

Oregon Hoopers Play UW Tonight

The University of Oregon basketball team will play their most important series so far this Friday and Saturday nights when they take on the Washington Huskies in a pair of games at McArthur Court.

Both tussles will be played at 8:00 p. m. and will be preceded by Oregon Frosh preliminary contests, starting at 5:45.

Bill Borchers' Ducks are currently in a tie with Oregon State for the lead of the Northern Division.

vision and two victories this weekend could put the Webfoots in a very good position in the pennant chase.

Even though they played some of their best ball of the season in the WSC contests last week the Oregons are still quite concerned over the chances of a sweep against Tippy Dye' Washingtonians.

Huskies Improve

Last year the Huskies trimmed the Ducks four straight times and despite the fact that they are a much weaker team this season the Seattlites are not to be taken lightly. Led by their ace center, six foot seven Dean Parsons, the Dyemen have been improving steadily all season long and in their games with Oregon State last weekend they demonstrated that they are a completely different ball club from the one that lost nine straight pre-conference games.

In preparation for the all-important series Borchers has been working his team hard all week long, especially on their fast break attack. In past years Oregon and Washington have played fast moving ball games and Borchers expects this pair to be no exception.

The Ducks are in good shape, physically, and apparently are eager to stay on top in the league standings. Ankle injuries, which have bothered both guard Ken Wegner and forward Jerry Ross for the past few weeks, seem to be completely cured and against Washington State both boys played outstanding ball.

Oregon Favored

Oregon will go into the series as the definite favorite but basketball fans can expect two very close tussles if Dye turns in his typical coaching masterpiece with the Huskies. Dye always seems to have his teams fired up at the opportune moments.

Probable starters for the Ducks in the Friday encounter will be Ed Halberg and either Wegner or Bob Stout at the forward spots; Max Anderson at center; and Barney Hollard and either Wegner or Howard Page at guards.

For the Huskies it will be Don Tripp and Karl Voegtlin at the forwards; Parsons at center; and Jerry Johnson and Doyle Perkins in the backcourt.

Webfoots Swim Next Saturday

University of Oregon's swimming team under Coach John Borchardt continue their splashing antics as they ready for their dual meet with the Multnomah Athletic club here in Eugene, January 30.

The swimming team, dropping down to seven members, consists of Harry Fuller, Henry Kaiura, Phil Lewis, John English, Jerry Froebe, Yogi Matsushima, and Orlando Mathias. Froebe and Matsushima are the only two up from last year's Frosh squad. The other five, although lettermen last year, lack the conference experience that some of the past Oregon teams have had. Coach Borchardt exclaimed "This is a build-up year for Oregon."

In individual placement, Fuller, Lewis and Mathias head in the sprint events; English and Kaiura in the individual medley events; English, converted from back stroke to breast stroke, and Fuller in the distance events. Although eligibility and personal showing have yet to prevail, these will be the probable events in which these swimmers will be seen in the coming meet. Heading the diving squad are Ralph Karr and Bill Gass, both with no varsity experience.

Frosh Quint Slates Opener With OSC Five

Oregon's Frosh hoopers spent Wednesday afternoon polishing their offensive tactics in preparation for their season's opener this Friday night against the Oregon State Rooks.

Coach Don Kirsch sent his freshmen through fast break patterns and other drills contrived to make the young Ducks a potent outfit.

Oregon State's Rooks come to McArthur Court for the preliminary to the Oregon-Washington contest with the thought in mind of emulating last year's Rook team which lost only one game. Led by Swede Halbrook, the Rook's only loss came at the hands of the Oregon Frosh team, that by one point.

Frank Warner, Don McClain, Phil McHugh, Rich Costi and John Lundell continue to form the first team nucleus for the varsity proteges.

Duck Wrestlers Vie With MAC Saturday

Oregon's varsity wrestling team, enthusiastic after last week's win over Lewis and Clark, are finishing their final drills before tackling the Multnomah Athletic club this Saturday at 2:30 at McArthur Court. Dads are cordially invited to witness these matches as they will prove interesting and enjoyable.

The Multnomah Club boasts a fine previous record and will field a few of last year's Far Western champions. Herb Haberlach, MAC's heavyweight, is one of the nation's top wrestlers; two years ago he appeared in the Olympic championships in Europe. Paul Buhler and Lloyd Mendenhall are also outstanding wrestlers on MAC's wrestling team.

The probable lineup for the MAC will be 130 lb. — Art Solun; 137 — Larry Day; 157 — Lane Goodell; 167 — Art Whitbeck; 177 — Paul Buhler or Lloyd Mendenhall; 191 — Bill Mosby; and heavyweight — Herb Haberlach.

The Oregon grapplers have been going through rugged drills all week and will undoubtedly want to win this match. Oregon's tentative men will be: 130 lb. — Klampe; 137 — Bob Williams; 147 — Bob Shirley; 157 — Roland Wilson; 167 — John Woyat; and Heavyweight — Dick Barker.

Next week the Oregon varsity and freshmen will meet the Oregon State mat team in Mac Court.

Phi Kappa Psi, SAE Roll To Impressive IM Wins

Phi Kappa Psi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon scored impressive wins in intramural basketball action Thursday afternoon.

The Phi Psi five completely smothered Phi Sigma Kappa, 40-10, while the SAE's rallied in the second half to defeat Phi Kappa Sigma, 25-17.

Led by Bob Hazel's 19 point output, Phi Kappa Psi took the lead from the start and was never headed in their march to victory. Ron Miller's four counters were high for the losers.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon played a very sloppy first half and was trailing its opponent, 12-6, at half-time, but showed their high competitive spirit by coming back strong in the last two quarters to win going away.

In other Thursday games Delta Upsilon bounced Delta Tau Delta, 22-17; Phi Delta Gamma won a thriller from Lambda Chi, 29-28; and Sigma Nu edged Sigma Phi Epsilon, 17-16.

Dick McConnell led his DU teammates in scoring with eight markers and Allan Dale equalled his output for the losing Delt five.

The Fijis had all kinds of trouble in downing Lambda Chi but paced by Bob Goodwin's 11 points they finally came out on the long end of the score.

Substitute John Ramos came off the bench, scored six points, and was the leading light for his Sigma Nu team as they rolled in the second half to win over the Sig Eps by a narrow margin.

"During the spring of '52—my last year at the University of Maryland—I was interviewed by a number of companies. I was about to get my B.S. degree in accounting.

"It seemed to me that there was a great deal to be learned from the way I was interviewed. Bell System interviewers took their time about job offers. They didn't rush me or themselves.

"I had two talks with the Bell interviewers and then was invited to meet and talk with department heads. Not only did they get a chance to look me over, but I also had an opportunity to get a closer look at their operation. I figured if the Bell System was that careful in selecting its men, it is careful in other things. The interview was the tip-off.

"That's why I'm working here in Washington, D. C., for one of the Bell Companies—The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company. My first job—after general training—was supervising a billing unit with 20 employees.

"Since then I have assisted on internal audits in all departments. I've helped with special studies for management and have become better acquainted with operations of the entire company. Now I'm working on the general books as an accounting supervisor.

"That Bell System interview has certainly meant a lot to me."

Ed Burtner is moving forward. His experience is typical of the engineering, physical science, arts and social science, and business administration graduates who join the Bell System. He went with an operating telephone company. There also are opportunities with the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation.
