

Funk Elected ASUO Veep

Bob Funk, second year law student, was elected ASUO vice president by the senate Thursday in a meeting marked by vocal and parliamentary arguments.

Funk, who replaces Don Collin, was one of three petitioners for the office. Hollis Ransom, senior in political science, and Ben Schmidt, senior in speech, were the other petitioners.

Kitty Fraser, senior in journalism, was elected senior class vice president. Sally Stadelman, sophomore in sociology, was elected rally board chairman.

Battle Starts

It was with Miss Stadelman's selection that the senate battles started. Paul Lasker, senior class president and chairman of the rally board committee, proposed to make the yell king and rally board chairman one and the same.

The proposal brought mixed senatorial reactions. Two motions, one to postpone the selection and one to appoint an interim chairman were defeated by the senate. It was pointed out that the senate has the power to change the rally board if it sees fit.

The next argument occurred over the much-debated senate endorsement of student tax exemption. Bob Summers, senator at large, moved that the previous vote, favoring the measure, be rescinded and expunged from the minutes. It was accepted.

Congress Watched

Jim Light, junior class president, then proposed that he and Summers, the tax investigating committee, watch congressional action on the matter. If congress is considering a bill which the ASUO senate wishes to indorse, he and Summers would then write to congress expressing the senate's approval of the bill.

Objecting to the proposal was Ben Schmidt, senior class representative. Schmidt maintained that the senate had no right to lobby in the U.S. congress because Oregon is a tax supported institution and most of its students come from the upper economic levels.

The senate went on record as opposing the change in the Student Union board perpetuation plan. The change would do away with the ASUO-SU joint screening committee. The motion passed by a large majority.

The passage of the motion by such a large majority, prompted Hollis Ransom, senator-at-large to say that he thought many proposals were being "railroaded" through the senate without proper discussion. He pleaded with the senate to think more carefully before voting on issues in the future.

The next argument occurred when Summers presented a motion to the senate to establish a screening committee to interview petitioners before they reach the senate.

According to Summer's proposal, the committee would work when there are more than five petitioners for any one position. The committee would screen the applicants to not less than two, and not more than three, for appearance before the senate.

Schmidt then moved that the proposal be referred to a committee composed of Summers and Dick Bruce, graduate senator. The motion passed.

Announcement of Hostess Set for SU Ballroom Tonight

Tickets Available For Quartet Meet

Tickets for the first annual Barbershop Quartet contest, which will be held tonight in the Student Union ballroom following the Barbershop Quartet contest, may be obtained without charge at the SU main desk. Approximately 800 are available. Lucia Knepper, chairman, said Thursday evening.

Miss Knepper stressed that it is not necessary to purchase a ticket to the Dads' luncheon to obtain tickets for tonight's contest. The limited capacity of the ballroom requires that admission be by ticket only, she reported.

Participating in the contest will be quartets entered by Beta Theta Pi, Phi Kappa Psi, Psi Chi and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

A gold trophy will be awarded to the first place winner following the contest. The winning quartet will sing at the Dads' luncheon at noon Saturday.

Presentation of the Dads' Day Hostess will be made during the intermission of the contest, Chairman Kay Partch has announced. The official hostess was chosen from Barbara Keelan Altman, Nancy Miller Hawkins, Elynor Robblee Schuppel and Cathy Tribe Siegmund by an all-campus vote Thursday.

BA School Will Host Conference Thursday

The school of business administration will host Thursday to the annual West Central Oregon Business - Education conference. General theme of the meeting will be "The Business Community's Stake in Education."

Sponsoring the conference are the Chamber of Commerce, public schools, the National Association of Manufacturers, the Eugene General Extension division and the Northwestern Christian college.

Businessmen from all over the state have been invited to participate in the day-long event. A registration fee of $4 will be charged.

E. B. MacNaughton, chairman of the board of the First National Bank of Portland will address the luncheon meeting of the conference on "The Business Community's Stake in Education—How Can We Cope with the Problems?" Victor P. Morris, acting president of the University, will be chairman of the session.

Today Is Deadline For Athletic Cards

Students intending to attend tonight's basketball game with the University of Washington must pick up their winter term athletic cards before 5 p. m. today at the athletic business office in McArthur court.

The cards will not be issued during the game. Those students not presenting the current cards will be charged regular admission prices.

The cards may be picked up Saturday morning or next week, the department reports, but students waiting until then will not be able to attend this weekend's games.

Announcement of the Dad's Day Hostess will be made tonight at the Barbershop Quartet contest to be held in the Student Union ballroom immediately following the Oregon-Washington basketball game.

The Hostess was chosen Thursday in all-campus elections from the four finalists: Cathy Tribe Siegmund, Nancy Miller Hawkins, Elynor Robblee Schuppel and Barbara Keelan Altman.

Tickets for the contest will be available to students upon presentation of ASUO cards at the SU main desk until 8 p. m. today.

Sign Judging Set for 5 p. m.

Signs for the Dad's Day sign contest are to be completed at 5 p. m. today, and judging by Oregon dads will take place immediately following.

Signs are to contain jingles, poems or clever sayings of 25 words or less built around the weekend theme "King for a Day." No pictures are to be used.

Prizes for the contest will be awarded at half-time of the Saturday night basketball game in McArthur court. Last year the sign contest was won by Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The Dad's Day committee eliminated pictures from this year's sign contest to make the contest different from the Homecoming and Junior Weekend sign contests which traditionally stress pictorial matter.

IFC Elects Casper To Vice-presidency

Jim Casper, Chi Psi, was elected to the office of vice-president at the Inter-Fraternity council meeting Thursday night. Casper will fill a vacancy created when Ted Rubenstein, Sigma Alpha Mu, moved up to president.

Casper was elected on the third vote. The first vote was tied and in the second vote, the margin of victory was not a majority of the total IFC membership, so a third vote was necessary. The other candidate was John Greulich, Phi Delta Theta.

Ted Bouck of the athletic department spoke to the IFC on the white shirt section for upperclassmen and on changes which have been made. A special section at the south end was planned for freshmen, but Bouck said that only a handful of freshmen sat in the section and none wore rooster's lids.

Bouck warned that more checks of athletic cards will be conducted from time to time. Over 200 violations were discovered at the doubleheader played during Christmas vacation.

Lowell Schuck, Delta Upsilon president, also announced the theft of the front door of the new DU house.

Fun Fest Tickets on Sale Today For Saturday Dinner

Tickets for the YMCA-YWCA sponsored International Fun Fest dinner will be on sale through this evening. The dinner is scheduled for 5 p. m. Saturday.

The tickets may be purchased in living organizations, at the Student Union main desk, and at the YWCA office in Gerlinger hall for $1. They may also be purchased at the door if reservations are made with the YWCA office before 5 p. m. today.

The Fun-Forum" at 5 p. m. Saturday will be moderated by Leavitt O. Wright, professor of romance languages. European and Oriental students will be featured in a panel on "Crazy Customs in America."

The dinner, prepared by the Mandarin Cafe, will be served on the Gerlinger sun porch following the discussion.

Foreign students attending the Fun Fest will have a special block of seats reserved for them at Saturday night's game with Washington. Those not attending on athletic cards will be charged only 25 cents, according to special arrangements made with the athletic department.

A social hour will follow the game at 10 p. m. Entertainment from several foreign countries, American folk songs and a Mexican pinata will be featured. Participating in the program will be the Delta Delta Delta quartet and Rita Kenyon and Luis De Alba, with a dancing exhibition.

Registration for the sessions is 50 cents plus the cost of the dinner, Sue French, registration chairman stated. An admission charge of 25 cents will be charged for each single event.

Today Is Deadline For 'King' Names

The names of all candidates for King of Hearts must be turned in to Sharon Isaminger at Delta Gamma or Anne Hill at Sigma Kappa by 5 p. m. today. All living organizations may submit the name of a candidate.

Six finalists for the title will be chosen, and the winner will rule over the annual "Heart Hop." Last year's King of Hearts was Alan Babb.

Speaker from Brazil Will Visit UO Monday

Oregon students will hear the director of the Department of Cultural Affairs of the Pan American union in Washington, D. C. Monday at 3 p. m. in Commonwealth 138.

Erico Lopes Verissimo, Brazilian novelist, historian, teacher and lecturer, is touring the principal institutions of learning in the United States to establish and strengthen contacts with teachers and centers of Latin American studies. His purpose is to learn what assistance the Pan American union may be able to offer them.

Dr. Verissimo was born in Cruz Alta in 1905, is married and has two children. He has written novels, a life of Joan of Arc, a survey of Brazilian literature, adventure and travel fantasies and children's books. One of his novels which have been translated into English, "Consider the Lilies of the Field," was selected by the Book Club of Buenos Aires in 1938 and later made into a film.

This versatile man was educated at the Ginasio Cruzeiro do Sul in Porto Alegre, was literary consultant to a publishing house there, and lectured on Brazilian

Students Present TV Show in Villard

The first television show produced by Oregon students was presented Thursday on the closed TV circuit which has been set up in the Villard hall radio studio.

Student directors John Dugan, sophomore in speech and Douglas Stobie, senior in music, produced the shows. The productions are a part of the radio workshop class, directed by E. A. Kretsinger, assistant professor of speech.

Both of the 15 minute shows are only for instructional purposes. Complete equipment, including two cameras with related equipment and a receiving set, is available.

literature at the University of California. He was a member of the Casa Panamericana staff at Mills college and received a doctor of literature degree from there in 1944.

According to Edmundo Garcia-Giron, assistant professor of romance languages, Verissimo's schedule will include: an informal meeting with Spanish classes, 9 a. m., 106 Friendly; guest at Spanish table, noon, Student Union; public address, 3 p. m., Commonwealth 138; coffee hour, 4 p. m., Dads' lounge.

Variety of Talent Set For Friday's Program

Featured on the Friday at 4 program today will be Luanne McClure, tap dancing; Barbara Johnson, doing a record pantomime; and Rita Yuzon and Bob Nelson, singing.

Sam Vahey will serve as master of ceremonies. In charge of this week's program is Bob Kelly, sophomore in liberal arts and Sally Jo Greig, freshman in liberal arts.
