

'ACQUAINT FOREIGN STUDENTS'

Fun Fest Slate Includes Dance

The ninth annual International Fun Fest will begin Saturday at 1 p. m. with registration in Gerlinger hall. A tea and reception will take place at 2 p. m. followed by campus tours for off campus students.

All students are urged to attend and bring their Dads stressed general chairman, Betti Fackler. "The object of the Fun Fest," she declared, "is to better acquaint the foreign students with their fellow students." Some foreign students will attend in costume.

A student panel discussion led by Dr. Carlisle Moore will start at 5 p. m. with the forum discussing "Crazy Customs in America." Following the forum a dinner will be served in the sun porch with food prepared by the Mandarin Cafe.

Foreign students will sit in a block of seats at the Saturday night Oregon-Washington basketball game. Following the game a social hour will be held on the third floor of Gerlinger. The entertainment will feature a pinata according to Jean Sandine and Louis De Alba, entertainment chairmen.

Fees are 50 cents for registration and $1 for dinner. All students who would like to attend and did not receive a registration card should call the YWCA office, according to Sue French, registration chairman. Students wishing to attend the dinner should call in their reservations sometime Wednesday.

Students from every campus in Oregon have been invited to the Fun Fest.

Southern U Dean to Speak In SU Ballroom Today

"Christianity and Race Relations" will be the topic of the address by Martin Harvey, dean of students at Southern university in Baton Rouge, La., today at 1 p. m. in the Student Union ballroom.

Harvey, speaking in conjunction with Religious Evaluation week on campus, has traveled widely speaking to youth groups. In 1938, he traveled around the world to study youth movements in over 60 countries.

The RE week schedule for Tuesday and for Wednesday morning is as follows:

TUESDAY

Theme: "God and Man"

- 7:30 a. m. — Chapel meditation, alumni hall, Gerlinger, Father Archibald McDowell.
- 9 a. m. — Address: "Knowledge and Relief," Rev. Edwin Becker, SU dad's lounge.
- 10 a. m. — Address: "Faith," Rev. Otto Bremer, SU dad's lounge.

- 11 a. m. to noon — Personal conferences, SU 213.
- Noon — No-host luncheon honoring Father McDowell and Rev. Earl Cranston, SU 110.

Houses Slate RE Firesides

Several living organizations will hear the Religious Evaluation week speakers at informal fireside discussions tonight, following dinners, in the second day of RE week firesides.

Some of the houses have been paired to enable more students to hear one of the visiting speakers. The schedule for tonight is as follows:

- Martin Harvey — Alpha Tau Omega and Chi Omega, at Chi Omega.
- Rev. Earl Cranston — Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
- Rabbi Joshua Stampfer — Ann Judson house.
- Rev. Otto Bremer — Sigma Nu and Gamma Phi Beta, at Gamma Phi Beta.
- T. Z. Koo — Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma, at Kappa Alpha Theta.
- Rev. Robert Fitch — Delta Gamma and Delta Tau Delta, at Delta Gamma.
- Rev. Edwin Becker — Phi Delta Theta.

- 110.
- 1 p. m. — Assembly: "Christianity and Race Relations" Martin Harvey, SU ballroom.
- 2 to 4 p. m. — Personal conferences, SU 213.

- 8 a. m. to noon — Speakers in classrooms.
- Noon — No-host luncheon honoring Rabbi Joshua Stampfer and Rev. Edwin Becker, SU 110.

This year's RE week is the fourth one held on this campus. However, similar programs had been held previously, the first one in 1938.

Last year's program followed the theme, "One World or None." In 1952, the week took an international and inter-faith air, with the theme, "Parliament of World Religions."

At the first RE week, in 1951, the noted scientist Robert Millikan was the featured speaker.

Hostesses

Voting booths in the Student Union and the Co-op will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Thursday for selection of the Dad's Day hostess, according to Kay Partch, chairman of the hostess selection committee.

The hostess, traditionally a married woman, either a University student or the wife of a student, will be selected from four finalists.

The finalists will all be guests at the Dad's Day luncheon Saturday noon and the hostess will also be presented at half-time of the Oregon-University of Washington game Saturday night.

Interviews of the four finalists, Barbara Keelen Altman, Elynor Robblee Schuppel, Cathy Tribe Siegmund and Nancy Miller Hawkins, follow.

Barbara Keelen Altman

Barbara Keelen Altman, the candidate of Alpha Tau Omega, Carson 2 and Sigma Alpha Mu, was president of the campus YWCA last spring term and the beginning of this fall term.

A member of Kappa Alpha Theta, she was a counselor in Carson hall for two terms last year, and is now serving on the Co-op board.

She is now a senior in business, and her husband, Bob is a first-year law student. Mrs. Altman is employed at the downstairs bowling alley of the student union.

Elynor Robblee Schuppel

Alpha Phi's candidate for Dad's Day hostess, Elynor Robblee Schuppel, was a finalist for the title of Betty Co-ed last year, and was on the rally board.

Her husband, Bill, is in his third year at the architecture school, and Ellie is planning to return to school spring term as an economics major.

She is a member of Alpha Phi, and she is now working full-time at the Eugene First National bank.

Cathy Tribe Siegmund

Sigma Chi, Carson 5 and Hale Kane are the sponsors of Cathy Tribe Siegmund, who was in last year's Junior Weekend court. She is now president of the campus YWCA, and her husband, Don, is in the service. He was a junior here last year, majoring in business.

Mrs. Siegmund is a business major, and she works at the Mutual of Omaha insurance office. She is also a member of Alpha Phi.

Nancy Miller Hawkins

Nancy Miller Hawkins, Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon's candidate, was, in her freshman year, on the rally squad and was also named Snow Queen of the Northwest at Sun Valley.

In her sophomore year she was in the Homecoming court, and at present she is not enrolled in school. She works full-time at the registrar's office.

Her husband, Paul, is a senior, majoring in business.

Barbershop Quartet

The Student Union barbershop quartet contest, a feature of Dad's weekend, will include quartets entered by Beta Theta Pi, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Psi Chi, psychology honorary. Guest

One of the four finalists for Dad's Day hostess will be chosen official hostess for the weekend by students in an all-campus election Thursday. Pictured above are, seated, Cathy Tribe Siegmund and Nancy Miller Hawkins. Standing are Barbara Keelen Altman and Elynor Robblee Schuppel.

Sign Contest

Signs for this year's Dad's Day will feature jingles, poems, or clever sayings, stated Phil Lynch, chairman of the event.

This change from the art work of the past was made because of the work involved in making the Homecoming and Junior Weekend signs. It was also felt that the dads would like something a little different, Lynch said.

The signs may be set up in any way, but must be 25 words or less and relate to the theme of "King for a Day." A list of the rules has been sent to the presidents of the living organizations.

Dads from around the state will be judges for the contest to be held late Friday afternoon.

Other events for the weekend include two basketball games with the University of Washington Huskies. Friday night will also be the finals for the Barbershop Quartet contest.

The Dad's Day luncheon is scheduled for Saturday noon. Tickets are on sale at the Student Union main desk and are $1.25 each. Students should get tickets as soon as possible, as they will only be on sale until Thursday, urged Barbara Wilcox, luncheon chairman.

Gov. Paul Patterson will be the main speaker and University Interim President Victor P. Morris will also speak.

First and second place winners of the Barbershop Quartet contest will provide entertainment at the luncheon.

Delivery Expanded

Copies of the Emerald were delivered to most living organizations on campus Monday noon for the first time since last spring term when the paper was reduced to four pages.

The new distribution system is being carried out by Emerald staff members in an attempt to increase readership of the campus daily. Previously the papers had been available at only seven distribution spots on campus.

Four ASUO Posts Open to Petitioners

Petitions to fill the positions of ASUO vice-pres., rally board chairman, senior class vice-president, and two student court vacancies are due in the ASUO office Thursday at 5 p. m.

The ASUO vice-president's office was vacated when Don Collin left school. Under provisions of the ASUO constitution, vacancies are filled by a ballot of the full senate after candidates have been interviewed. Any University student with senior standing or graduate standing is eligible for the vice-presidency.

Elsie Schiller left her position of senior class vice-president open when she resigned to take over as editor of the Emerald. Al Goldenberg's chairmanship of the rally board expired fall term.

Sophomores are urged by Don Rotenberg, new court chairman, to petition for student court positions.

quartets will include the Tri Delt girl's quartet and the Timber Tones.

A gold trophy will be awarded the first place winner, and the first and second place winners will be featured at the Dad's day luncheon and other campus events throughout the year.

Tickets to the contest will be included with the luncheon tickets obtained at the SU main desk,

Monday through Thursday. Friday from 8 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. tickets will be given to any University Student upon request. Students may obtain tickets only on Friday due to the limited seating capacity of the SU ballroom where the contest is to be held.

The contest will start at 10:30 p. m. Friday after the basketball game and will last approximately an hour.
