

Onthank Attends Meet Tells of Job Placement

Karl W. Onthank, director of graduate placement, returned recently from Berkeley, Calif., where he attended the fourth annual conference of the Western College Placement and Recruitment Association. Onthank is secretary of the organization and was in charge of conference proceedings.

National recruiters number about the same as last year, with nearly the same distribution as to fields, Onthank learned at the conference.

There is still a shortage of men in the field of science and will be for a long time, to come. The need is great and the pay excellent, especially for men qualified for research and development, Onthank said.

Demand Increases
Another field in which demand is greater than supply is in accounting. Excellent opportunities exist for men who want to work up in accounting departments of big corporations, he said. Onthank also commented on the increased interest of large corporations in men with general liberal arts education for training in administrative positions. Technical jobs, of course, require technical training, but it is more difficult for technically trained men to take over administrative duties than for men with liberal arts training.

Recruiters Are Coming
Through contacts with associations such as these, University of Oregon graduates are assured of having the same opportunity to be considered for top jobs as those of any other college, he said.

An increased number of recruiting representatives will be here early this spring. It is important for graduates who wish to be considered to present their credentials to the graduate placement office in Emerald hall immediately, Onthank emphasized.

KWAX to Feature Folksongs, Ballads

"Folksongs and Ballads by Stanley Smith," a new program series featuring Stan Smith, junior in speech, will be aired over KWAX this term, beginning tonight at 8.

The weekly 15-minute show will consist of tunes sung by Smith to his own guitar accompaniment, including such favorites as "The Leather Wing Bat," "Cotton-Eye Joe," "Eric Canal," "I Know My Love" and "The Blue-Tail Fly."

Smith started collecting ballads in 1947, and has continued adding to his repertoire from both the contributions of individuals and from popular recordings. He regards as one of the high points of his collecting career a personal introduction to Tom Scott, nationally known ballad singer. Smith also expressed his pleasure in the revival of popular interest in ballads, as he feels they are a traditional part of any country.

Before going into the Army, he had a show on KOAC.

Plane Crashes In Portland

(P)—An air force jet crashed in a northeast Portland suburb Tuesday, killing its two occupants. A little girl was injured and a score of houses were damaged.

The plane came roaring in low from the southwest. It hit a fir tree and exploded with a blast heard over a wide area.

The dead were identified as 2nd Lieutenants James Kennedy and J. A. Reid. Kennedy was the pilot and Reid was his radar observer. The air force said their home addresses were not immediately available.

A 4-year-old girl, Barbara Lee Cox, was hit by a fragment of the plane while playing in the yard of her home.

An air force officer said it appeared Kennedy had just taken off from the Portland air base. He said Kennedy apparently was trying to miss a house — possibly after losing power in a flame-out — and crashed into the tree, one of a clump dotting the area.

The turbine of the plane ripped through a wall of the Lloyd Konkle residence. He and Mrs. Konkle were seated in the living room. Mrs. Konkle threw herself to the floor, thinking a bomb had exploded. Plane fragments and live machine gun ammunition was found in every room and the house was badly wrecked.

There was no fire although the explosion put a huge puff of smoke and dust into the area.

The plane's wreckage was scattered over 100 yards or more. The bodies of the victims were found 50 feet apart.

Large crowds, attracted by the blast, rushed to the scene.

More Riots Start In Madrid Tuesday

(P)—New rioting flared in Madrid Tuesday 24 hours after a bloody battle had been fought between student demonstrators and Spanish police.

At one point in the rioting, the students seized the Madrid radio and forced it off the air for half an hour.

First reports said the new trouble was sparked by student anger over police strongarm methods used to break up the earlier anti-British demonstration. The rioting students had demanded the return of British Gibraltar to Spain.

About 10,000 students marched on the Madrid radio station to air their numerous demands. Station personnel and police succeeded in cutting off all broadcasts.

There were clashes with police elsewhere in the capital city.

Petitions for Offices In YWCA Due Feb. 1

Petitions for YWCA officers are due at 5 p. m. Monday, according to Cathy Tribe Siegmund, president. Women may petition for either elective or appointive positions.

YWCA petition blanks may be picked up at the YW office in Gerlinger hall and are to be turned in at the office. Petitioners are not to use ASUO petitions, Mrs. Siegmund stressed.

Elective officers are president, first and second vice-presidents, secretary, treasurer, and chairman and secretary of the sophomore commission. Junior women may petition for the first three positions, sophomore women for the secretary and treasurer spots, and freshman women for the jobs on the sophomore commission.

YWCA elections are held annually during winter term, and the officers serve for an entire year, through winter term of the following year. Elections this year will be held Feb. 10, with installation of new officers scheduled for Feb. 25.

Appointive positions in the YWCA include assistant treasurer; junior and sophomore adviser; and the following chairmanships — program, worship, religious growth, public affairs, international affairs, membership, faculty-at-homes, conference, promotion, publicity and service.

Appointive positions under the sophomore commission are as follows: vice chairman, chaplain, and the following chairmanships — membership, finance, service, social, promotion, Duckling counseling and members-at-large.

All petitioners will be interviewed by the present YWCA cabinet between Feb. 3 and 15. A slate of two candidates for each elective position will be announced a few days before the elections.
