at the forward spots; Warner at center; and Costi and Bob Anderson in the guard slots.

Following is an Oregon Frosh basketball schedule for this season.

- Jan. 22 O. S. C. Rooks, Eugene
- 23 Philco, Eugene
- 29 O. S. C. Rooks, Corvallis
- 30 Clark Junior Col, Eugene
- Feb. 2 Everybody's Drug, Eugene
- 3 Linfield J.V., Eugene
- 5 Reedsport All-Stars, Reedsport
- 6 Grants Pass Stars, Grants Pas
- 26 O. S. C. Rooks, Eugene
- 27 O. S. C. Rooks

Ski Movie Showings

A movie on safe skiing will be shown Wednesday, Jan. 27, in Commonwealth 138, sponsored by the Ski club and the Campus Red Cross club.

There will be two showings, at 7 and 9 p. m. Alan Lindley of the Eugene Ski club will speak and Dolph James, of station KORE will also attend the meeting.

Duck Wrestlers Slate Match

Oregon's varsity wrestlers, after absorbing a beating from OTI last Saturday, intend to improve their form when they tackle the "Pioneer" wrestling team from Lewis and Clark college in McArthur Court at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

Although Lewis and Clark did not make an outstanding performance last year, they have the potentiality of turning in a possible upset this year.

If the Duck grapplers continue to improve the way they have in practice, they should be able to give the Pioneer team an even match. Coaches Hammer and Derman have been working with the team on the basic principles and putting them through more rigorous drills. The probable lineup for Saturday will be: 123 - Akebi, 130 - Klampe, 137 - Williams, 147 - Shirley, 157 - Wilson, 167 - Reid, 177 - Woyat, and Unlimited - Barker.

While the varsity has been working on the drills the frosh team has been working on various toe holds and control positions. The Frosh team have a meet scheduled with Springfield on Tuesday night.

"This is water ON a Duck's back"

—quacked the Oregon duck as he waddled down 13th from puddle to puddle.

"Quack! love this rain," he said as a car drove by and splashed mud on his books. "Much more of this and I'm going to find a dry nest—that is if mother duck will let me away from some of these campus activities."

After careful study the duck decided that a good nest during the rain was
