

Light Snow Flurries . . .

. . . were forecast for early this morning by the weather bureau. A high temperature of 32 degrees and a low of 27 degrees are forecast for today. Wednesday temperatures ranged from a low of 20 degrees to a high of 30 degrees.

Ed Halberg . . .

. . . rangy forward, is currently shooting away at Northern Division hoops with a phenomenal 610 average. Dead-eye Ducks also lead in other statistic departments. See sport page 3.

VOL. LV

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, THURSDAY, JANUARY 21, 1954

NO. 69

Koo Gives Views Of Spiritual Life

"Spiritual life can be expressed as moving from man toward God," said T. Z. Koo, Religious Evaluation week speaker, in the Student Union browsing room lecture Wednesday night.

"It is a rich experience to travel through life toward God, and still be in touch with man. One has peace of mind; one looks at the physical world with a new set of values," said Koo.

The Chinese scholar, statesman and churchman listed four environments through which man travels in his journey toward God. The four stages, drawn from Chinese social and ethical background, are the physical world, utilitarian world, ethical world and spiritual world.

"Self is the keynote in the first two worlds," said Koo. The physical stage is concerned with self-preservation, while self-gratification is the aim of the utilitarian world.

However, in the ethical stage,

Low GPA Imperils Lynch's Position

The position of Phil Lynch as president of Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's service honorary, was in some doubt Wednesday. Lynch failed to make a 2 point GPA fall term, according to Si Ellingson, counselor for men.

Under University regulations, students who fail to meet the minimum academic requirements are ineligible to hold campus activity positions. Ellingson told the Emerald that he assumed this ruling would apply to Lynch's case.

When contacted by the Emerald, Skull and Dagger Vice-Pres. Bob Maier said that he had not previously heard that Lynch had failed to make his grades. Maier said Lynch had asked him earlier this term to take over some of the duties of president.

Maier expected clarification of Lynch's status to be made sometime this week. He has called a Skull and Dagger meeting to be held at 7 p. m. today at Phi Kappa Psi.

Lynch was out of town and unable to be contacted by the Emerald.

Campus Votes Today For Dad's Day Hostess

Voting for Dad's Day hostess takes place today in booths at the Co-op and Student Union. The booths will be open until 5 p. m. Students voting must show their student union body cards.

The finalists for hostess are Barbara Keelen Altman, Elynor Robblee Schuppel, Cathy Tribe Siegmund and Nancy Miller Hawkins.

There will be a special reserved section at the Friday and Saturday night basketball games for dads and students accompanying dads. Dads will get in on general admission tickets, on sale at the registration desk of the Student Union for $1.20.

The Barbershop Quartet contest will take place after the game Friday night. Tickets are available at the main desk of the Student Union with the presentation of a luncheon ticket. Friday morning tickets will be available to self recedes and the keynote is a feeling of mutuality, explained the speaker. In the fourth and highest state, there is a combination of heaven and earth. The person becomes "one with God," he said. "The aim here is selflessness."

"When the individual reaches the last two stages, he does not abandon the first two, the physical worlds. Rather he views them with a new set of values," Koo stated.

Koo's address on "Spiritual Honesty" was the third in a group of talks Wednesday for RE week on "Responsibilities to Oneself."

His appearance on campus during RE week was in conjunction with the University Christian Mission, which assisted the RE week committee in choosing the Protestant speakers.

Fun Fest Slated For Saturday

All students are urged to take their fathers to the International Fun Fest Saturday, Betti Fackler, general chairman, has stressed. The ninth annual celebration will begin with registration at 1 p. m. Saturday in Gerlinger hall.

At 2 p. m. there will be a tea and a reception, with campus tours for students from other schools. Foreign students will attend in their national costumes.

"Crazy Customs in America" will be discussed by a student panel at 5 p. m. Carlisle Moore, associate professor of English, will lead the discussion. Food prepared by the Mandarin cafe will be served at a dinner on the Gerlinger sun porch following the forum.

A special block of seats for the basketball game Saturday night has been reserved for foreign students. A social hour will follow the game.

Entertainment scheduled includes a Mexican pinata, the Delta Delta quartet and a dancing exhibition by Luis DeAlba and Rita Kenyon.

Registration fees are 50 cents, Sue French, registration chairman, has announced. A fee of $1 will be charged for the dinner.

those not going to the luncheon.

Only the first place winners of the Quartet contest will sing at the Saturday luncheon, not the first and second place winners as previously stated. Other entertainment at the luncheon will be songs by Dorothy Anderson and Doug Stobie. The Phi Delt combo will also play, according to Barbara Wilcox, luncheon chairman.

All the tickets for the luncheon were sold by Wednesday afternoon. Dress for the luncheon will be short silks for the women and suits for the men, Miss Wilcox stated.

Trophies for the winners of the sign contest and registration will be presented during half time Saturday night's game. They will be presented by Phil Lewis and Mary Wilson, co-chairmen of the weekend; Gordon Wilson, president of the Dads' club and the official hostess.

ROUTINE WORK

Court Holds Quiet Meet; One Case

The student court held one of its quietest meetings in recent weeks Wednesday evening, with only one student appearing before the group.

Marilyn Patterson, senior in speech, was fined $1 for parking in a yellow zone in the Student Union lot. Other than that case, the entire meeting was taken up with routine work, including the processing of tickets.

The court operated with only three members, the other two positions being vacant because of the resignation of Carl Weber, former court chairman, and Dick Gray, who did not return to school this term.

These vacancies will be filled tonight with the approval of two new members by the ASUO senate. Petitions for the two vacancies are due at 5 p. m. today in the Student Union. Only two petitions for the vacant positions had been received by Wednesday evening, according to Don Rotenberg, chairman of the court.

Court members present at Wednesday's meeting included Rotenberg, Art Middleton and Sylvia Wingard. Rotenberg was appointed chairman of the court last week by ASUO Pres. Tom Wrightson upon the recommendation of Weber, and was approved by the senate last Thursday.

'Moon' Tickets Almost Gone

The University Theater box office will open Monday at 1 p. m. to sell any tickets to "The Moon is Blue," that are left, Mrs. Gene Wiley, theater business manager has announced. Season ticket orders are now in, and some mid-week dates may be available, she said.

F. Hugh Herbert's controversial adult comedy will be done in the arena theater under the direction of Horace W. Robinson, associate professor of speech.

Double-cast as the only woman in the play are Gloria Lee, junior in speech, and Helene Robertson, freshman in liberal arts. Cast as Don Gresham, the young architect, are Donald McDonald, sophomore in speech, and Harry Smith, senior in speech. Clarence Suiter, senior in speech, will portray David Slater, the roue.

RE Week to End; Last Panel Today

Religious Evaluation week ends today with the eight speakers in a panel discussion, "The Challenge," at 2 p. m. in the Student Union dad's lounge.

The schedule of events for this afternoon following the theme, "Responsibility to God," is as follows:

- Noon — No-host luncheon honoring T. Z. Koo, Martin Harvey and all sponsoring groups, SU 110.
 - 1 p. m. — Address: "What is Prayer? How to Pray? What to Pray?" Rev. Earl Cranston, SU dad's lounge.
 - 2 p. m. — Panel discussion by the speakers, "The Challenge," SU dad's lounge.
- Religious books are also on display on the SU second floor, according to Shirley Soble, book display chairman.

DuShane Objects To New SU Plan

Why does the Student Union board wish to change its present method of selecting new school representatives to the board?

That was the question posed in board meeting Wednesday by Donald DuShane, director of student affairs. Discussion resulted in a tabling of the proposed changes in the board's perpetuation plan.

The revised plan, which would have had its first reading Wednesday, was sent back to the board executive committee for further study.

Changes in the present system of board selection call for the entire board membership to interview and recommend prospective members.

This would eliminate a joint AS-

UO-SU board committee which previously has screened school representative applicants. Recommendations from this committee then go to the university president for approval.

In raising objection to the proposed changes, DuShane said that the suggested plan would make the board practically self-perpetuating.

"There is value in retaining the present plan, which has given the board members of high quality so far," he said.

The changes were being considered, Chairman Andy Berwick said, because the board felt its position important enough for the board itself, rather than a joint committee, to select its successors.

Berwick also pointed out that the ASUO president and himself could, in effect, name the new board members, by virtue of their respective appointments to the joint screening committee.

Such a change in the perpetuation plan has been suggested in past years, Berwick said.

Maintaining that "retention of ASUO in the machinery is the important thing," DuShane suggested that the board might act as an intermediary committee to pass on the joint committee's recommendations before they go to the University president for approval.

Under DuShane's plan, the joint screening committee would select two applicants for the entire SU board to pass on.

Discussion of the plan came up when Malcolm Montague, third-year law student, reporting from a committee appointed last week to study proposed changes, read the group's suggested revisions in the plan.

If the plan did go through, changes also would have to be made in the ASUO constitution, DuShane said. It, too, provides for a joint screening committee.

One change proposed by Montague's committee was not tabled with the other suggested revisions.

Receiving its first reading Wednesday, this change in an amendment clause states:

"The aforementioned amendment (dealing with the method of amending the perpetuation plan), upon adoption, shall become effective after approval by the university president."

(Please turn to page two)

Quartet Will Perform Mozart, Beethoven

String Quartets by Mozart, Kodaly and Beethoven will be presented by the Budapest String Quartet at 8 p. m. today in the Student Union ballroom. The concert is sponsored by the Failing distinguished lecture committee and the Student Union board.

Appearing with the quartet will be Joseph Roisman, first violin; Jac Gorodetzky, second violin; Boris Kroyt, viola and Mischa Schneider, violincello.

Opening the program will be "String Quartet in E-flat Major" by Mozart. Also included in the concert are Kodaly's "String Quartet, Op. 10, No. 2" and Beethoven's "String Quartet in E-Minor, Op. 59, No. 2."

All tickets for the concert were gone Tuesday, SU board Secretary Donna Shaffer reported. Admission to the concert is free, but by ticket only because of the limited seating capacity of the ballroom.

The group presents over 100 concerts each year, including numerous performances at the Library of Congress and Mills college. In 1950 they toured Europe for the first time since 1939 and they are currently planning a tour to Japan, which they last visited in 1952.

The Quartet has become famous for its recordings of quartets by Brahms, Mozart, Beethoven and other masters. Approximately 30-0,000 of their records are sold each year.

Despite the name of the Quartet, none of the participating musicians is a Hungarian. All four are Russians by birth and Americans by citizenship. Originally the Quartet was Hungarian, but since 1936 no Hungarian has appeared with the Quartet.