

Ducks At Home; Face Washington

Coach Bill Borchers ran his varsity reserves through an hour of offensive practice Monday and then watched the freshmen drill as both teams prepared for weekend basketball clashes.

The varsity regulars got a day of rest but will work hard the rest of the week to get ready for the invading University of Washington Huskies. The freshmen will make their season's debut Friday against the OSC Rooks and continue against the Philco AAU team from Portland on Saturday.

Score Aggies

Washington will come to Eugene with a team that has won but a single contest this year — and that against WSC. However, the Huskies are rated anything but pushovers and last week very nearly upset the highly touted Oregon State team in a pair at Seattle.

In the first game the Beavers pulled away in the fourth quarter for a 61-49 win and held on in the second contest to squeak through 54-51. An interesting feature was that Dean Parsons, 6'7" Washington center who prepped at Eugene, outscored Swede Halbrook in both contests and it was only the hook shooting of Tony Vlastelica that saved the Aggies from defeat.

Dinky Shines

Parson, though not of the stature of Bob Houbregs, has been filling in very capably for "Hooks." Prior to the OSC series Big Dean had averaged over 18 points a contest, had over a .500 shooting percentage from the field and was way ahead of the rest of the Huskies in snagging rebounds.

Other Huskies to watch are Captain Don Tripp, one of the two seniors on the squad; Carl Voegtlin, a 6'4" hoph who has added a spark to the Washington club lately; junior guard Jerry Johnson, and sophs Bob Bryan, Don Olsen, Ron Patnoe, and Doyle Perkins.

Up until this season Coach Tippy Dye's Washington teams had won 79 while losing but 15 for a percentage of .840, including 11 of 12 from Oregon. They figure to have the tables reversed this year though and if the Huskies could manage to wind up in third place, Dye will have done a remarkable job.

DEAN PARSONS, two-year letterman from Eugene, will handle the pivot for Washington when Tippy Dye's Huskies face Oregon in a two game set this Friday and Saturday. Parsons stands 6'7", weighs 225, and sports a size 17 shoe.

Grapplers Win From Pioneers

Oregon's wrestlers, although still lacking some of the finesse of the mat trade, nevertheless showed a world of aggressiveness and improvement last Saturday in slipping past the Lewis and Clark Pioneers, 20-18, McArthur court.

Oregon got in a hole as the match began, forfeiting the first two events to the Portland foes. Oregon retaliated with a forfeit of its own, however, and then went way out in front on three consecutive pins by Bob Shirley, Roland Wilson, and Bob Reid.

Oregon lost the last two events, but the Pioneers couldn't catch Coach Bill Hammer's boys.

Actually, Oregon pinned Lewis and Clark thrice, while going down only once.

The Webfoots further delighted the afternoon turnout by taking the three exhibition matches. Ken Kesey, Neil Butler and Bob Williams won the "non-counting" events.

The Ducks were much improved over their last performance, when they bowed to the Oregon Tech grapplers without scoring a point.

Sig Eps, Chi Psi, Merrick, Triumph

Three basketball games made up the intramural sports scene Tuesday, as Delta Tau Delta met Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Kappa Sigma vied with Chi Psi, and French hall played Merrick hall.

Sigma Phi Epsilon rolled to a fourth quarter 17-14 victory over Delta Tau Delta in a very close game. The game started out very slowly, with the first quarter score being 2-3, and the halftime score being opped to only 4-4. In the third quarter, both teams again scored the same amount of points, ending the period tied at 8-8, a pile with a 15-9 win. This game also got off to a slow start, with the first quarter and halftime scores being 4-3 in favor of the Phi Kaps, and tied 5-5. In the third quarter, the Phi Kaps moved quickly to a commanding six point lead while holding their opponents scoreless.

The fourth period saw a reversal of the first quarter score with Chi Psi adding four points to their score for a total of nine while Phi Kappa Sigma scored only three, for a final total of 15. High point honors for Chi Psi went to four different players, each scoring two-counters. Phi Kaps high scorer was Washier who dumped in a total of five points.

The final game saw two freshman teams playing in what proved to be the smoothest going game of the day. Merrick hall and French hall battled to a 23-15 final, with Merrick emerging the victor. The scores went 3-7, 5-13, 9-17, and 23-15, with Merrick being in command all of the way. As the scores plainly show, the Frenchmen were outplayed throughout the game, and couldn't hit from the floor at all. Mark Anderson was the high point man for the game, having four field goals to his credit for a total of eight points. Bob Shepherd scored six points for French.

low third quarter total. The fourth and final period definitely told the tale as far as the Sig Eps were concerned, with the Blue and Gold scoring nine counters to the Deltas six for a final total of 17-14.

In the second contest of the afternoon, Phi Kappa Sigma maintained a commanding lead for most of their game with Chi Psi, and came out on top of the
